OTTAWA LIFTS AD BAN BUT B.C. HOLDS FAST

The Board of Broadcast Governors today announced a new policy allowing "hard sell" beer and wine commercials for radio and television, but the B.C. government will continue to ban them.

Provincial Liquor Control Board chairman Col. Donald McGugan said the B.C. Liquor Act prohibits any advertising of beer, wine or spirits on radio or TV.

"In my opinion there will be no change in the act," he declared.

This means that if a national network program is sponsored by a brewery its commercials will have to be blacked out in B.C.

At present the BBG allows only 12 seconds of hard sell by breweries. The remaining 48 seconds of the usual one-minute commercial must be filled out with a general scene, such as a group of young people partying or a scenic view of mountains.

BBG vice-chairman Carlyle Allison said the new policy will "take the hypocritical approach out of brewery advertising."

"It is our view that a straight no-nonsense ad is preferable," he said.

FINANCING

B.C. Allowed U.S. Help On Columbia

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The Canadian government is prepared to permit the U.S. government to give British Columbia indirect financial aid to carry out Columbia River development.

FIRST PRESIDENT of Algeria will be Premier Ahmed Ben Bella. He was designated today by the ruling Front de Liberation Nationale following Sunday's endorsation by five million voters of the new constitution and confirming the nation as a one-party socialist state. Ben Bella will be the only candidate in the country-wide referendum next weekend.

Hinted at in the past by both B.C. and Ottawa sources, such a move was officially endorsed last week when Canadian and U.S. officials met in Washington to discuss problems involved in financing development of the B.C. section of the Columbia.

Under the proposal now accepted by both sides, a group of U.S. Pacific Northwest power firms, both public and private, would form a syndicate to borrow from the U.S. government, at low interest rates, enough money to pay in advance for the B.C. developments on the river.

ADVANCE PAYMENT

The money actually would be advance payment for the 50 per cent of downstream power benefits B.C. gains in the U.S. as a result of controlling the flow of the Columbia to permit greater U.S. power output.

B.C. Premier Bennett has insisted on selling this power in the U.S., rather than returning it for the use of B.C. consumers. He is asking for five mills per kilowatt hour, or its equivalent, the price he says is essential to pay for the $400 million-plus cost of the three dams to be built on the B.C. section of the river.

By obtaining a huge low-interest loan from the U.S. government for the advance payment to B.C., the power syndicate would save on its financing costs enough to make the deal feasible—and at the same time solve Mr. Bennett's financing problems.

SIX-MILL MINIMUM

Recent independent calculations indicate that Mr. Bennett would have to receive more than five mills for his downstream power, in order to break even. A six-mill figure, in this independent study, is considered to be the minimum.

Because of this there is speculation that the Canadian delegation in Washington last week did, in fact, tell the Americans that more than Mr. Bennett's five mills was required.

It is considered that even a six-mill price could be handled by the Americans, with the help of the U.S. government financial aid.

This is based on the estimate, given a U.S. senate committee in 1961 by U.S. Interior Secretary Udall, that the share of downstream power benefits the U.S. gets automatically would cost the U.S. less than one mill—the price of installing extra generating capacity at U.S. plants already existing on the Columbia.

Thus even by paying six mills for the Canadian share of the benefits, the U.S. would get all the downstream power benefits at a cost averaging about 3.5 mills per kilowatt hour—a highly reasonable rate.

Caouette Wins Fight For Power

OTTAWA (CP)—Real Caouette and his Ralliement des Creditistes have won out over Social Credit leader Robert Thompson and his followers in the battle for Commons supremacy following the federal splitup of the Social Credit party.

The announcement Monday night by Quebec City restaurant owner Lucien Plourde, MP for Quebec West, of his support for Mr. Caouette gives the Creditiste group 13 members in the Commons.

Mr. Thompson and the remnants of the Social Credit group number 11.

Barring any further shifts in the power struggle between the two groups, this means the Creditistes will have Commons priority over Mr. Thompson's group, ranking as the fourth-largest party in the House after the 17-member New Democratic party.

GETS MORE MONEY

It also will mean that Mr. Caouette—but not Mr. Thompson—will qualify for the extra $4,000 Commons allowance that was introduced this summer for the leader of any recognized group of 12 or more members in the House. The annual allowance was introduced at the same time that the indemnity and expense allowance of individual MPs was raised to a total $18,000.

Keeping the Doctor Away

British Columbians take apples for granted—but Hawaiian girls know how to appreciate them.

Not since Adam and William Tell has such a fuss been made in an orchard.

The Hawaiian girls referred to are dancers and singers who performed in the Polynesian Revue Monday night in the Empress Hotel crystal ballroom.

When the entertainers arrived in B.C., first thing that caught their eye was an apple tree loaded with ripe fruit ready and waiting to be picked.

"The one thing I want to do is to pick an apple and eat it fresh from the tree," said dancer Beverley Noa.

This morning her wish came true. Beverley, Nina Kealiiwahamana, Alma Bell and Mate Ng were transported to the foot of a Gravenstein apple tree. No sooner had Alma climbed the ladder than a loud crunch echoed through the garden. Even in a slim fitting holo muu there was no time wasted.

"And, oh, those roses," Nina added, "we haven't any roses like that at home."

So with a pocketful of apples and a handful of roses the Hawaiian dancers left town this morning with a memorable taste of Victoria.

FIVE-MINUTE PLEA FOR AID GOES UNHEARD

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jim Haldene, 42, shouted for help for five minutes Monday as he watched his fishboat Good Partner pull away without any of his seven companions being aware that he had fallen overboard.

A passing tugboat, the C. P. York, saw him splashing in the water and threw him a ring buoy, but the fisherman appeared too tired to make a grab for it.

By the time the tug could turn around, Haldene had vanished.

Einar Jensen, skipper of the Good Partner, said today:

"I noticed Haldene sitting at the rear of the boat at 4:15 p.m. It was not until 6 that we noticed he was missing when he didn't appear at supper. We searched the boat—it's 76 feet long—and couldn't find a trace of him."

Proud Parents of Quints Embrace

PARENTS PONDER FINANCIAL BURDEN

Quints Pass First Danger

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP)—With gifts beginning to arrive, the proud parents of quintuplet boys pondered today how to support five new sons in their one-bedroom home on $10-a-day income.

The infants, born almost two months prematurely Saturday, were reported doing well, yawning and stretching feebly.

They passed their first danger period and are healthy, said Dr. Robinson Suarez Herrera, chief obstetrician at University Hospital here. Juan Jose, the third born, had lost weight, less than an ounce. But a medical bulletin said all five are in "acceptable condition."

Juan Jose weighed three pounds, 1.4 ounces at birth. So did the fourth born, Fernando.

Robinson the first born, weighed three pounds, 15.5 ounces; Otto, second born, three pounds, 4.9 ounces; and Mario, fifth born, four pounds, three ounces. A mixture of modified skimmed milk and malt is being fed to the quintuplets with eye-droppers.

The mother, Mrs. Ines Marie Cuervo de Prieto, 34 and her husband have 15 other children by previous marriages. Three live in their one-bedroom home.

"With only one bedroom it's going to be a little crowded," she said, but added, "my husband and I are very proud."

The father earns 46.70 bolivars ($11) a day as a Creole Petroleum Corporation foreman. He helps support 10 children by two previous marriages.

But help was arriving. The government assured the Prietos of its protection. Five basketfuls of diapers and clothing were donated by an organization.

Mrs. Cuervo de Prieto, already made a grandmother by a 17-year-old daughter, said she was in labor only two hours with the quintuplets.

"It didn't hurt at all," she said. "I didn't have any anesthetic. I trusted in God and in the doctors."

The boys, born in a 50-minute period, were given names of doctors who assisted at the birth. Later Saturday, she and Prieto were married by a priest and the infants were baptized.

There was nothing uncommon about the Prietos' domestic relationship. Government statistics show that more Venezuelan children are born to unmarried parents than to married ones.

Only two sets of quintuplets born in the Western Hemisphere—the Dionnes of Canada and the Diligentis of Argentina — are known to have survived infancy.

JFK Forces Integration In Alabama

Guardsmen Taken Over

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) —School integration came for 20 Negro children today in three Alabama cities after President Kennedy stripped Governor George C. Wallace of his control over 17,000 Alabama national guardsmen.

All was quiet at most of the five schools desegregated at Birmingham, Mobile and Tuskegee.

But disorders broke out at West End High School in Birmingham where students started a boycott of classrooms which normally are attended by about 1,500.

Crowds gathered and male segregationists scuffled with police. Several arrests were made, then reinforcements of police and sheriff's deputies arrived to get the situation under control.

3 ARRESTS IN MOBILE

Thirteen Negroes entered school at Tuskegee and two went into a high school at Mobile in addition to five at Birmingham. Three arrests were made at Mobile but the situation then generally was quiet and orderly.

At Huntsville, four pupils not affected by Wallace's barring of Negroes from schools Monday in the three other cities went back to class for the second day.

Wallace, who had ordered the National Guard out early today only to see Kennedy take federal control of the soldiers, continued to decline comment on the day's events. And there still was no answer as to why he let Negroes into schools at Huntsville Monday while barring them in the other cities.

A federal order restraining Wallace from interfering with school integration was served on his executive secretary in Montgomery, the state capital, after Wallace said he was too busy to receive it. U.S. Marshal Don Forrest of Miami, Fla., served the papers on Earl C. Morgan.

REFUSED TO OBEY

It was Forrest who served Wallace with court papers last June ordering the governor not to interfere with integration at the University of Alabama. Wallace refused to obey and federal force was used to get two pupils admitted to the university.

Before dawn today state troopers and national guardsmen, acting on Wallace's orders, chased three marshals off the Capitol grounds.

Then Wallace, who had stayed in his office for hours, left the building surrounded by troopers and guardsmen.

An army spokesman announced that 200 federalized national guardsmen are moving from Tuscaloosa to a Birmingham armory "as a routine precautionary measure."

AVAILABLE IF NEEDED

He said they would be available if local authorities asked assistance in maintaining law and order.

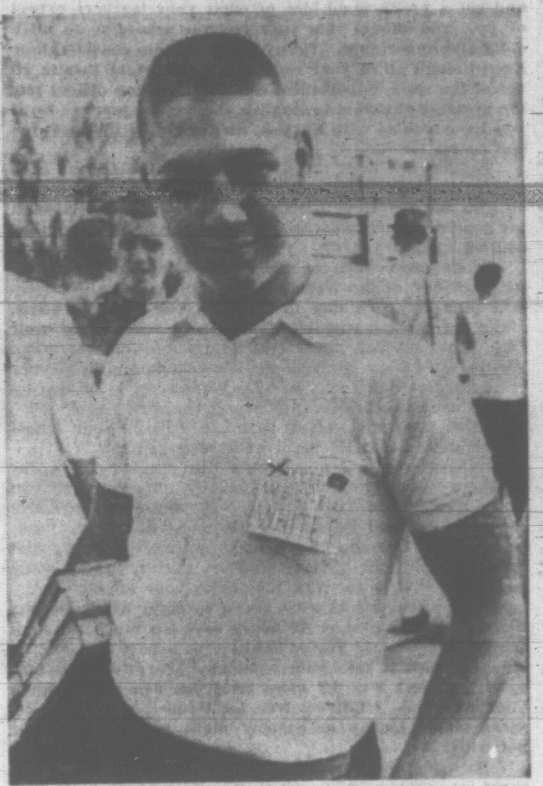
Two teen-age Negroes walked into Murphy High School at Mobile before 7:30 a.m. to become the first of their race to attend school with white pupils in the state at the senior high school level. The Huntsville desegregation involved grammar and junior high schools.

Before directing that the guard be put under federal control Kennedy issued an order calling upon Wallace to "cease and desist" from his manoeuvres to thwart federal court directives for school integration. A similar move preceded desegregation of the University of Alabama in June over Wallace's opposition.

Guardsmen had moved on to the grounds of a high school at Mobile under orders of Wallace before issuance of the presidential directive which removed Wallace as their commander.

They were withdrawn quickly after the Kennedy order was announced.

State Adjutant-General Alfred Harrison had called about 300 guardsmen to duty, replacing state troopers who turned away 20 Negro pupils at white schools in three cities Monday.



ADMITTING of two Negroes to Birmingham, Ala. high school, resulted in young white schoolboy showing up for classes today with "Keep West End White" sign pinned to his shirt. Many youngsters cut classes completely. (AP Wirephoto)

JEERING SESSION

Whites Boycott Mixed School

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Hundreds of white pupils boycotted classes at West End High School after two Negroes were admitted today and started a jeering session on the grounds and in an adjacent parking lot.

Adult spectators, including members of a hard-core segregationist group, quickly built up the milling throng. Police called in reinforcements and, prodding with night sticks, moved the crowd back two blocks.

The demonstration grew wilder as the morning progressed. Numerous arrests were made.

The tempo rose and fell. Then the crowd began to drift away.

It all started soon after two Negro girls entered the schools.

Most white students stayed away from class.

URGED TO COME OUT

The white boys and girls urged others who had entered the school to come back out. Some did.

The crowd operated like a cheering section at a football game.

"Two, four, six, eight, who do we appreciate?" leaders would call out.

"Wallace, Wallace, Wallace," the crowd roared back, referring to Governor George C. Wallace who had tried to balk integration of this school and two others in the city.

There were more yells—"Niggers, go home."

1,500 ENROLLED

Police gave a preliminary estimate that about 100 white students entered the building during the morning. The enrolment is 1,500 but many of the 100 heeded appeals by those outside to leave school.

One white boy hurled an apple at a car of a white man who brought his son to school and watched him go into the building.

MILKMAN WILL CALL EVERY TWO MONTHS

LONDON (AP) — A big British dairy said today it is working on a stay-fresh milk that could lead to the end of the familiar milkman.

The firm, Express Dairy Company, said experiments are in an advanced stage on milk that will remain fresh for two months without refrigeration.

The milk will be heated to ultra-high temperatures and sealed in aseptic cartons.

Dr. T. R. Ashton, technical director of the dairy, said if the new method passes government tests, it could go on sale in about six months.

30 DAYS TO BETTER GRADES

Yes, Three Hours . . . That's What It Says

By The Reading Laboratory
(Seventh in a Series)

We've talked about your study environment: quiet room, straight chair, good light, your book resting on the desk at a 45-degree angle about 14 inches from your eyes, perhaps a slight, regular, background noise, and your mind free to concentrate on your studies. Now it's time to work out a study schedule, so you can be sure of spending the right amount of time on each course.

As soon as you begin to get the feel of your courses, and get a pretty good idea of what your teachers expect of you, you should rate your courses according to difficulty and importance. Take everything into consideration. Even though all of your courses are important they're all not of the same importance; college admission offices pay the greatest attention to English and science marks. So if you have trouble with English, that might be the most imtant course for you.

Figure out how much reading is expected in each course, and how much written work. How tough a teacher do you have? How much trouble do you expect with the course? How much trouble have you had with similar courses in past years?

Then get a sheet of white paper and draw columns for each day of the week. You're going to make a general plan for each day to tape to your desk at home. Make out a class schedule first, then a schedule of your free time. Again, take everything into consideration. Would you rather study in the afternoons and keep your evenings free or vice-versa? Do you expect to be tied up with athletic practice or special projects after school? What television programs cannot be missed? Will your school be scheduling a lot of night basketball games?

Try not to spend much more than three hours a day studying. More than that is usually unproductive; you can't concentrate any longer. If you're taking five courses, that will be an average three hours per week per course. But one course may require five hours and another only one hour. You've already rated your courses, so begin to work them into your schedule.

Allow yourself at least seven to eight hours sleep a night, although nine or 10 hours isn't too much for high school students. If you're thinking of a part-time job, be sure to work it into your schedule. Part-time jobs are good but don't bite off more than you can chew. Keep your weekends relatively free for leisure; you might reserve either Friday or Sunday night for studying, but not both.

So make out a good, realistic schedule, taking everything into account, allowing plenty of time both for school and recreation, post the schedule on your desk or wall, and then stick to it. Special events will come up—special basketball games, a special movie—and you'll break the schedule; you're human. But if you stick to the schedule most of the time and get into the habit of regular day-to-day studying, you can save yourself a lot of anxiety and sleepless nights when exams come up.

B.C. Industry Lags, Dr. Purdy Charges

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Progressive-Conservative government would give first priority in B.C. to a new four-point industrial development program, Dr Harry Purdy said Monday night.

The former president of the B.C. Electric who now is an economics professor at University of B.C. and Conservative candidate in Vancouver-Point Grey riding, outlined the plan to a Vancouver-Centre nominating meeting.

He said his party's program would include a new industrial development commission composed of first-class business and financial leaders, a $1,000,000 economic inventory of B.C. resources and manufacturing potential and a new "pool" of investment capital for B.C. industry.

The first requirement would be a full-time minister of industrial development to head a department that he said now has the status of a "little orphan" in the present B.C. Social Credit cabinet.

He said B.C. needs industrial development on three grounds. First the current level of capital investment was too low at $1,400,000,000. Second the present government was neglecting the field and third the pace of economic growth in the province had been hampered by the actions of Premier Bennett in the last two years in his method of expropriating the B.C. Electric, in his denial of access to the courts and in the "legal mess that has resulted in the power development field."

Death Walk Witness Still Sought

How did George Down get from Coffee Mac's restaurant on Gorge Road to the Hudson's Bay Parkade in the half-hour before he was murdered Aug. 30?

That is the question which has city detectives stumped as they investigate the bludgeon death of the affable 17-year-old delivery boy.

Police think Down was killed at about 1:15 that morning. He was seen in the cafe half an hour before then.

Did he leave the restaurant alone? Did he meet his killer outside? Did they go to the Parkade on foot or by car?

Detective Inspector Charles Webb said this morning that almost inevitably someone must have noticed Down or the killer.

So far however no one has come forward with any information about Down's last half hour. The inspector appealed for anyone who was in the vicinity of Coffee Mac's or the Bay or any route in between, to rack their brains to come up with the memory of anything they may have seen.

"Someone must have seen something," he insisted.

. . . COLUMBIA

cate arrangement now agreed to by both sides leans for its success on the outcome of intensive studies now launched into the actual costs of the Columbia development.

Cost of the three treaty projects—High Arrow, Duncan Lake and Mica Creek dams—have shifted radically since figuring on the Columbia costs began more than a dozen years ago. High Arrow, for instance, is now estimated to cost $124 million, double the original estimate, with a distinct possibility the cost will get much higher, yet Mica Creek has gone down in cost substantially, off-setting to some degree the High Arrow problem.

Just how long it will take to work out the details isn't yet clear. Meetings are to resume in early October, possibly the week of the sixth. Officials here say there is no question of keeping the matter under wraps until the Sept. 30 B.C. election is out of the way. Completion of any deal is expected to take a "good deal longer" than that, spokesmen state.

'WOEFUL WASTE OF WHISKY'

LONDON (AP)—For a cold, take the juice of three double whiskies—and pour it on your head.

That's what three men did at John Dowsett's pub, the Steam Engine.

"At first," said Dowsett, "I thought the blokes were drunk."

The three were Jamaicans. Said one of them, Hulut Taylor:

"Back home we usually use white rum to cure colds and headaches, but white rum's hard to get here, so we use whisky."

"I'm all in favor of this cure, naturally," said the pubkeeper. "My whisky sales have gone up about 50 per cent. The cure works. I know—I've tried it."

A spokesman for the British Medical Association, asked what he thought of it, replied: "I'd say it's a woeful waste of good whisky."

VICTORIA RIDING

Three Liberals Outline Plans For Province

Victoria Liberals Monday night chose two men and a woman as candidates for the provincial election.

They launched their campaign on the issues of ferries, business and welfare respectively.

The woman, Elizabeth "Bessie" Forbes, put forward her plans for improved social assistance.

Former Victoria alderman Michael J. Griffin called for a 50 per cent reduction in Vancouver Island ferry fares.

Furniture store owner Bruce Humber issued a plea to put B.C. government on a sound businesslike basis.

LAWYER LOST OUT

They won the nomination over lawyer Herbert L. Matthews who offered to solve the B.C. Electric tangle, and businessman Harold Olafson, who withdrew to manage the Liberal campaign.

The nominating convention at War Amputees Hall drew a crowd of 117 persons, 62 of whom were voting delegates.

The Liberal trio will try to oust the self-styled Social Credit "triumvirate" of W. N. Chant, Waldo Skillings and J. Donald Smith at the polls Sept. 30.

Mr. Griffin, 40, former RCAF pilot, who helps run a family plumbing and heating business, was an alderman from 1958 until 1960, when he withdrew from civic politics.

Miss Forbes, 40 years with the Times, has been women's editor for 14 years.

COACH AND SPRINTER

Mr. Humber, 49, another RCAF pilot, was an Olympic sprinter for Canada, coached the British Empire Games and Olympic teams in 1950 and 1952.

Mr. Griffin called for a bigger share of provincial highway benefits for Vancouver Islanders.

Tolls are being removed from all bridges, he said, and now Island residents should have a share in the goodies.

CUT FERRY FARES

"I propose that the fares on the ferries for Vancouver Islanders should be reduced by 50 per cent forthwith," he said.

"This reduction is every bit as much our right as is the building of bridges without tolls in some of the most sparsely settled sections of our province."

He also said he wanted to work for a new provincial-municipal financing deal which would answer some of the civic appeals turned down by the Socreds "contemptuously ignored" by the Socreds.

Miss Forbes charged that the social welfare department is so woefully understaffed it cannot do its proper job. Too many social workers are tied down by excessive paper work, she said.

HOW TO CUT COSTS

"The money spent on extra salaries would be saved many times over if there was enough time to rehabilitate and restore the dignity of even a few persons."

She also called for more services for the high school "dropouts" to train them through vocational schools for suitable jobs.

"Many of them are frustrated, unhappy, and with chips on their shoulders, soon to add to delinquency problems," she added.

"I can't give you rhyme or rote on the Peace River dam or the B.C. Electric takeover," she said, 'but if I am nominated tonight, I'll soon know more about them."

Mr. Humber said B.C. government needed its dignity restored.

"I'm tired of gimmicks and circuses," he said. "There is no dignity left . . . when one member says to another 'Step outside'." (This was taken as a reference to a committee room row involving Waldo Skillings, Victoria MLA.)

His opinion of Social Credit's bookkeeping: "I honestly don't see how they can come out with a balance sheet that shows a profit."

Mr. Humber said the eight-week sessions of the legislature, as conducted by Social Credit, are a "waste of time." He agreed a session might last eight weeks, but legislation should be introduced at the start not in the last two weeks when everyone was exhausted.

$500,000 Theft Details Revealed at Brown Trial

VANCOUVER (CP)—Douglas Brown, 35, who took $500,000 from his armored car company employers and flew off to Rio de Janeiro, pleaded guilty Monday to the theft and was remanded to Wednesday for sentence.

Two other men charged jointly with Brown in the May 18 robbery are in custody. They will appear in court Friday.

The loot came from receipts picked up during a Loomis Armored Car Service Limited run on which Brown was custodian.

Brown flew to Toronto and then to Rio, where he was forcibly ejected by police and then brought back to Canada to face trial.

Statements read in court by prosecutor Stewart McMorran said Brown carried out the robbery single-handed.

CHANGED SHIFT

Reading from two statements which he said Brown made to police, Mr. McMorran gave this description of the robbery.

On May 18, Brown got on the night shift by telling another employee his wife was in hospital and he had to look after the children.

After the night's run to pick up receipts from various stores, Brown told the driver of the truck he was going to stay behind and wire up the muffler of his car.

When the driver left, Brown backed his car up to the office, loaded the money, then drove to a motel where he separated the cash from cheques.

He waited about three hours, then drove to a lonely road nearby, met a man, kept about $4,000 in a suitcase, gave $20,000 to the man and left.

A third man arranged to pick up Brown's air ticket—getting $20,000 for his part—and Brown flew to Toronto, and then south.

Mr. McMorran said a total of $543,935 was stolen altogether and the amount outstanding was $22,305.

In the rush, part of the loot was left in the trunk of Brown's car and police recovered from it a total of $223,006 in cash and cheques.

False Alarm Closes Woods To Sportsmen

Who closed Vancouver Island woods last weekend?

The provincial government forest service is all burned up about it.

They didn't do it.

Yet the word got around that because of an extreme fire hazard, hunters, fishermen and sightseers were to stay out.

Hundreds of sportsmen have telephoned the provincial game and fish branch and the forest service to complain.

Many people were turned out of the bush by RCMP at Colwood, others were flushed out along the Malahat.

"They are as mad as hell," said a forest service official.

"We can't figure out where the report came from."

He said he heard it over a Victoria radio station.

"As far as we are concerned the woods are open," he added.

Banks Appeals

MONTREAL (CP)—Hal C. Banks, president of the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) was sentenced Monday to a month in jail for contempt of court but won't serve the sentence pending appeal.

The conviction is in connection with the SIU's running feud with Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto.

Mr. Justice Andre Sabourin of Quebec Superior Court ruled Monday that the burly union president had failed to do all he could to stop the SIU's violation of a no-picketing injunction in May, 1962.

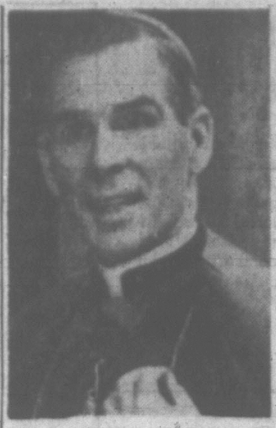
The union picketed an Upper Lakes ship in Trois-Rivieres, Que., for two days after the company had obtained a Superior Court injunction against "picketing, watching, besetting and intimidation" of its ships at all St. Lawrence River ports.

STEPS NOT TAKEN

Judge Sabourin ruled Mr. Banks "had not taken all reasonable steps in his power to prevent the violation of the injunction."

Mr. Banks contended he had ordered picketing stopped immediately after being issued the injunction order.

However, Judge Sabourin ruled "there is no evidence whatsoever that the respondent Banks was at variance with what took place at Trois-Rivieres during those two days.



BISHOP SHEEN

'Rethink' Vow Of Poverty

DETROIT (AP) — Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen, hitting at what he calls a life of luxury for American clergymen as compared with the world's poor people, proposes that the Roman Catholic Church "rethink" the vow of poverty.

The auxiliary Roman Catholic bishop of New York suggested in a speech Sunday night that the religious vow of poverty might be extended to the secular clergy and laymen.

Calling the U.S. one of the "glutted nations of the world," Bishop Sheen said there are 2,000,000,000 people in the world who would gladly take the vow of poverty "if it meant living as well as those under the vow of poverty in this country live."

Canada Expects Action on Ships

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson and his cabinet have decided to put off consideration of calling an early session of Parliament to deal with waterfront labor violence.

Mr. Pearson said Monday that the government was awaiting the outcome of steps taken by the United States government to protect Canadian lives and ships in American waters but was ready to call Parliament before its scheduled Sept. 30 opening to pass legislation to deal with the Canadian aspect of the problem.

"We have let them (the Americans) know in no uncertain terms that we expect action to be taken to protect Canadian shipping in American ports," the prime minister said.

The legislation would put five Canadian maritime unions under government trusteeship—a move recommended by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris after his one-man inquiry into a union war between the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) and the Canadian Maritime Union (CLC).

The unions are at odds over the manning of Canadian ships in the Great Lakes.

REFUSE LOADING

Latest incident in the waterfront war was the dynamiting of the Canadian freighter Howard L. Shaw in Chicago. The Shaw has been tied up in Chicago all summer because of the refusal of longshoremen to load her.

The freighter, formerly manned by SIU crews, now has a crew from the CMU.

The Upper Lakes Shipping Company, owners of the Shaw, said the vessel will remain in Chicago until it is loaded. The company also fired off telegrams to Mr. Pearson and President Kennedy calling on them to end picketing, boycotting and terror on the lakes.

PLAIN TALK

THE FORGOTTEN LANDS!

CLEARWATER — Many British Columbians haven't heard of Clearwater. It stands north of Kamloops, where the Clearwater River joins the North Thompson. Like countless other of our small communities, it has a big stake in this election.

This part of B.C. is best known as ranch country. But it has potential for the development of other major industries.

Irrigation, by use of these river waters, can open rich new farm lands. These same rivers promise hydro power. Highway development will spur forward forestry operations, and can tap the flow of tourists from the East.

A provincial government can help develop areas like Clearwater.

Mr. Bennett only promises. For eight years, he has promised paved highways north, and he has still not produced.

This isn't just a Clearwater story. It's a story familiar to anyone who looks hard at this Bennett government. Mr. Bennett's publicity is good. He talks about distant glories — like power development, free enterprise, and now "better relations with Ottawa." But it's empty talk. His power proposals are confused. His free enterprise means illegal seizure. And his government has given B.C. bad relations in Ottawa and everywhere.

And all the while, the Clearwaters are ignored.

I first went in to Clearwater country as a youngster. And through my public life I've been concerned about the growth and future of such small communities. As Premier, I look forward to helping the development of our Clearwaters, and the other areas Mr. Bennett has ignored.

Pressure Play on Pensions

MR. PEARSON HAS GIVEN IN to heavy political pressure from all parties and to the intransigence of Premier Lesage of Quebec. He will add $10 a month to the existing old age pension of $65 as soon as Parliament passes the measure in October.

The raise had been planned for early in 1964, to become part of a national contributory plan. The eagerness of the opposition parties to win favor as champions of old age pensioners, plus Mr. Lesage's refusal to take part in a contributory plan, precipitated Monday's announcement.

Mr. Pearson—in contrast to Mr. Diefenbaker and some others who urged the pension increase—has seen the impossibility of adding further to Canada's giant deficit and the folly of resorting to borrowing to finance the $115-million grant to the aged. He will raise the required money through increased taxation, thus making plain that pensions do not come out of a Santa Claus sack but must be paid for in cash. The cash may be in the form of premiums or of taxes, but there is no evading the cost.

The larger national pension plan which Mr. Pearson will also introduce at the forthcoming Parliamentary session will be supported directly by premiums, paid partly by employees and partly by management. The rate will be two per cent of the worker's pensionable wage up to a maximum of $4,000, i.e., up to $40 a year to be paid by the worker and $40 by the employer.

This will earn the worker, at age 70, a monthly income of $10 in 1966, added to his basic old age pension of $75. The return will increase each year for 10 years, until a stable rate of $100 per month is reached. Maximum pensioners will then receive a total of $175 a month.

Contributions will be compulsory and benefits will be portable. There is wide agreement on the desirability of some form of overall pension plan. Basically it will ensure that workers over their productive life will build up a large enough financial backing to see them through their old age in reasonable comfort.

There is criticism of the actuarial soundness of the proposed plan, however — whether the contributions as outlined will be enough to carry the scheme and balance the payments. For the first few years at least there will be many beneficiaries who have paid little or nothing into the plan. Long-term contributors may pay in more than they can receive.

That is an aspect which will require very careful study. Mr. Pearson will be failing in his duty if he permits the pressure of opposition parties to hurry him into a pension program which is not self-supporting and equitable. There must also be full co-operation with existing private pension plans and the many persons who will want to provide extra benefits above the basic return of the national plan.

The refusal of Quebec to enter the plan will cause complications, but it need not wreck the program. Arrangements will be made for Quebec workers to take part only in their own provincial plan—a much less remunerative one, apparently—with the right to switch to the federal plan if they leave the province.

* * *

Mr. Lesage is adamant in preferring his own plan to the national one, but it is obvious that by this he is sowing the seeds of future problems. How long will the Quebec worker be content to see the Canadians in every other province enjoying a much better pension than he does? Will this be attacked as "discrimination" against French-speaking Canadians, despite the fact that it is their own provincial government that is depriving them?

This is a problem for the future, but the door will, of course, be kept open.

Meanwhile Mr. Pearson's minority government has been pushed into hasty action on the $10 pension increase. The tax increase to pay for it will make it harder to increase taxes again for the purpose of meeting the huge annual deficit. It becomes more important than ever, therefore, that economies be effected in the government to help reduce the short-fall, and that there be no stampede into a national pension plan until it is proved viable and sound.

There is one other cloud on the horizon. What will happen to the price level when all the quick-spending pension money starts to bid for purchases?

A Market for the Asking

OF THE NEARLY $6½ BILlion worth of merchandise exported from Canada last year only about $245 million went to Latin America. Of the approximately $6¼ billion worth of merchandise imported into Canada, only about $283 million came from Latin America and almost $210 million of that was accounted for by crude oil and petroleum products imported from Venezuela.

What the statistics show is that despite the potential of the Latin American market — which many economists predict will be the next great growth area of the world—Canada's economic ties with the area are very slight. There have however been modest increases in Canadian-Latin American trade in the last few years and there have also been indications that many countries of the area are anxious to increase trade with this country.

An economic mission which moved quietly into Ottawa this week, headed by Mr. Felipe Herrera, president of the Inter-American Development Bank, may help to hasten the day when Canada will take more notice of trade in the western hemisphere outside of the United States.

Mr. Herrera's visit, which will include talks with government officials in Ottawa as well as private bankers and other financial leaders in Toronto and Montreal, is designed to acquaint Canadians with the structure, purposes and organization of the IADB with a view to encouraging direct Canadian participation in Latin American development through trade and investment.

Despite the political instability of many parts of Latin America, the area as a whole, with its 135 million people, should not be neglected by Canada which must continually develop new markets for its products.

Toronto Caught Up, Can We?

AFTER TWELVE YEARS OF legislative and court tangles, Metropolitan Toronto this week got fluoridated water. A simple telephone call from the metropolitan chairman to the works commissioner started the fluorine compound filtering into the community's water supply, in the proportion of one part to one million.

The results will begin to show in a few months, and they are results which have been proven time and time again. It has been authoritatively said that fluoridation is the most exhaustively tested health measure in history. Every community which has fluoridated its water supply has subsequently reported a spectacular decrease in the tooth decay of its children, with a consequent reduction of dental costs.

The opposition to anaesthetics, antiseptics and other aids to health was strong originally, but time and good sense overcame it. Time and good sense will eventually result in fluoridation of all drinking water which does not have a sufficient natural fluoride content.

Must Victoria be among the last to enter upon this twentieth century benefit?

Fires By Carelessness

A REPORT FROM THE FOREST Service that three out of four forest fires on Vancouver Island last weekend were caused by careless cigarette smokers, is shocking in view of the heavy barrage of publicity that has warned against this hazard.

It is hard to believe that there is a single smoker who has not been informed in one way or another of the danger of carelessly disposing of cigarette butts or burning matches. Perhaps it would help if people who are aware of the terrible damage which can result from a smoker's thoughtless behavior were to keep a sharp watch on the actions of companions while in the woods or when driving in the country.

Witch's Brew or Liberal Recipe?

Freedman

THERE is a famous magazine in London called the New Statesman whose name has gone round the world. It is an exasperating magazine, since it manages to combine an admirable literary tradition with the most obstinate political prejudices. It speaks for the intellectual wing of the British Labor Party and is read with admiration by thousands of students in British universities. It has a vast influence among the leaders of Asia and Africa.

The other day this eccentric oracle delivered itself of an opinion on the racial problems of the United States. With exquisite stupidity it succeeded in one editorial in misunderstanding the Constitution, in twisting the aims of American Negroes, and in confirming the ugliest fears of the South. Judged even by the standards of the New Statesman, this was no mean achievement. It said:

"What prevents the Negro from receiving his due is not the verdict of the overwhelming majority of Americans but the elements of sovereignty which the states still enjoy and their further expression in the composition of the Senate . . . The concept of the semi-sovereign state dates from the era of colonial settlement and is inconsistent with universal suffrage or the degree of central organization required by a modern welfare Democracy."

Here is a witch's brew served up as a liberal recipe. Amend the Constitution, reduce the strength of the South in the Senate, sweep away the rights and powers of the states, and increase the trend toward a centralized welfare state.

Fatal Collision

If President Kennedy took this advice, he would become the architect of chaos. He could bid farewell, a melancholy and irrevocable farewell, to his hopes of reform. He would be brought into fatal collision with the Senate. He would violently estrange powerful sections of opinion throughout the nation. He would plant a stubborn feud with the South. And he would bring a curse on the Negro movement.

For the Negro is not trying to change the Constitution. He is asking for equal rights under that Constitution. He does not want to punish the South. He seeks to exchange his grievances for his rights. He has no desire to wreck national unity. He believes instead that he will strengthen that unity by plucking out an ancient evil which bred confusion and mischief.

At the centenary ceremony at Gettysburg, in a speech worthy of the place and the occasion, Vice President Johnson defined the purposes of the present racial struggle with a wisdom quite beyond the sophistries of the New Statesman. He said rash men in the North are crying "now." Angry men in the South are shouting "never." But reasonable and responsible men in the North know that the answer must be "together." For that is the only way forward, the only way to make lasting progress now.

The New Statesman may not like this American tradition but we have no intention of changing it in order to win its wayward approval. With luck we may even manage to survive its Olympian disapproval. Anything would be better than to follow its advice.

FROM BRIGHTON

By PETER DUNN

Confusion Was Democratically Arrived At

THE political fortunes of the British Labor Party moved under a grim star last week. The annual meeting of the Trades Union Congress, which represents the interests of eight million British workers, decided by 380,000 votes to reject wage restraint in any form.

But for reasons known best to itself, it decided, with a majority of nearly seven million, to adopt a report written by a TUC planner, on economic planning of all incomes (including wages).

Confusion, in the old-fashioned idiom of the British trade union movement, was democratically arrived at. But what the British voter is going to think about it all must have depressed the Labor Party's leaders. What the trade unions do at their annual congress influences what the voters think. In a society that is becomingly increasingly middle-class, hostility to the trade unions, and by direct inference, to the Labor Party, is easily kindled.

Meek Attitude

"In this context, "responsible trade unionism" is defined as being meek about wage claims. They shouldn't be put in regardless of the inflationary effect they might have on the rest of the economy.

This is not the way the old guard of the TUC saw it during the economic debate—particularly with a Tory government in power. Delegates, blinking in the glare of TV lights as they stood on the rostrum, were split not just on wage restraint but on the whole conception of what trade unions are supposed to be for in the 1960s. Where does their first loyalty lie? To their members or the national interest?

Mr. George Woodcock, the TUC's general secretary, made a brilliant speech mainly on this theme. The days of Trafalgar Square (where the causes of British political life go alfresco) are over, he said. Didn't the trade union movement trust the TUC to look after its interests properly in the committees and power corridors of modern economic life? If the Congress really wanted no wage restraint "then for God's sake say so . . . Have done with all the shenanigan and let me live an easy, comfortable life!"

Different View

Mr. Ted Hill, the boilermakers' leader, who led the demands for no wage restraint under any circumstances, changed his mind, although not the wording of his resolution. What he really meant, he said, was "no pay control under the Tories." When Harold Wilson, the Labor Party leader, got into power, Ted Hill would do anything to help him.

This promise caused a significant rumble of block votes towards Mr. Hill's camp. The power, and number of votes, of each delegate depends on the size of his union. Ted Hill's promise won the biggest of them all over to his side—Frank Cousins, leader of the Transport and General Workers, and holder of 1,250,000 votes.

As in all big organizations, personalities came into it. Mr. Harry Douglass, the steelworkers' leader, who is one of Mr. Woodcock's warmest supporters and is normally a kind and gentle man, called Mr. Hill senile.

It was a dangerous mistake. Mr. Hill is one of the best-loved trade unionists in Britain. He is a big man with a tough old face; tumblers of whisky disappear in his huge fist. He has a well-timed sense of humor and his politics are traditional and unflinchingly pro-working class.

He works closely with Communists and the left wing and they with him. The engineers, with a million votes, supported his resolution. Their delegate, Mr. John Boyd, a right-winger who disapproved of his delegation's voting but was absent when the voting was carried out, put on a show of reluctance when the vote on Mr. Hill was taken.

Frank Cousins is politically in much the same spot as Mr. Hill, but he is a colder man, just as much at home in Trafalgar Square as in the corridors of power. Along with the engineers, he voted for both Mr. Hill and the TUC report on economic planning—an exhibition of looking two ways at once which is still puzzling delegates. Admittedly the report was revised at the last minute to absorb its critics who didn't like the way it said all incomes should rise less rapidly than in the past.

Confusion Remained

But the confusion remained today and was expressed in the newspaper headlines, "Two-Way Verdict on Wages" . . . "TUC Rejects Pay Restraint" . . . "TUC Adopts Planning by Nearly Seven Million Votes."

In the final analysis everyone has won, except perhaps the Labor Party and its floating voters. Mr. Woodcock, the working-class egghead, can pace up and down his corridors of power and hope for better support at next year's Congress. And until the Labor Party gets in, there is nothing to stop any union demanding what it wants in the battleground of wages.

Raises

I would like to add my voice to that of James Morton in connection with sessional indemnities for MPs and MLAs. It is to be noted that all parties voted for increases.

Some 16 or 17 years ago when I helped to organize the Old Age Pensioner's Campaign Council—I campaigned for an additional $5 bonus for them—the MLAs in Victoria voted themselves an increase, and so far as I remember, there was not one dissenting vote. But the Old Age Pensioners did not get the $5 at that time. I have never forgotten it.

PARIS:

He Sought Unity

By William Millinship

ROBERT SCHUMAN, who died last week at the age of 77, will not be remembered as a great, or even popular French Prime Minister, but his name will be durably linked with the first steps towards uniting Europe.

The "Schuman Plan" for pooling the coal and steel industries of France, Germany, Italy and the Benelux trio (the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg) laid the foundations of the Economic Community, which may one day transform the war-scarred Old World into a United States of Europe.

President de Gaulle poured irony on the "Fathers of Europe" at his recent press conference, but although he has adopted their brain child, he cannot rob men like Schuman and Jean Monnet of their places in history.

Robert Schuman was a "European" by birth. He was born in Luxembourg and brought up in Lorraine, when it was part of Germany. He studied at the universities of Bonn, Munich, Berlin and Strasbourg and was a lawyer at the outbreak of the first world war. He first tasted the self-destructive rivalries of the continent as a German soldier. Twenty years later he entered the second world war on the other side.

For a time he was a member of the Petain government, with a technical portfolio, dealing with the refugee problem. Later in the war he was arrested and deported to Germany.

Although he was a member of the French National Assembly, almost without a break from 1919 till he retired from politics two years ago, Schuman was not allowed to forget his origins. He always spoke French with a strong German accent, which left him open to yells of "Boche" from Communist deputies.

Hard Way

Abuse of this kind did not shake his immense self-control, but it helps to explain his distaste for Blimpish nationalism.

Schuman learned the hard way that nationalism in Europe had to be transformed into something else. He was one of the first to dream of a Franco-German reconciliation within a European Federation. Only six years after the war he met Dr. Konrad Adenauer, another borderlander, to see what could be done.

It is one of the curious twists of post-war history that President de Gaulle, the super-nationalist, should carry on Schuman's work and base his European policy on an understanding with the same Dr. Adenauer. And it was de Gaulle, not Schuman, who celebrated Franco-German reconciliation by addressing German crowds in their own language.

Schuman, rather surprisingly, did not launch his plan during his nine months as Prime Minister of France, from November 1947 to July 1948. Then he had other problems. When he came to power, France was paralyzed by nation-wide strikes organized by the Communist Party. Three million men had stopped work. There had been serious clashes between strikers and riot police. The memory of the Communist take-over in Prague was fresh.

'Third Force'

Schuman's government broke the strike in a matter of weeks, but his "Third Force" coalition of Radicals, Socialists and the Christian MRP (Schuman's own party) was weak and divided. It became unworkable and broke up over comparatively minor arguments on defence expenditure.

Schuman stepped down, but in typically Fourth Republican style was foreign minister in all governments over the next five years. He signed the Atlantic Treaty for France in 1949. A year later, on May 9, 1950, he called a press conference at the French Foreign Ministry to announce his plan for a European coal and steel pool.

It was a bombshell. Schuman had worked secretly with the real author of the project, Jean Monnet, and his brilliant team of technocrats. Few members of the French government knew what was going on. The United States was given advance warning of the announcement, but the British were not informed, to the fury of the British Foreign Secretary, Mr. Ernest Bevin.

Schuman presented the world with what amounted to a fait accompli. His plan at the time was not fully worked out. It aroused fears of a "Bankers' Europe." Other criticism saw a Roman Catholic plot hatched by Schuman, Adenauer and De Gasperi. But on the whole it was favorably received, and the Six Parliaments quickly ratified the 20,000-word, highly technical treaty that few deputies were able to understand.

Old Routines

In its setting it was a remarkable diplomatic achievement. Looking back later, Schuman recalled that the Berlin blockade had just ended, but the Allied attitude to West Germany "merely carried on the old routines: bitterly contested concessions were extracted from reluctant and distrustful victors by humiliated losers, growing more and more conscious of their renascent strength."

The Schuman Plan was a bold, imaginative initiative by an elder statesman, a mixture of scholar and missionary. He was respected for his integrity, not for his oratory. His weekly reports to the cabinet on foreign policy were remembered for the boredom they induced.

M. Georges Bidault once called Schuman "an engine running on low-grade petrol." Schuman, in one of his rare comebacks, retorted with a reference to Bidault's drinking habits: "Everyone cannot have an engine running on alcohol."

Schuman, leading a secluded life amid his books in his bachelor flat on the Paris Left Bank appeared dull amid the sharp-tongued orators of the National Assembly. But his contribution to European unity stands out brightly in a dark, unhappy period of French history.

Gerald Waring ...REPORTING

OTTAWA—On March 31 there were 656 pupils in the 10 elementary schools established and operated by the federal government in Eskimo communities in Northern Quebec.

The languages of instruction were English and Eskimo.

Of the 656 pupils, 584 were Eskimos, 36 were Indians, and 36 were Caucasians.

Of the 656 pupils, 643 were Protestants (98 per cent) and 13 were Roman Catholics (2 per cent). Nearly all the Protestants were Anglicans, because it was Anglican missionaries who converted the Northern Quebec Eskimo to Christianity.

* * *

On July 29 Eric Gourdeau, the Quebec provincial administrator for this northern area, was quoted in Le Devoir of Montreal as saying that "It is evident the Eskimo ought to learn a second language . . . this language would be French."

Mr. Gourdeau on another occasion expressed himself in greater detail as to his plans for the Eskimo when and if the federal government turns over its administrative responsibility to Quebec.

Eskimos would continue to receive instruction in their native language. In Grade 3 they would start learning French. In Grade 7 they would start learning English.

They would also begin to receive religious instruction in the Quebec educational tradition. There would be half an hour daily in the Protestant faith and half an hour daily in the Roman Catholic faith.

Mr. Bourdeau was not clear as to whether only the 13 Catholics spread among 10 schools hundreds of miles apart would be eligible for Catholic instruction, or whether this would be a course—"comparative religion," say—that would be either open to or compulsory for the other 643 pupils.

Over the last 10 years the federal government has invested $1.7 millions in school buildings and equipment, and by 1968 an additional $2.8 millions will be required.

A 30 per cent increase in enrolment is expected by then, with a commensurate increase in the present teaching staff of 30.

Present operating costs are $350,000 a year, and these are expected to rise by $1 million a year by 1968.

Construction would have been started this summer on a new $600,000 residential school at Fort Chimo, but Northern Affairs Minister Laing cancelled the project after the Quebec government refused to make any more provincial land available for construction of federal installations.

In addition to the schools, the federal government has a $400,000 investment in Eskimo community services such as water supplies and sewage and garbage disposal. It also spends $100,000 a year in relief payments, $80,000 a year on economic development, and has lent $84,000 to Eskimo co-operatives.

* * *

Qpebec's demand is that Ottawa continue to pay the piper while Quebec calls the tune. The federal government is being told—as blunt as that—to turn over all its Eskimo installations plus its annual spending on the Eskimos to the Quebec government.

Both the cultural and economic welfare and development of the Eskimos is at stake. Immigration Minister Favreau told the Commons Aug. 1 that they will not be sacrificed. "There will be no surrender of our responsibilities," he said. "We must be entirely satisfied that it (the transfer of administration) would be in the interest of the Eskimos."

WHITE FENCE SHROUDS GERMAN INTELLIGENCE

MUNICH (AP) — A whitewashed wall rings a wooded estate in a fashionable Munich suburb.

This is about all the outsider sees of the tightly guarded and mystery-laced headquarters of the Bundesnachrichtendienst — the West German federal intelligence service, or BND for short.

A more popular label is "Gehlen organization," named after its leader who set up the espionage network under U.S. auspices after the Second World War.

Former Lt.-Gen. Reinhard Gehlen, in the business for more than 20 years, has an outfit of perhaps 4,000 men. Recently they have weathered an unprecedented onslaught of criticism.

The agency became the target of violent attacks after a senior official, Heinz Felfe, was convicted as a Soviet agent in West Germany's biggest spy trial since the war.

Court testimony at Karlsruhe disclosed Felfe and a co-defendant, Hans Clemens, during the Nazi era were both intelligence officials of the Reich security head office—which also employed Adolf Eichmann. Clemens admitted that he took part in the shooting of 330 Italian hostages.

Leaders of both opposition and government parties urged that the outfit be given a thorough going over. Newspapers spoke of a "Nazi nest in Munich."

The government took things in stride. The federal chancellory, to which Gehlen is immediately attached, let it be known that "far less than one per cent" of the Gehlen staff formerly were in the ranks of the SS (Schutzstaffel, or Blackshirts).

What's more, officials said, the fact that Felfe and Clemens were tracked down by the Gehlen people themselves—in 1961—showed the agency's efficiency.

Gehlen first got into the espionage field in 1942 when he took over as head of the German army's "foreign armies east" department, assigned to collect information on buildups in the rear of the Red Army front.

When the war ended, he possessed a wealth of data copied in triplicate and carefully stowed away in secret places. It is said that Gehlen got in touch with Gen. Edwin L. Sibert, then assitant director of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

U.S. Gen. George S. Patton, in view of East-West tension, is reported to have sent Gehlen to the United States where the German agreed to set up a new spy organization, provided he got a free hand in picking his staff.

HOME GARDEN By JACK BEASTALL

Careful With That Fertilizer

All established lawns require regular feeding to maintain a healthy, vigourous turf, and we have to admit that most of us home gardeners use lawn fertilizers in a more or less hit or miss manner.

Jack

A lot of lawn troubles which cause the home owner a small panic would never occur in a turf which is getting the food it needs for healthy growth.

We have to remember that the grass plants take food from the soil to maintain growth, and then we cut off the growth and put it on the raspberries or the compost heap. In doing so, we remove from the lawn area a certain amount of plant food.

We also water the lawn freely during the summer, and as the water sinks to the subsoil it carries a quantity of dissolved food with it. In winter the natural rainfall continues the job.

With losses at these rates it is reasonable to expect the lawn to become hungry and sick unless replacements are maintained at a level which slightly exceeds the rate of loss.

No home gardener is going to worry with the mathematical side of this problem, and fortunately it is not necessary. The thing to do is to feed the lawn before the middle of September.

It seems that every authority on lawns has different advice to offer, and the confusion it leaves is responsible for the home gardener's hesitancy.

If you have to buy fertilizer for the job get 16-20-0 (ammonium-phosphate) and use it at the rate of four to six pounds to every 1,000 square feet.

If you have fertilizer on hand, such as a 4-10-4 or a 6-8-6, you will need to use about three times as much or around 12 to 15 pounds for a similar area.

Feeding the lawn in the first half of September strengthens the turf so it can better withstand the winter. It is an investment rather than an expense.

CANADIAN PLAN

U.S. 'Lukewarm' On Arms for UN

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—Canada's push to provide the United Nations with expanded military strength to preserve world peace may receive only lukewarm support from the United States, it was learned Sunday.

An American diplomatic source said the U.S. is willing to lend encouragement to the idea of smaller countries voluntarily earmarking troops for possible UN use — providing these countries pay the costs involved.

But the U.S. does not see much hope for establishment of a new UN military planning board or for full activation of a military planning committee which has been established in the UN but because of Soviet Union opposition never has been given more than superficial recognition.

The American informant estimated that a UN military force, say of 3,000 or 4,000 troops, would increase the UN payroll by some $30,000,000 a year. With the UN periodically threatened by bankruptcy because of revenue delinquency within the UN membership, the U.S. feels that body is confronted with enough financial troubles without taking on new ones.

MARTIN MEETS RUSK

External Affairs Minister Martin of Canada explored in a 2½-hour conference with U.S. State Secretary Rusk here Saturday the possibilities of providing the UN with improved peace-keeping machinery.

Martin later recalled that in 1958 President Eisenhower had advocated collective action within the UN to deal with local wars and added he has found no reason to suggest that the general principles would be opposed by the present U.S. administration.

While it is still unclear exactly what Canada has in mind, there have been Ottawa reports that Prime Minister Pearson will offer the UN a larger and more flexible Canadian force when he addresses the UN General Assembly Sept. 20.

Canada has maintained a standby battalion for possible UN duty and over the years Pearson has been a strong advocate for arming the UN with a permanent military force.

Following talks with Rusk, Martin emphasized at a press conference here the need for collective action to deal with local outbreaks, particularly as the world heads into comprehensive or partial disarmament agreements.

Martin suggested there is a need to improve and enlarge on this concept to provide for central military planning to overcome difficulties in collective command, such as language barriers and differences in military equipment, military drills and commands.

"Some countries, including Canada, are anxious to do everything possible to set aside standby forces and to improve these forces for partial use by the UN if and when needed," he said.

Money for Philby

LONDON (UPI)—The London newspaper Daily Express reported Monday the late British turncoat diplomat Guy Burgess left a will bequeathing about $6,000 to Harold Philby, his "most faithful friend." Burgess died Aug. 31 in Moscow of heart disease. Philby was granted political asylum by the Russians in February.

Family Sees Father Drown

WELLS, B.C. (CP) — A father was drowned Sunday in Bowron Lake before the eyes of his wife and three children who were waiting on the beach to go for a boat ride with him.

John Hoedel, 41, of Wells, toppled into the water about 300 feet from shore when his outboard suddenly swerved as he was investigating motor trouble.

Mine Chairman Predicts Boost In Gold Price

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian mining companies are pouring an increasing amount of money and energy into gold prospecting, Dr. Franc R. Joubin, chairman of Bralorne Pioneer Mines Limited said Monday.

Just returned from an inspection of the Bralorne-Pioneer operation in the interior Bridge River country, Dr. Joubin said gold mining is "not lucrative" but "we are sitting on an exciting situation that can only move in one direction."

He believed an increase in the price of gold from its present $35 an ounce was inevitable despite the fact the U.S. treasury "is doing everything imaginable to avoid the inevitable."

Mortgagors Face Control

TORONTO (CP)—Attorney-General Fred Cass said Monday Ontario will crack down on mortgage brokers who charge exorbitant interest rates.

He announced the formation of a three-man board which will scrutinize brokers and determine whether their licences should be renewed or cancelled.

The board will function in an advisory capacity to the superintendent of insurance.

It was formed as a result of disclosures at the legislature committee inquiring into the cost of consumer credit. Interest rates as high as 87 per cent shocked the committee.

Phone Cables Closing Gap In Pacific

LONDON (Reuters) — Only 1,000 miles now separates the two ends of the 8,700-mile Commonwealth telephone cable across the Pacific Ocean, it was announced Monday.

The British post office cable-laying ship Monarch reported in a message it has completed its part of the operation by taking the cable south from Vancouver to a point 300 miles north of Hawaii.

Monarch has completed two 1,200-mile lays of cable out of Vancouver, the last of which successfully negotiated the Murray Feature where the Pacific is almost 3¼ miles deep.

Another ship, Mercury, will close the gap in operations later this month.

When the project comes into service later this year, Australia and Britain will be linked via Canada, Hawaii, Fiji and New Zealand.

Wheat Board Halts Exports

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Wheat Board moved Monday to halt booking of wheat for export under certain classifications.

In an announcement to the trade the board said that effective immediately and until further notice no further bookings of wheat for export will be accepted by the board on a Class Two or Class Two provisional basis.

This applies to bookings with the board, which controls all Canadian wheat exports, of wheat for export to any country not a member of the International Wheat Agreement.

Bookings under Class Two are for sales to a specified country not in the IWA membership. Class Two provisional bookings are for sales for which the destination has not been given at the time of booking.

A wheat board spokesman declined to give the reasoning behind the move.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Aggressive demand for Canadian rye featured trading near the close today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Rye purchases were credited to exporters and commission houses including United States accounts.

Prices Make Slow Rise

Prices continued to rise slowly on extremely light trading this afternoon on the Toronto stock markets.

Montreal markets also edged toward higher ground, and motors and steels were strong on Wall Street.

AT TORONTO Abitibi, Dominion Glass and Trans-Canada Pipe Line all rose ¾, Canada Steamship Lines, CPR and Dominion Foundries and Steel ½ each and Aluminium ⅝.

Bank issues also strengthened, Imperial Bank of Commerce rising ¾, Royal ½, Toronto-Dominion ⅜, Nova Scotia ¼ and Montreal ⅛.

Algoma and Dominion Textiles both dipped ⅜ and Bell Phone ⅛ trading ex-dividends 55 cents among industrial losers.

Falconbridge fell ⅜, International Nickel ¼ and Denison and Noranda ⅛ among senior base metals.

AT NEW YORK Ford, up more than a point, and General Motors, fractionally higher, touched new highs. Chrysler recovered a couple of points, remaining below its high.

Jones and Laughlin advanced more than a point while U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic Steel added fractions.

Rails, laggard recently, perked up and moved ahead. Chicago and North Western rose more than a point with Illinois Central.

AT MONTREAL Trans-Canada Pipe Lines and Home Oil A both gained ¾, Steel Co. rose ⅜, Aluminium, Rolland A and MacMillan-Bloedel were all up ¼ and Industrial Acceptance and Consolidated Paper both added ⅛.

Brown fell ½, BA Oil and Bell Telephone dropped ¼ each and Dominion Tar and Chemical and Power Corp. were lower by ⅛.

In mining issues, Tazin added 1½ cents.

AT LONDON the lower trend persisted in most sections of stock markets today. Gilt-edges were quiet.

Among Canadian shares traded, Algoma was prominent with a fall of 2¼ to 100¼ after Monday's sizeable rise. Aluminium Ltd. declined a point to 47 while others to lose ground included International Nickel, Abitibi and Imperial Oil.

AT VANCOUVER trading was light. Bethlehem Copper was down at $4.70 and Peace River Pete. at 43. Sarcee was up at $1.23 and Trans. Mt. Pipe at $30. Endako dropped to $4.75 and Kootenay Base Metal to .32.

Ottawa Criticizes Protection Charge

OTTAWA (CP) — Government officials bristled angrily today over a statement by U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman criticizing the degree of trade protectionism for farm products in Canada and other countries.

One senior spokesman termed it ridiculous, inaccurate and unfair.

The report by Mr. Freeman Monday said 41 per cent of farm production in Canada is protected against imports by quotas, embargoes and other non-tariff restrictions.

It listed similar percentages for other countries, including 93 per cent in West Germany, 94 per cent in France and 37 per cent in Britain, but said the United States has non-tariff protective measures for only 26 per cent of its farm output.

Canadian officials said the 41 per cent figure given for Canada was unfair since it included wheat, oats and barley that make up some 26 per cent of farm production.

Imports of these grains are restricted because of the nature of Canada's marketing system through the Canadian wheat board, a Crown agency. But officials said there is no doubt Canadian production of these grains could withstand foreign competition without restrictions.

Canada had protective measures for butter and other dairy products as well; but these hurt countries like New Zealand and Australia—not the U.S.

"Canada is probably one of the very few countries in the world which has a very limited range of agricultural protection in the non-tariff field," one official said.

There was some speculation here that the Freeman statement was part of a U.S. war of nerves directed not against Canada but against Europe where the U.S. hopes to negotiate better trade terms in farm products in next year's bargaining under GATT, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

GATT allows countries to protect farm products where national price supports or subsidies are provided, but one official said Canada is opposed to this principle and wants to see such restrictions lifted.

Air Traffic System Aids High Fliers

OTTAWA (CP) — An air traffic control system for high-flying airliners over Canada's Far North will go into operation Sept. 26, the transport department announced on Monday. Its main job will be to keep the planes well apart from each other.

The system, which took two years to develop, will serve the increasing number of international airlines using routes across the Canadian North. It will not affect low-level aircraft such as bush planes.

Airline pilots flying between 23,000 and 45,000 feet will file regular position reports to transport department radio bases at Frobisher, N.W.T.; Goose Bay in Labrador, Montreal; Churchill, Man., and Edmonton, to radar stations of the DEW and Mid-Canada Lines, and to Arctic weather posts at Cambridge Bay, Resolute and Coral Harbor.

Northern air traffic controllers will be linked by telephone to follow aircraft movements. They will provide information and advice to the pilots with the emphasis on maintaining separation of aircraft.

What do you know about H₂0? Two parts hydrogen, one part oxygen. That's water. Depending on where you live, water is apt to be aerated, filtrated, chlorinated, fluorinated. But not the Rocky Mountain glacial-born water at the ADL distillery in Calgary, Alberta. That water is cold, clear, pure. No other distiller has water like this for making fine rye whisky. It's another exclusive you enjoy in all ADL brands, another reason why ADL rye whiskys are smoother, taste better. But take your own word for it. Next time, ask for an ADL rye.

'Oust Rabble For Statesmen'

One-time Conservative candidate in Saanich, Hugh L. Henderson was unopposed Monday night at the Conservative nomination convention in Oak Bay.

Among the 50 people present in the Municipal Hall was former finance minister in the Coalition government, Herbert Anscomb. Mentioned earlier as a possible candidate, he did not seek nomination.

Mr. Henderson launched into his campaign by saying "It is time to swing Oak Bay back into a Tory stronghold."

He said: "We now have the greatest opportunity we have ever had in this province . . . we have a leader now in Davie Fulton, a man of high integrity, an honest, dynamic and experienced leader who excels and outdistances any other leader in this election.

"OUST THE YES-MEN"

"Our purpose," he said, "is to oust the yes-men and replace the demagogue and rabble with what I hope will be statesmen."

"Now is the time for Oak Bay voters who have swayed away from the party to be swayed back," he said.

Mr. Henderson, a lawyer, was born in Ontario and served with the Royal Canadian Navy for 10 years. He retired as lieutenant-commander in 1949.

He graduated in law from Osgoode Hall and is a member of both the Ontario and B.C. Bar. He is 45 and has practised law in Victoria for 12 years.

Interested in the field of education Mr. Henderson is governor of Trinity College School, governor of Anglican Theological College, UBC, and chairman of the board of governors of Norfolk House.

He has been an active member of the Conservative Association since 1956, the year he was a candidate in the provincial election. At present he is president of Esquimalt-Saanich Association and vice-chairman of the federal executive of the provincial association.

Married with three children he lives in Gordon Head.

B.C. Hunter Survives Mauling by Grizzly Bear

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—A grizzly bear mauled a moose hunter Sunday at Tum Tum Lake 100 miles north of Kamloops.

The life of Robert McKelvie, 32, a Kamloops truck driver, was saved by his two hunting companions who scared off the bear, and by 21 pints of blood given by transfusions.

McKelvie, who suffered multiple head lacerations, is in satisfactory condition in hospital here.

McKelvie was hunting with his brothers-in-law, Vern and Morris Murphy.

Vern Murphy said today the hunting party had to split up after leaving their boat on the lakeshore, and McKelvie had gone into the heavy bush by himself.

"We hadn't gone 50 feet," Murphy said, "when we heard what we thought were two bears fighting nearby.

"We thought it was close by but we couldn't tell—we couldn't see more than six feet through the brush.

"Then we heard Bob cry out 'Help,' just once, and we started running toward the sound.

"We still couldn't find him—it was an awful experience—so we started to fire about seven feet from the ground so we wouldn't hit Bob."

McKelvie, who remained conscious, said later the firing frightened the animal away.

The Murphy brothers loaded the injured man into their boat and sped to the south end of the lake where their car was parked.

They drove south to Vavenxy, where a forest service crew attempted to radio for a helicopter. But none was available. They continued to Birch Island where the injured man was placed in an ambulance and brought 90 miles to Kamloops.

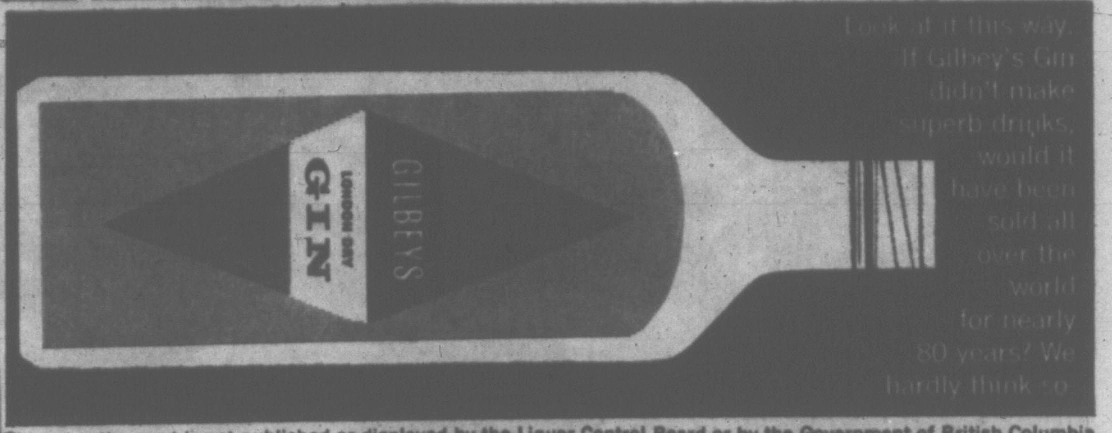
Teacher Strike Off

NEW YORK (UPI) — A threatened strike of public school teachers was called off Sunday night when the United Federation of Teachers voted overwhelmingly to accept a two-year contract.



Look at it this way. If Gilbey's Gin didn't make superb drinks, would it have been sold all over the world for nearly 80 years? We hardly think so.

Yippee! B.C. Lions Alone in First Place!

'NOW, JUST A MINUTE, FELLAS ...'

These five gentlemen want the early American firearm to be called the "Pennsylvania" long rifle. The trouble is, a similar five from Kentucky want it to be called the "Kentucky," so there's going to be shooting in them thar hills. Teams will hold two shoot-offs (targets, not each other), with the winner given the right to name the gun. From left, Robert Rambo, Parke Bailor, George Seisler, Richard Hujsa and Robert Hujsa make up the Pennsylvania team, hosts for the first match.

Leos Get Kick Out of Kempf

REGINA (CP)—British Columbia Lions, unable to crack a solid Saskatchewan Roughriders defence, resorted to the toe of rookie Peter Kempf for an 8-2 Western Football Conference victory here Monday night.

Before an overflow crowd of 15,364, B.C. grabbed an exclusive hold on first place, two points ahead of idle Calgary Stampeders. Saskatchewan was left in a tie for third with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, also idle.

The first quarter was scoreless, B.C. inched ahead 3-1 in the second and led 6-2 after three-quarters.

Halfback Kempf accounted for all B.C. scoring with two field goals and two singles on missed field goal attempts. His performance shot him to the top of the WFC individual scoring race with 50 points.

End Martin Fabi got a single for Saskatchewan and tackle Reg Whitehouse got the other point on a missed field goal.

Saskatchewan quarterback Ron Lancaster threw a number of inaccurate wobbly passes, allowing the B.C. pass defence to intercept three times and stifle Roughriders' second-half hopes.

CARRIES THE OFFENCE

Quarterback Joe Kapp carried the offense for Lions, running 13 times for 64 yards and completing 11 of 20 passes for 113 yards.

Halfback Willie Fleming carried eight times for 40 yards. Lancaster completed eight of 23 passes for 80 yards. Halfback Ray Purdin was his favorite target, taking four passes for 46 yards. Purdin also rushed six times for 35 yards.

Fullback George Reed made 47 yards in 11 carries for Saskatchewan.

Midway through the second quarter Roughriders marched from the B.C. 43 to the B.C. 22. Whitehouse tried his field goal from there and Saskatchewan went ahead 1-0.

Lions set up Kempf's first field goal late in the second quarter with a 19-yard pass and run play to fullback Nub Beamer that went to the Saskatchewan 36. Kapp hit Claridge at the 22, carried himself to the 18, and Kempf scored.

In the first play of the third quarter, B.C. end Paul Seale intercepted a Lancaster pass and ran it 30 yards to the Saskatchewan 20.

SETS UP SINGLE

Reed set up Fabi's single with plunges that took Roughriders to the B.C. 38. Fabi kicked from there.

B.C. got a good attack running and went to the Saskatchewan 15 with long passes to halfback Jerry Janes, who usually plays end, and halfback Tom Larscheid and runs by Kapp, Beamer and Larscheid. The drive came to nothing when Kempf's field goal attempt from the 17 was blocked.

Lions got another chance when Lancaster's first pass after the field goal attempt was intercepted by halfback By Bailey at the Saskatchewan 47 and run back to the 32. Ground plays and a Statue of Liberty play with Fleming took the ball to the 15 but the angle was bad and Kempf's field goal attempt counted for only one point.

Midway through the last quarter Kempf missed a field goal from the 31 but it counted for one point.

B.C. had 15 first downs on 136 yards rushing and 113 passing. Saskatchewan had 12 first downs on 104 yards rushing and 80 passing. B.C. averaged 43.1 yards on nine punts and Saskatchewan averaged 46.1 on nine.

The four-year-old chestnut gelding ran the six furlongs in 1:12, with Marco second and Alice Kaput third.

The quinella in the first race was a small $7.70 when two favorites Postano and Wise Balladier ran one-two in the race.

Eltadrive, after winning the eighth race, was disqualified when she interfered with Suel as she crossed the wire. She was placed second behind the winner Suel, who finished in 1:13 1/5.

A total of $176,582 was put through the mutuels.

STONE JOHNSON

Pro Grid Prospect Succumbs

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Stone Johnson, promising rookie for Kansas City Chiefs and a runner for the United States in the 1960 Olympics, died Sunday night—eight days after being injured in an exhibition football game.

A post-mortem examination was conducted, but the results were not immediately released.

The 23-year-old halfback had been in serious condition since suffering a fractured neck vertebra in the game against the Houston Oilers. He was hurt on a first-quarter kickoff when he dived to make a block in the game Aug. 31.

The Chiefs considered him one of the fastest men in football, pegged to his times of 9.3 seconds in the 100-yard dash and 20.5 seconds in the 220-yard dash.

Drag Racer Reaches 175

Frank Hall of Seattle gave 1,100 drag racing fans the thrill of their lives Sunday when he shot through the quarter-mile strip at Cobble Hill at 175 m.p.h.

Hall, driving Dick Gruber's A class car, had an elapsed time for the acceleration trial of 8.77 seconds, the fastest the car has ever run.

Roger Doherty, also of Seattle, had the second best time of the afternoon at 9.60 seconds.

Rain washed out the program before a "top eliminator" could be decided.

Among local drivers, John Walker took top honors, outrunning all competition for "stock eliminator" title.

DURABLE AT 42

The Machine Died But Not Old Spahnie

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — When Branch Rickey reigned as major domo of Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League he introduced a number of mechanical gadgets designed to send handsomely polished ball players rolling off the assembly line.

Among the many marvels were machines that pitched and gimmicks for retrieving balls.

Several types of pitching machines were used. Some were made like bazooka guns and they could throw curves, sliders and screwballs.

But there was one particular device that Dodger players stared at in fascination. It flung the ball with a mechanical arm, a big sweeping overhand motion that delivered strikes only.

The Dodgers called it The Warren Spahn.

That was 15 years ago. The original machine fell apart and was discarded long ago. But Warren Spahn, the flesh-and-blood prototype of the Rickey gadget, still is firing to the plate with that big sweeping overhand motion. And he still is firing strikes.

"Why shouldn't I?" he asks with a quizzical grin. "I've spent most of my life throwing a baseball 60 feet, six inches."

At a period of life when most other athletes had either grown old or lame, the 42-year-old wizard not only is a member of the elite 20-game winning set but remains the ace of Milwaukee Braves' pitching staff.

In many ways this durable southpaw is enjoying the most successful season of his major-league career dating back to 1942.

After more than 600,000 pitches over nearly 5,000 innings, the slender six-footer is in position to win more games, lose less, spin more shutouts and hurl more complete games than in any previous season.

Plans To Be Around When He's 50

Spahn recorded his 347th lifetime victory last Sunday, defeating Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 for his 20th triumph, which matched Christy Mathewson's National League record of 13 20-game winning seasons. Only six pitchers in all baseball history have won more games and only one—Cy Young—had more 20-game seasons.

"It's nice to know that in the future, people will be able to look into the record books and judge what kind of a pitcher I was," said Spahn. "But right now, I am not concerned so much with what I have done, but what I can do today. You're as good as you are right now."

"I cannot afford to live on my reputation. I realize if I don't produce, there are two or three others ready to take my place."

Spahn will be 43 next April or just about the time he begins his 25th year in organized baseball but he has given no thought to retirement.

"I'm looking ahead to pitching several more years. My age isn't bothering me. I'm already planning for next year and I don't think there's anything that should prevent me from winning 20 again in 1964."

Only Young and Walter Johnson have passed the 400 victory mark. Did Spahn think he could join these immortals?

"I'm shooting for it," he acknowledged with a grin.

RALPH GULDAHL JOINS GOLF'S HALL OF FAME

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Ralph Guldahl, a top performer of the 1930s, has been elected to the PGA hall of fame by members of the Professional Golfers' Association.

President Lou Strong of the PGA said Guldahl won by a wide margin over nine other nominees and becomes the 32nd member to join the select group.

The 52-year-old Texan dominated the game from 1936 through 1939.

Travel-Weary Shamrocks Drop Opener to Oshawa

By GEORGE CAMPBELL
Special to the Times

WHITBY — Oshawa Green Gaels captured the important first game of the "Minto Cup" finals, emblematic of the Canadian junior "A" lacrosse championship, Monday at the Whitby Community Arena. Gaels, representing eastern Canada in their "rookie" year of junior lacrosse, defeated the defending champions, Victoria Shamrocks, 10-7, before a standing room crowd. Second and third games in the best-of-seven finals are scheduled for Wednesday night and Friday.

Oshawa, regarded as underdogs in the series with the more experienced and bigger westerners, held their own. Victoria seemed to be a tired club after the first period of play, weary from their long journey from the west. Wally Cattel, past-president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, described the first 15 minutes of play as "one of the finest in Minto Cup history."

Oshawa led 2-1 at that stage and then the trip began to tell the story. Victoria, who left via train on Friday, arrived in Oshawa Monday afternoon only three hours before game time, and had to rush and eat before the game.

Manager Doug Fletcher commented before the series that his club was tired and he wished his team had flown instead of coming by train.

"We came over 3,000 miles and we're going to win. Last night's game was nothing. We'll bounce back on Wednesday," was the players' comment.

Victoria coach Tom Druce doesn't think Oshawa Green Gaels are as tough as the Brampton Armstrongs.

Last year, Victoria whipped Brampton four games to two to win the cup in a West Coast series.

"I was surprised we were that close," said Druce. "Brampton was stronger than this club—but our team isn't as strong as it was last year."

The westerners are bothered by the white boards in the Whitby arena which makes it difficult to see the white ball rebounding. In the west the boards are painted green and Druce said he may request use of yellow ball for the rest of the series.

Bill Munroe Best Man on Floor

Captain Tommy Conlin, in his last season, sparked the Gaels to the victory scoring three times, including the 10th marker which came when Victoria were pressing near the game's completion. Johnny Davis added two others while Dave Lough, Paul Macdonald, Stew Wieler, Jimmie Hinkson and Elmer Tran were the other marksmen.

Bill Munroe was the top shooter with four goals for Victoria. The husky 6 foot 195 pounder was by far the best performer on the floor and kept Victoria in the game. Nirmal Dillon, one of two East Indian brothers playing on the club, and Rod Kilduff scored the others. Dillon potted two and Kilduff a single.

Only seven minor penalties were assessed in the game with Oshawa drawing four. Both teams employed a running game and stuck strictly to hard lacrosse. Goaltenders Bob Fisher of Victoria and Merv Marshall played steady games. Fisher blocked 46 shots to Marshall's 37.

Cards Cut LA Margin To Three

(Associated Press)

Curt Simmons, admittedly working on his "second career," has reached another lofty plateau while moving the challenging St. Louis Cardinals to within three games of the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

The 34-year-old left hander posted the 30th shutout of his career Monday night, stopping Chicago Cubs 6-0 on five hits as the streaking Cardinals kept the pressure on Dodgers by rolling to their 12th victory in 13 games.

IMPORTANT SERIES

Cardinals haven't been this close to the leaders since July 4. Dodgers, who were not scheduled Monday night, have 19 games remaining to Cardinals' 17, including a three-game series between the two teams at St. Louis starting next Monday.

Simmons says this is "my second career—this time as a pitcher, not a thrower." The first ended after a fling in the minors, where the former Philadelphia Whiz Kid tried to regain the form that made him a 17-game winner for the pennant-winning Phillies of 1950.

NOW KEY MAN

Released during the 1960 season, Simmons got a second chance with Cardinals — and started career No. 2. He posted a 9-10 record in 1961, was 10-10 last year and this season has become a key man on an in-and-out staff with a 14-7 record and a 2.60 earned run average.

While Simmons took care of the pitching, Bill White took care of the punch for Cardinals, becoming the third National Leaguer this season to reach the 100-runs batted in level by driving in three runs with a double and two singles.

Tonight, Cardinals will again be home to Chicago Cubs, sending Bob Gibson, 16-8, to the mound, against Chicago's Glen Hobbie, 7-9. Dodgers will start Sandy Koufax, 22-5, at Pittsburgh against Don Cardwell, 13-13.

In the only other games scheduled Monday, third-place Milwaukee Braves swept a double-header from Cincinnati Reds 9-2 and 7-4, and New York Mets defeated Philadelphia 6-3.

BELL WOULDN'T SAVE BOXER IN NEW JERSEY

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Boxers may no longer be saved by the bell under a tougher code adopted by the New Jersey Athletic Commission Monday.

Commission Chairman Joseph F. Walker said referees will keep counting if a fighter is down when the bell rings. A knockout would be scored if the fighter failed to get up by the count of 10.

Under the old rules, a fighter knocked down in the final nine seconds of a round could be saved by the bell because the referee would automatically stop the count when the bell sounded.

Pale Hose Freshman Has a Ball

(Associated Press)

Working only once every four days makes it tougher for pitchers to win rookie or most valuable player awards.

Gary Peters, one of the three prime candidates for the American League's rookie award and the only pitcher, decided to do something about it.

He pitched and won his 18th game of the year, and 12th in the last 13 decisions, Monday night as Chicago White Sox dumped Baltimore Orioles 9-4.

He also wielded a hot bat, clubbing a double and a single, for his 18th and 19th hits of the year, and drove in runs with each.

HALL COMES ON

Meanwhile, outfielder Jimmie Hall continued his hitting drive in a bid for the rookie award.

He banged his 30th and 31st home runs for Minnesota Twins in a 7-4 win over Cleveland Indians, tying the league homer record for rookies set by Ted Williams in 1939.

New York Yankees blew a 6-0 lead as their pennant-clinching drive stalled in a 7-6 loss to Kansas City Athletics, the Athletics using walks and errors to score six runs in the seventh inning and the winning run in the eighth.

Detroit Tigers swept a double-header from Washington Senators, 1-0 and 10-7, and Boston Red Sox defeated Los Angeles Angels 5-2.

BEST E.R.A.

Hall's two homers ran his batting average to .266 and his runs batted in total to 72. Facing him is the major league rookie homer record of 38 set by Wally Berger and Frank Robinson, both in the National League.

Peters has three home runs, a triple and four doubles in his 19 hits, good for 12 runs batted in and a batting .250 average.

That is much higher than his earned run average, which, at 1.95, is the best in the majors for starting pitchers. He has pitched 12 complete games and leads the American League in strikeouts with 179.

Island Polo Win

A Vancouver Island polo team made up of Bill Powell, Tony Buckle, J. Parker and E. Ruthven retained the B.C. Challenge Cup in Vancouver Sunday, defeating a Vancouver team 12-4.

NEW YORK (AP) — Will the real owner of Nat Craddock stand up.

Nat would like to shake the hand that shook him free from a long week in a revolving door.

Craddock, a rookie pro football hopeful from Parsons College in Iowa, spent last week on the roster of five teams in three leagues and two countries.

With the travel time he's logged, it seems fitting that he wound up with the Jets.

Craddock landed with New York Jets in the American Football League—while he was sitting on the bench of the rival Boston club.

Here's the full log:

Craddock started the week with New York Giants of the National Football League. He scored two touchdowns in the exhibition season — the only Giant to do so. So he was cut.

Giants offered him to Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian League, presumably to learn the trade and then come back next year for another chance. He never reached Ottawa. Montreal Alouettes claimed they had Canadian rights to Craddock.

While the two Canadian clubs argued, Craddock took his first positive step.

"I wired Mike Holovak, Boston coach, and told him I wanted to play football," said Craddock.

Patriots had AFL draft rights to Craddock.

Craddock hardly stayed around long enough to get a pat on the back with Patriots.

Jets, supposed to get first crack at players cut by NFL teams, came into Boston for a game with Patriots, found Craddock on the bench, and immediately started ringing telephones all over the country trying to locate AFL commissioner Joe Foss.

Foss, located in San Diego, ruled Craddock was a Jet.

"Nobody told me I could go to the Jets," said Craddock.

"All I want is a chance to play some place. Wherever I play I'll find a home—New York, Boston or any place," Craddock said.

He may find it—in Boston.

Jets are loaded with running backs, Patriots need one.

The way everyone figures it Craddock is a natural for trade bait.

New West Squares Series

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — New Westminster bombed Vancouver 17-5 Monday night to even the Western Senior Lacrosse final at two games apiece in the best-of-seven playoff.

Playing before 1,500 fans at Queens Park Arena, New Westminster outclassed the league champion Vancouver club in every quarter of play.

The series now switches to Vancouver Wednesday for the fifth game, with the sixth game returning to New Westminster Friday.

WHO ELSE?

Again it was New Westminster's top scorer Jack Bionda who led his team to another key win with four goals and two assists.

He was followed by Cliff Sepka with three goals and two assists—the final goal of the game being Sepka's 500th goal of his playing career.

Bill Jobb also picked up three goals, Doug McRory got two, plus singles by Paul Parnell, Ron Loftus, Charlie Saunders, Bill Wilkes, and Ivan Stewart.

For Vancouver Peter Black was high man with two goals followed by Sid Warick, Fred Usselman, and John Cervi, all with singles.

Veteran New Westminster goalie Stan Joseph had another big night with 27 saves as against 12 saves for Merve Schweitzer, who played for three-quarters of the game and was relieved in the last quarter by Skip Jolly, who managed four stops.

WOMEN 'WIN' AT LATONIA

Trading Stamps Take Sting Out of Losing

By KELSO STURGEON

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP)—The Latonia track here shook the foundations of the racing world two weeks ago by announcing it would give trading stamps to women who held losing $2 tickets.

The practice has proven successful. In fact 15 women interviewed at the track stamp booth said it is just about the greatest thing in racing history.

One elderly woman, who asked that her name not be used, lost about $200 through the first six races.

When asked how she felt about her luck, she opened a purse and said: "Look at these stamps. Just think of all the nice Christmas presents I can get for my grandchildren."

Helen Zeis, of Erlanger, Ky., said: "It makes losing a lot nicer. I can have a good time this way and get an awful lot of things for the stamps."

One man, who watched in obvious dismay as the women redeemed their losing tickets, said:

"The thing I just can't stand about this is that my wife now buys all of my tickets. When I have a winner the man at the cashier's window thinks I'm nuts when I give him 10 or 20 $2 tickets.

"If the track wants to do this, that's fine with me. But let them have $5 and $10 windows where these things are sold."

Trading stamps are given only on Fridays for losing $2 win, place and show tickets which were bought at special windows.

Track publicity man Chuck Di Rocco said about 50,000 trading stamps were given out the first Friday and more than 100,000 were handed out last Friday.

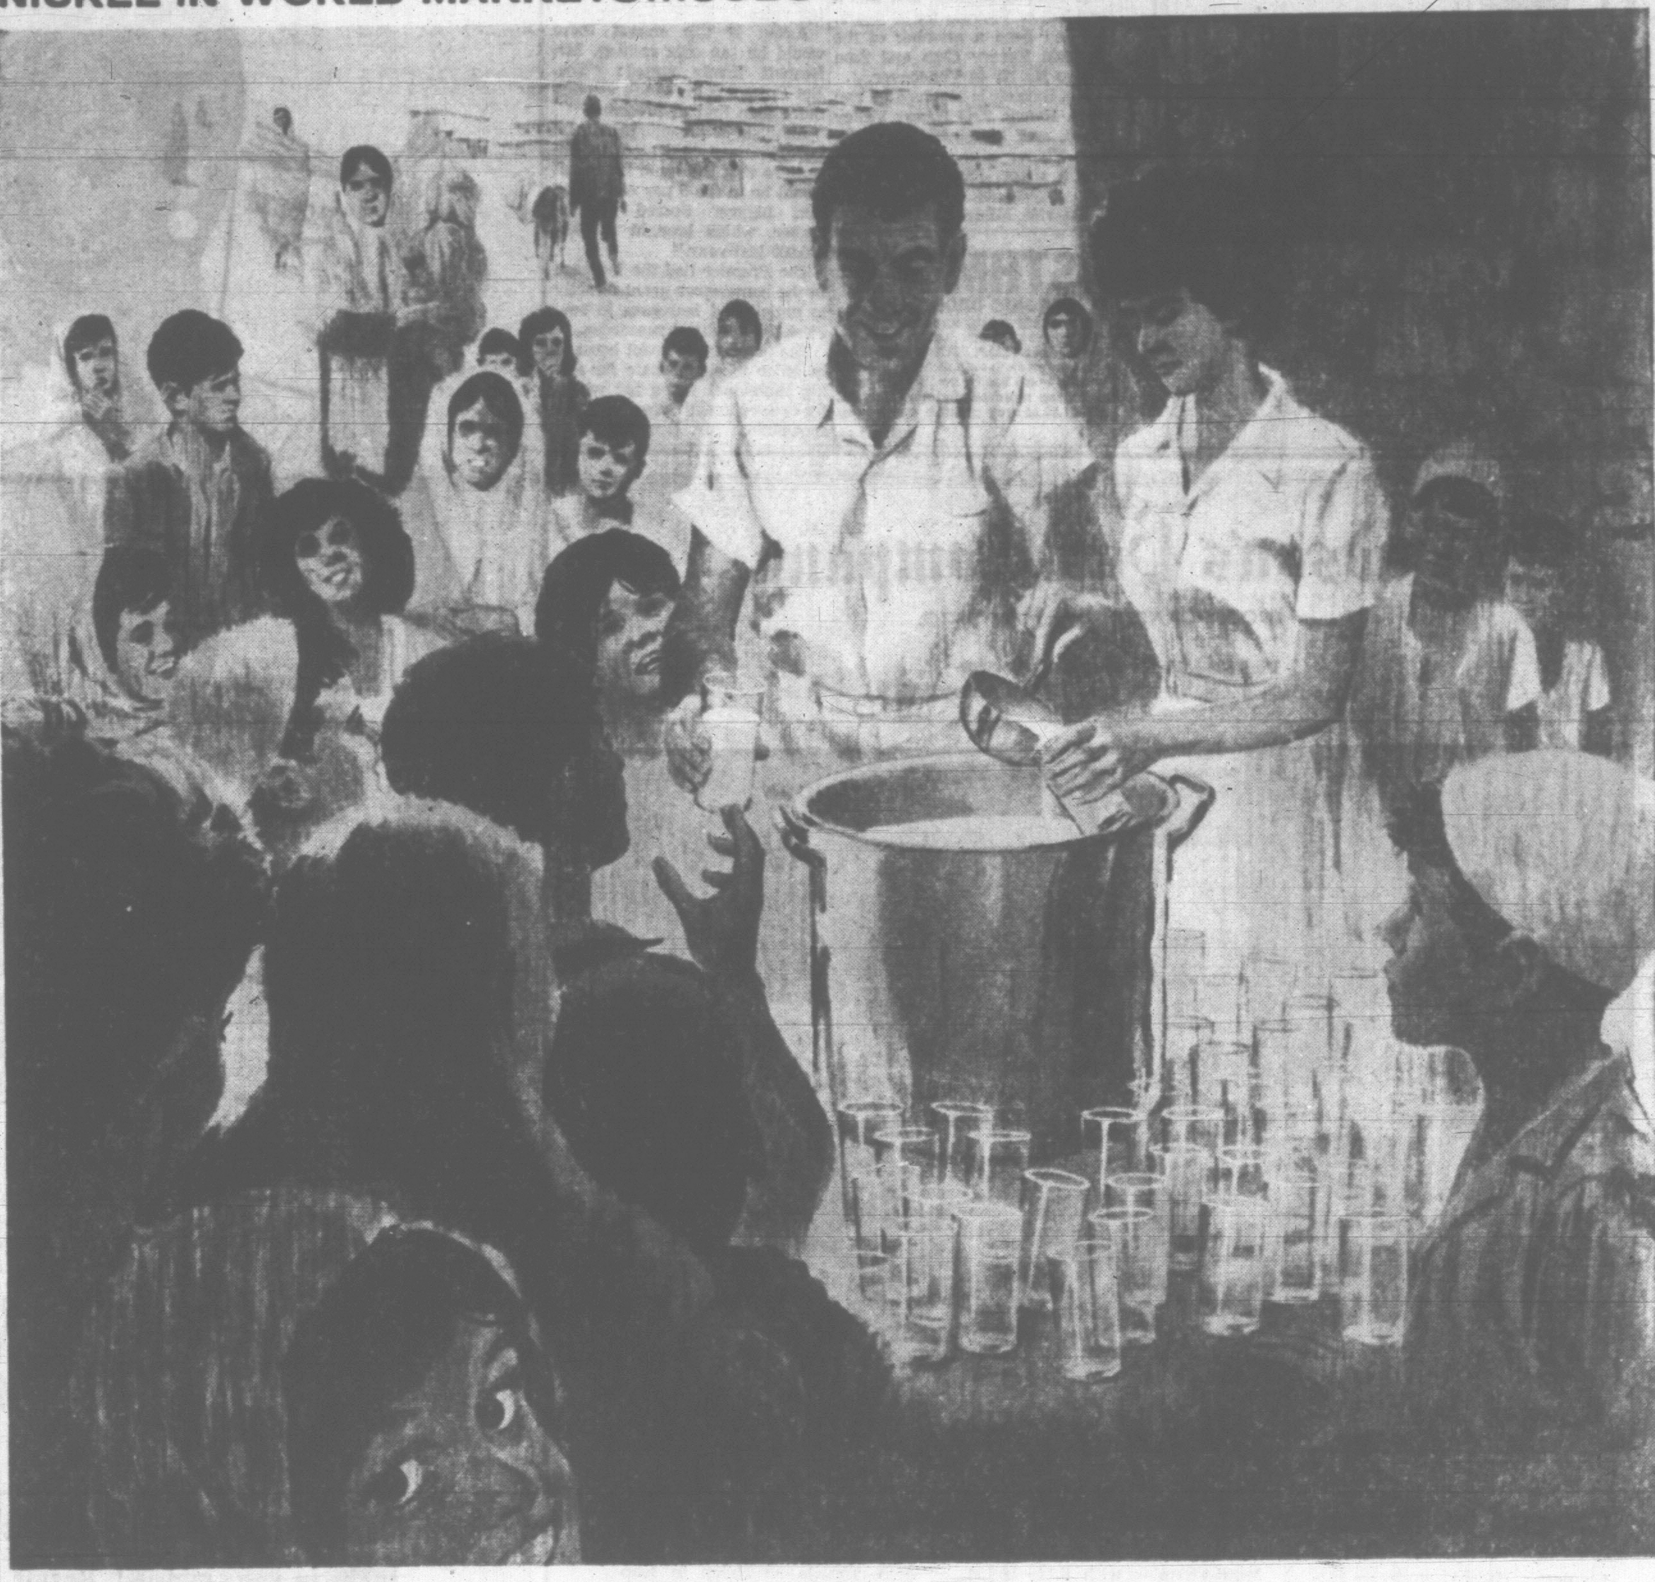
NICKEL IN WORLD MARKETS...JOBS FOR CANADIANS



How Canadian Nickel helps bring pasteurized milk to Iranian children

Until a few years ago, fresh, pasteurized milk was virtually unknown to a great many Iranian youngsters. But, today, thanks to those interested in the welfare of the world's less fortunate children, a modern milk-processing plant outside Teheran is providing enough pasteurized milk daily for thousands of little Iranians. And Canadian nickel is helping, just as it does in similar projects in other parts of the globe. Nickel stainless steel is used for the tanks, pasteurizers, homogenizers and other equipment in the plant. Why nickel stainless steel? Because nickel stainless steel is highly resistant to corrosion and very easy to keep spotlessly clean. The growth of nickel markets at home and abroad helps strengthen Canada's economy and helps provide jobs for Canadians.

Appeal Court Justice C. H. O'Halloran Dies

Mr. Justice Cornelius Hawkins O'Halloran, who capped a distinguished law career with 25 years as a justice on the B.C Court of Appeal, died Monday in St. Joseph's Hospital.

The well-known jurist was 73, and lived with his wife Ada at 999 Beach Drive.

Mr. Justice O'Halloran's original approach to legal questions has been credited with making an indelible impression on B.C. law interpretation.

O'Halloran

An Appeals Court colleague, Mr. Justice H. W. Davey, said Monday night: "Many of the views he pioneered have been adopted by the Supreme Court of Canada.

PRISONERS RIGHTS

"He was especially interested in the rights of the prisoners."

The late justice was born at Pavilion, near Lillooet, B.C. in 1890, 20 years after his father Cornelius arrived from County Clare, Ireland.

He earned a master of arts degree at the University of New Brunswick, and was called to the B.C. Bar in 1915.

During First World War he served in France and Belgium as a private, and later became a militia captain. He married Ada Schaper of Victoria in 1917.

PRACTISED LAW HERE

In Victoria he practised with Hall and O'Halloran and later with O'Halloran and Harvey. In 1935 he became a King's Counsel.

The late justice was counsel for B.C. from 1935 to 1937 on gas and automobile tariff references, and was chief counsel from 1935 to 1938 to the controversial B.C. coal and petroleum products enquiry.

He also served five years during the 'thirties as honorary consul for Belgium at Victoria, and was unsuccessful in Nanaimo election bids in 1926 and 1930.

He is survived by the widow; a sister, Mother Mary Cornelius of Mount St. Mary, Victoria; two sons, C. Desmond and Brian, both of Victoria; daughters, Mrs. Howard Boyle of Stockton, Calif., and Mrs. Leslie Smith of Victoria; and seven grandchildren.

Prayers will be offered at 8 p.m. Thursday at St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, Oak Bay, and requiem mass will be celebrated Friday at 11 a.m. by Rev. M. J. McNamara with burial in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Hayward's is in charge of arrangements.

Happy Valley Boy Winner Of $6,000 Scholarship

First Canadian student to win the $6,000 Joseph Delaney Memorial scholarship is Paul Willing, 17, 3635 Happy Valley Road.

He was congratulated today by Education Minister Leslie Peterson.

The scholarship is sponsored by the International Union of Operating Engineers.

"It is a great honor and one that nobody can ever take away from you," said Mr. Peterson. "I hope all our students will be inspired by what you have done.

"If all labor organizations did what the operating engineers have done to encourage scholarship, it would be a great thing for Canada."

Paul, a former Times carrier, born in Victoria, told Mr. Peterson he intends to be a chemical engineer.

"Good for you," said the minister. "I wish I had known what I wanted to be when I was your age." (Mr. Peterson was a lawyer before he entered politics.)

The scholarship, worth $1,500 a year for four years, enables the winner to attend the college of his choice.

Paul, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Willing, has chosen the University of Victoria for his first year and UBC the next. He plans to get a Bachelor of Applied Science degree to enable him to follow a career in the pulp, plastic, petroleum or food processing industries.

His father has been an active member of Local 115 of the International Union of Operating Engineers since 1947 and is a shop steward at Evans, Coleman and Evans, Victoria.

"There are 5,000 members in the Victoria local and about 130,000 across Canada," said Edward Callan, the union's international representative, who presented Paul Willing to the education minister.

The scholarship was awarded to the high school student in Canada deemed most meritorious by the Canadian Universities Foundation.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Advt.

Tax Cuts Promised As Election Outcome

Provincial taxes will be cut if Social Credit is re-elected, Premier W. A. C. Bennett declared Monday.

He strongly hinted that tax cut announcements might even be made during the election campaign as part of Social Credit's new "seven year plan" for B.C.

The disclosure, in an interview with The Times, came shortly after it was announced the government will increase the homeowner grant to $150 by 1970.

"It could be more," Premier Bennett added.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said that the grant could be increased "at existing or lower tax rates."

Asked if this meant there would be tax cuts coming, Mr. Bennett firmly stated: "Yes. But I'm not going to tell you any more than that at present."

Analysis of present provincial tax revenues indicated to observers that the most likely cut would be in the 5 per cent sales tax, biggest Socred moneymaker, which brought in $98,000,000 last year."

The Premier tied the increase in the homeowner grant directly to anticipated increases in revenue from natural resources.

The homeowner grant boost is in order to compensate for rising municipal taxes for which the government takes no responsibility, Mr. Bonner said.

There are times around our place, and yours, too, no doubt, when the air can stand a little clearing. With this in mind, I decided the other night to call a family conference, a move which was received rather apathetically by our junior section.

"How long is this going to take?" Ron asked. "There's a show I want to see. It comes on at 8.30."

"I have to wash my hair," Susan said. "Couldn't I be attending to that while the rest of you have this session?"

"Those are two major reasons for the conference," I said. "TV watching, and tieing up the bathroom."

"I don't tie it up!" Susan protested, and from her brother drew a look and a muttered, "Oh, boy!"

We were still arguing that one—the family conference off the pad ahead of the countdown—when Win came in with her sewing basket.

"We'll conduct this along democratic lines," she announced, "with no arguing and no one speaking out of turn." She settled herself in my chair, one of the matters I intended taking up, and gave us an impartial smile. "Ron, no show till your homework's finished. Sue, there isn't any hot water, so your hair will have to wait. Now, let's proceed."

* * *

Silence lengthened. Our teen-agers sat at either end of the sofa, wearing identical blank expressions. Our self-appointed chairman adjusted her lamp and began placidly to sew a fine seam.

"All right," I said finally, "Sue, you can lead off."

"What am I supposed to say?"

"Well, what don't you like about the way things are run here? That's the idea of the conference. Everyone gets rid of his grievances, although I don't really see why you kids should have any. When I was your age . . ."

Our chairman cleared her throat. She said gently, "I'd hoped to see that show too . . . Susan?"

"If this is a democratic proceeding, I suppose we each have a veto?"

I told Sue firmly, "No!"

"They do in the United Nations," Ron said, casually fingering a television dial. "I just remembered, I only had a page of homework and it's all done."

"Leave that set alone," I ordered. "Susan, put that magazine down!"

"I wasn't reading, I was just looking at fall fashions. It's nice to know what the other girls will be wearing . . . Can I come over and show you this A-line skirt, mother?"

"Is that a grievance?" I demanded. "Not having enough clothes? If you ask me, you're pretty well done by. Trouble with you and your friends, one of you gets something new, then . . ."

"You're speaking out of turn," the chairman reminded me. "No woman ever has enough clothes, so that's hardly a grievance. Just a fact of life . . . Ron, don't turn up the sound. Not yet."

* * *

I hadn't realized the set was on. But there was Yul Brynner of all people, in black shirt and five-gallon hat, with a thin cigar between his teeth.

"What's he doing in a cowboy suit?" I asked.

"He's one of seven gunmen," Ron explained. "There is this little Mexican town, and a bunch of bandits have taken over. So Yul Brynner collects these seven gunfighters and rides to help the farmers."

"You seem to know a good deal about it," I said, interrupting the brisk and detailed resume.

"Sure. I saw most of it before. We were right where the bandits ride in when you two came home with those people off the ferry, and we missed the rest." Ron adjusted dark and light with delicate precision. "So if everything is settled, I'll turn up the sound."

"Not so fast," I said. "You haven't had the floor."

"Oh, I don't have much to fuss about," said Ron, "except maybe you could explain why you're wearing my grey socks and what happens to my hair tonic."

"My socks," I corrected automatically, and was preparing to elaborate when Win closed her sewing basket.

"I think these conferences are a fine idea," she said, "and we'll have another some time. Now, let's hear what Yul Brynner is telling them."

So Ron twisted the dial, and with the air well-cleared, we disposed ourselves for a friendly family evening.

Topics of the Day

A 40-year record of spotless driving ended in city magistrate's court this morning for James Merchant, 80 High Street.

He was convicted of impaired driving and fined $250.

Evidence showed he hit the rear of a car stopped at Douglas and Hillside Monday. When police arrived he denied having been in an accident.

Magistrate J. A. Byers asked for a probation report before deciding on whether to suspend Merchant's licence.

The Board of Broadcast Governors today recommended approval to the department of transport an application for transfer of 600 shares of Victoria radio station CFAX to Clare Copeland and Charles Smith.

This transfer would give controlling interest in the station to Mr. Copeland, presently general manager of CFAX and Mr. Smith, the station's consulting engineer for production who works out of Vancouver.

Present owners, Charles White of Victoria and Arthur Phillips of Vancouver, will still retain 24 and 16 per cent of the shares, respectively.

Salary increases for about 75 employees of the Veterans' Hospital here have been announced by Finance Minister Walter Gordon.

The increases are retroactive to Jan. 1.

The rest of the hospital's 264 employees got increases previously, personnel officer Ethan Woodbury said.

Charles Ashe, 860 Parklands, was given a three-month jail term in Esquimalt magistrate's court Monday for assaulting a policeman.

Magistrate J. A. Byers said in passing sentence that fines are not sufficient punishment in this kind of case.

Ashe hit Constable Frank Bell when the officer found him last Saturday morning lying drunk on a green at Gorge Vale golf course.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual meeting Wednesday at 12:15 p.m. in the Georgian Lounge of the Empress Hotel.

Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore, Flag Officer Pacific Coast, will speak on "Matters Which Influence the Shape and Size of the Royal Canadian Navy."

Two men and a woman who decided to have a party early Monday afternoon made one mistake—they held it in Pioneer Square.

And as a result they appeared in city magistrate's court today charged with intoxication and drinking in a public place.

Police found Lynn Bailey, Andrew Thyne and William Kelly sitting on a bench in the park drinking from a 40-ounce bottle of wine.

Each was fined $50 or one month in jail for drinking in public and $10 or three days for being drunk.

Saanich fire department estimates more than $5,000 damage was caused by a blaze at the federal forestry laboratory, 520 West Burnside, Monday night.

Firemen worked for an hour and one-half to quell the fire which began in lumber near a power saw in a cutting shed.

Damage was done to an electrical panel, the shed and the lumber. Hundreds of spectators crowded to the scene causing a traffic bottleneck nearby on Trans-Canada Highway.

VICTORIA, B.C., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10th, 1963—PAGE 11

Hovercraft Get New Study Here

A British manufacturer of hovercraft is sending an agent here next week to study possible use of sea-skimming ferries on Island-mainland routes.

J. Max George, representing Westland Aircraft, is already conducting investigations in Vancouver. He arrived there Sunday.

In Victoria, he plans talks with CPR, TCA and B.C. ferry system officials.

Mr. George will see M. F. Aldous, general manager of the Toll Authority Ferry System, even though Mr. Aldous predicted last May that government hovercraft services would not eventuate for 10 years.

Mr. George also will confer with Nanaimo realtor Frank Ney.

Mr. Ney heads a syndicate which believes a 20-minute hovercraft service between downtown Nanaimo and downtown Vancouver may be in service next year.

CHECKS POTENTIAL

Mr. George is to investigate sea conditions and the volume of passenger traffic. He will also make recommendations on possible terminal sites in Vancouver, Victoria and Nanaimo.

He expects to be in Canada for another three months to study possible routes and applications over sea, lakes, land, snow and ice.

The first hovercraft service in the world was between Hoylake, in northwestern England, and Rhyl, 15 miles across the mouth of the River Dee in North Wales.

The service was established early in 1962, just five years after British inventor Christopher Cockerell acted on an idea and built a food-can model.

60-MPH THRILL

The Dee service was an experiment, and lost money at $6 a fare, but a British businessman estimates a Vancouver-Nanaimo trip, at about 60 mph, would cost $5.

The hovercraft skims on an eight-inch cushion of air, and test-trips have shown it to be unpredictable on choppy water, but such faults, including the original earsplitting noise, are being eliminated.

A 70-seater was demonstrated on the St. Lawrence River in May, carrying 1,250 passengers more than 500 miles during tests.

A successor, to carry 600 passengers or alternatively, cars, is now being planned.

40 'Mum' Types At Curling Rink Floral Exhibit

The Victoria Horticultural Soceity will hold its annual fall show in the Curling Rink on Friday from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. Ena McCabe, president of the society, said the display will include 40 classes of chrysanthemums, 16 varieties of dahlias, and an assortment of fruits and vegetables. She said there will also be a children's section with trophies awarded to the best entries.

On Saturday at 3 p.m. Mrs. T. Wiggan will give a flower arranging demonstration.

SLICK STREETS this morning caused a rash of minor accidents in the city of which this one at Bay and Douglas about 9:30 was the most spectacular. Car driven by James Rae, 2576 Wesley, was in collision with one driven by Thomas Nash, 2721 Burdick. Nash's vehicle ended up against power pole. Four-year-old Irene Rae lost one tooth in the accident and cut her lip. (Times photo by Bill Halkett)

ELECTION NOTEBOOK BY FRANK RUTTER

Tories Have Seven Hopes

The Conservative party holds its Victoria nominating convention tonight confident that it can come up with three candidates for the election.

There are seven possibles in the running, according to an official:

W. C. Gelling; Ted Cressy, a 1960 candidate; Dave Smeaton; lawyer John Wood; John Loder; Eric Charman, the recent federal candidate, and "nobody's giving up until the last minute on Herbert Anscomb."

The meeting is at 8 in Sir James Douglas School.

Local Tory president Gordon Elworthy vehemently denied reports from a Davie Fulton aide in Vancouver that the party leader was opposed to Mr. Anscomb. "I know he has been trying just as hard as we have to persuade Mr. Anscomb to run," Mr. Elworthy said.

* * *

Frankest reason for being an opposition election candidate came Monday night from Victoria Liberal nominee Bruce Humber:

"It's because I'm really tired of the present government."

* * *

Most enthusiastic and briefest campaign speech to date came from lawyer Bob Hutchison, seconding Liberal nomination of Bessie Forbes:

"Everyone who knows Bessie loves her, and everybody in town knows her."

* * *

One of the luckiest men who ever lived in Victoria is running as a Liberal candidate in South Okanagan against Premier Bennett.

He's Arthur "Lucky" Dawe, who in 1930 won the last of the big sweepstake prizes—$409,500.

Lucky, now 62, lives in Kelowna.

After his big win he startled everybody by giving up his Vancouver service station, going to UBC and becoming a lawyer. He lived in Victoria and practised law here for many years before heading up to the Okanagan.

Also opposing the premier in South Okanagan is a bug-hunter—Dr. James Marshall, who resigned as head of the federal entomological laboratory at Summerland to run for the Conservatives.

* * *

Liberal defector Sidney Smith will tell "Why I Became a Social Crediter" at a public meeting in Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall at 8 p.m. Wednesday. He'll speak in support of Saanich Socred candidate John Tisdalle.

The Socreds have cancelled their candidates in Burnaby and plan a new nominating convention after the fuss kicked up by loser Dr. H. H. Beyerstein. He protested that chairman James Mason conducted an improper ballot which elected chairman James Mason as one of the two candidates. The new vote, Thursday, will be under the eagle eye of B.C. Socred president Archie Browne.

Saanich NDP candidate John Windsor will launch his campaign Friday at 8 p.m. with a meeting in St. Andrew's Church Hall, Sidney.

He's also accepted a proposal from Brentwood Chamber of Commerce for an all-candidates' meeting, date not yet set.

* * *

Although it's less than three weeks until voting day the great money hunt for campaign funds is still on.

The Socreds are advertising in the newspapers for members at $1 a time. The Vancouver local of the IWA is also seeking $1 a member for the NDP.

Victoria Liberal campaign chairman Harold Olafson made this subtle approach at Monday's nominating convention: "I'm not going to give you a hard sell on money. Everybody knows what it is."

* * *

Frankest candidate is Geoff Mitchell, NDP, Esquimalt, who admits he plans to run a $1,500 campaign. He got $5 towards it from 13-year-old Ricky Smith, 2636 Millstream, proceeds of sale of five salmon Ricky caught.

GOLFER SCORES HOLE IN ONE CAR WINDOW

A Calgarian made one of the best . . . pardon, one of the longest drives he ever made, on Victoria Golf Course Monday.

He was sorry.

The ball went straight into the windshield of a fire department car that was on the course fighting a grass fire.

The tourist saw the red Oak Bay car with its red light flashing. He didn't stop because he was sure he wouldn't come near the car.

Assistant Fire Chief Ernest Wells saw the golfer too and he stopped the car. It was a sitting target.

On his second swing the golfer drove straight off the tee and into the car. The assistant chief was unhurt.

The tourist didn't know whether to be glad or sorry. The distance was almost 200 yards. He never hit that far before.

Heat Wave Soaked After Achieving 56-Year High

Rain this morning kept the temperature from returning to Monday's near-record 83.4 degrees, the highest point of the year.

The temperature today is in the 65-70 range, with some cloud. Scattered showers and possible thunder are expected this evening, but the sun should show through again by Wednesday.

The weather office sees no immediate end to the unusually warm weather. Sept. 28, 1918, recorded a maximum of 82 degrees—a hopeful sign.

Monday's maximum was the highest Sept. 9 temperature since 1907, when the mercury climbed to 84.7.

Even on the Island's dampish west coast, at Tofino, the record fell with a sizzling 85 degrees, according to the Tofino Radio Station Department of Transport.

Second Labor Day Due For Labor Officials

Thursday is moving day for staff at the Labor Council office.

At 10:15 a.m., tables and typewriters will be trucked from the old Labor Hall in the civic precinct area of Pandora Avenue to the imposing new Union Centre on Quadra at Market Street.

The first Labor Council meeting will take place there at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, September 18.

The building, with office space for the 72 affiliated local unions, and a 6,000 square-foot auditorium and meeting rooms, was started in 1961 with proceeds from the sale of $50,000 worth of shares.

IRISH CONFETTI cascaded to Government Street sidewalk as building on Cormorant corner bent before blasts from the wreckers' ball. Barricades stopped traffic and pedestrians were warned away as 25-ton crane with 90-foot boom swung into action. City is 'lowering the boom' on pioneer structures within new civic precinct. City Hall, due for expansion as heart of the project, can be seen in background.

'Trouble' Dead Ahead On Ferries

The B.C. government has been warned that its present treatment of provincial ferry employees "can only lead to trouble."

New pressure for the right of union representation for ferry crews came today from two sources.

The captains, officers and engineers, represented by the Canadian Merchant Service Guild wrote to Premier Bennett and other party leaders warning present government policy "can only lead to trouble."

The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Transport and General Workers also wrote the premier demanding a meeting to discuss an immediate wage boost.

CBRT MAKES DEMAND

The CBRT, which claims to have 350 members among the 900 permanent ferry employees, also demands improvements in working conditions.

A third group which claims 400 ferry crew members, the B.C. Government Employees' Association, said it will not become involved in a new dispute while the provincial election campaign is under way.

The merchant service guild made its pitch on behalf of all ferry workers, not just the officers that it represents.

"The guild has tried unsuccessfully to point out to the management of the B.C. Ferry Authority that all is not well among its employees," says a letter signed by assistant secretary E. W. Meadows.

MORALE IS LOW

"The morale of the employees is at an all-time low and will continue this way until the management realizes that these people, particularly the masters and deck officers, are highly skilled employees who have trained themselves for positions of authority.

"To be treated otherwise can only lead to trouble.

"We feel sure that if the provincial government is sincerely honest in its approach to the welfare of its employees on all vessels owned and operated by the various departments, they will welcome a proper system of representation for its employees."

Current problems the guild wishes to discuss include proper overtime pay and a new shift system to replace the one "arbitrarily set up by management."

The CBRT wants a 10 per cent wage boost, said secretary Dick Henham.

"Wages and working conditions are not in line with the the rest of the industry here," he added.

District Schools Again Bulging With Enrolments

Enrolment in Greater Victoria schools went up 1,100 this term, and all schools are filled to capacity.

Five elementary schools — Doncaster, Shelbourne, Gordon Head, Glanford and Craigflower—have had particularly large enrolments, education superintendent John Gough said today.

In addition to students registered in elementary or secondary schools, there are about 1,440 enrolled at 12 kindergarten centres maintained by the school board.

Increase at both ends of the system, Grade 1 and Grade 12, was about 100 students more than last year.

At one high school, Mount Douglas High, crowding has been relieved by diverting some Grade 10 students to Lansdowne Junior High School, said Mr. Gough.

Navy to Abide By Zoning Laws In House Project

A Navy spokesman today shot down a suggestion that the Navy would build 18 prefabricated houses for personnel near Patricia Bay aircraft hangars.

A resident of the area Monday protested the construction project, saying that only on-the-spot constructed houses, not prefabs, are allowed in the area.

"The houses are to be Class 1 CMHC houses constructed on-site on concrete foundations," said a Navy statement today.

"Pre-cut materials made in B.C. may be used to speed construction. The buildings are to be sited on a winding road to present a pleasing architectural arrangement.

"They exceed standards required by any applicable zoning laws in the area."

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — About two weeks from now, everybody'll be yapping about how ridiculous the new TV shows are, so Gene Barry would like to say in advance that he's "sick and tired of this down-the-nose attitude toward television."

"Broadway treats us as though we are second class citizens—they only respect movies and 'the theatuh'," says the ex-Bat Masterson who stars and co-produces a new ABC series. "Burke's Law."

"They're snobbish. I came in here in a Hollywood-inspired stage show. They were waiting for us—to fail. They murdered us, people who never made it in Hollywood, who are afraid of Hollywood, who wish to God they could get in pictures, and never got asked.

"David Merrick blasts us. David Merrick would love to be a Hollywood producer."

TV is the world's entertainment today, Barry said. As for the movies developing more new stars than TV, "Who are the new movie stars? Grant, Sinatra, Brando. Jimmy Stewart's playing the same role as when he started."

Apprehensive about ever coming back to Broadway to fight critics "who treat you with acid pens rather than with pens of love." Barry'll go along with TV, remembering that President Kennedy recently told a friend, "If you see Gene Barry, say hello for me."

"The President manages to watch TV," Barry said, "and he runs a pretty big store."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Sol Weinstein watched Willie Mays easily catch every ball hit in his direction, and said, "I must see that movie they made about him—'Lord of the Flies.'"

EARL'S PEARLS: "I'm on such a strict diet," relates Jean Carroll, "that my husband lost 20 pounds just listening to me talk about it."

A recent survey reveals that a quarter of this country is covered by forests. The other three-quarters is covered by mortgages. That's earl, brother.

CLINIC: Q. — "Can you give me some idea of the cat and dog population in the U.S. today?"

Miss R. T. L., Huntsville, Ala.

A.—Latest figures indicate there are 24,347,000 dogs owned by 18,006,000 families, and 21,946,000 cats owned by 11,337,000 families. Interestingly, some 26 per cent of families that own pets own both dogs and cats.

CLINIC: Q.—"In a column you referred to national dog week. How long has that been going on, and who sponsors it?"

B. F. V., Cape Girardeau, Mo.

A.—The U.S. has been celebrating national dog week since 1928. It is sponsored by the Pet Food Institute of the U.S.

CLINIC: Q. — "I have a beautiful 18-month-old shepherd dog. No dog has better care or food, but I can't stop him from eating his feces. How can I break this horrible habit? I've tried everything."

Mrs. T. A. S., Tacoma, Wash.

A.—Cover the feces with creolin, obtainable from your drugstore. This habit is not uncommon among dogs, but I've never known one that wasn't cured with creolin. Also, make certain that your dog's diet includes ample vitamins and minerals. Get a good pediatric supplement from your drugstore and add a child's dose to his daily diet.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Sharon Merritt, 12, Newell, N.C., for her question:

How Does a Tree Make Rings?

As a tree grows, it adds layers of new wood around its trunk. These layers are tree rings, and a new ring is added every season. Every year a tree gets a little wider around the waist. The newest wood is used by the tree to tote water up from the ground. The oldest wood in the heart of the trunk is no longer used.

Your eyes are sharp enough to see the tree rings on a newly-cut tree stump. But you need a hand lens or a magnifying glass to see that the rings are bundles of boxy cells stacked neatly together in an upright position. This woody tissue is called xylem. The outer rim of the tree is wrapped in a sleeve of rough bark.

Between the bark and the xylem, there is a layer of cells which is much too fine for your eyes to see. It is called the cambium, and you need a microscope to see it. The cambium layer is usually only one cell in thickness, and, like the bark, it covers the entire trunk in a closely-fitting sleeve. The twigs are also made from xylem, cambium and bark cells.

The cambium cells are the growing cells. When conditions are right, they are always ready to divide and multiply. The new cells produced on the inside of the cambium are woody xylem. The new cells produced on the outer edge of the cambium are bark cells.

Nourishment

The rate at which the cambium produces new cells depends upon the growing conditions. In warm weather, with plenty of moisture and sunshine, the new cells are large and their walls are thin. When the weather is cold and dry, the cambium produces small, hard-walled cells. Each year, with the changing seasons, the tree adds a ring of soft, paler xylem and another of hard, darker xylem. The different xylem cells form a tree ring —and a tree with a hundred tree rings has lived through a hundred years.

The first tree rings were made when the young tree was a shortie. As it grew taller, the new sleeve of xylem grew taller. The first rings could no longer tote the sap to the top of the tree, and the wood at the centre of the trunk died. Sometimes the central heartwood rots away, and an old tree becomes hollow. But every year, a new ring of xylem is added around the trunk, and these living cells carry nourishment up and down the tree.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Nadine Misiaszek, age 11, of New York Mills, N.Y., for her question:

Where do we get liquid mercury?

Most of our supplies of silvery mercury are taken from a rosy-red ore called cinnabar. Another name for cinnabar is mercuric sulphide, which means that it contains both mercury and sulphur. The trick is to remove the sulfur from the ore, leaving the mercury behind.

Currents of very hot air are sent through the rocky cinnabar. This drives out the sulphur from the ore, and it escapes as a gas. The mercury, mixed with a few impurities, is left behind. When purified, it is the silvery liquid we use to fill our thermometers and barometers.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Styles In Winter Wear For 'Teens or Tots

By PENNY SAVER

Even if we are having a belated summer now is the time to look over those old winter woollens or to replenish a worn out supply. The shop I was in today carries clothes ranging in size from 2 to 14X.

Any teen-ager would look smart in knitted or basket weave wools in the popular sheath, box pleated or shift styles. For the sporty look, try a sheath dress with shirt collar and three-quarter length sleeves. Or, for a dressier style, a short sleeved, round necked dress with box pleats would suit any casual occasion. Priced from $10.98 to $25, these come in black, brown, moss green, grey, raspberry or cranberry.

Either big sister or little sister will look and feel chic in plaid or plain skirts matched with orlon or wool sweaters. Skirts are pleated, reversible, or sheath style and priced from $2.98 to $9.98. Cardigans range from $4.98 to $10.98 and pullovers from $2.98 to $6.98.

Back-to-school for girls of all ages calls for clothes which are smart, yet durable. Jumpers are back in style. Coming in corduroy, wool, or velvet price is $2.98 to $14.98.

Smart with either skirt or jumper are blouses in plain contrasting colors or matching prints. Cost is $1.98 to $4.98.

Nubbly wool two-piece suits are warm and becoming for evening wear or late afternoon. Green, red or blue suits are priced at $12.98.

Wrap yourself up in fluffy orlon pile or smooth quilted nylon for football games and other outdoor events. Also smart for street wear, are these carcoats ranging in price from $7.95 to $17. Coats styled with or without hoods have button or zipper fronts and come in red, blue, brown, or neutral shades.

If you are in need of more winter wear and would like to know where I shopped, call Penny at 382-3131.

BE SMART—

Tired of the same old suit (from last year or, if you're anything like us, from several years back)? Take heart! Spruce it up with a gambler's shirt and fancy vest, the madder the better, and prance down the street dreaming of riverboats.

Mannequins who will present fall and winter ensembles at the Saanich Girl Guides garden party at "Woodwyn," home of Mrs. W. C. Woodward, 7765 West Saanich Road, Saanichton, next Saturday include, centre from left, Trudie Jones, Doris Gilbert and Lydia Mawson. District commissioners are Mrs. S. A. Averill, left, and Mrs. P. M. Destrube, right. Fashions will be by Malleks Ltd., and accessories by Frith's Millinery. Tea will be served. There will be a door prize, and stalls of home baking, green thumb articles and novelties. Proceeds will assist with building a caretaker's cottage on the Girl Guide campsite at Elk Lake. Tickets may be obtained from Malleks, any Saanich Guide or their parents.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Layered Look Acceptable In Fall Clothes—Not Fat!

The layered look is fashionable this season, but the woman who has layers of fat must choose carefully.

Lowman

The popular layered look, a bulky sweater, vest or suit jacket over an inner sweater is smart for the slim woman but can be disastrous if you are overweight or have a very large bust. You can get the same effect with one-piece outfits made to appear layered but without added bulk. You can fill in necklines with scarves, phony turtlenecks or attachable pussy-cat bows. Remember, too, that smooth knitwear makes one look slimmer than fuzzy mohair.

Bulky tweed skirts call for a controlled hipline. A good girdle is important if you wish to look youthful instead of heavy. If you have been lazy this summer it will help if you take an inch or so off the hips with exercise. Try rolling a strong towel tightly, lengthwise, and shimmying it firmly across your hips as you do a brisk twist.

The new textured stockings will keep you both warm and fashionable but will call attention to your legs. The following exercise is splendid for firming the calves:

Stand erect. Keep your feet flat on the floor throughout this exercise. Push your knees back as far as you can. Now bend them forward as far as you can without lifting your heels from the floor. Continue doing this slowly.

Here is a calf slimming exercise: Sit in a chair or on a bench. Lift your legs up in front of you with stiff knees (as far up as you can). As you lift your legs point your toes back toward you. Lower legs to the floor and continue.

Don't forget when selecting stockings that the darker shades are slimming, and so are the stockings with vertical ribs.

If you would like to have my corrective exercises for the most usual defects in leg contour, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the leaflet "Why Not Take Steps Toward Lovely Legs?" to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Association Women Electors Ready for an Active Season

The Association of Women Electors, organized last October to foster an intelligent interest in municipal affairs, has now made plans for the coming season.

General meetings will be held in the Public Library Music Room, commencing at 8 p.m., with the first one on Sept. 26. Speaker will be Insp. Brooke Douglass and his subject, "Traffic Planning."

A committee of AWE members is making a study of amalgamation of municipalities as it would apply to Greater Victoria. They are examining, besides the local scene, various developments in municipal government throughout Canada and particularly methods used in other communities for cooperation on inter-municipal issues. This study will culminate in a panel discussion at the meeting on Oct. 24.

Nov. 28 meeting is reserved for consideration of municipal election issues.

Coffee parties in each of the municipalities are scheduled for the next two weeks. At these gatherings observers will report on municipal council and school board meetings and will lead discussion on municipal issues.

Membership in the association is now well over 100 and is open to all women in Greater Victoria. Any woman interested may phone: City, Mrs. A. H. Bindon at EV 3-2431; Oak Bay, Mrs. C. Y. Brown at EV 3-0198; Esquimalt, Mrs. E. D. Francis at EV 5-0692, and Saanich, Mrs. A. B. Hall at GR 7-3961.

Gathering Information

In preparation for municipal election in December, AWE observers at municipal council meetings are drawing up a standard form to be used in gathering information on candidates. The leaflets when completed will give general background, activities in municipal government and community affairs, viewpoint on key issues, where pertinent a voting record for candidates who have already served in municipal office, and some indication of the average amount of time a councillor must spend on municipal business.

DEAR ABBY . . .

The Bare Facts, Ma'am!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY—My husband has been wanting to join a nudist colony for a long time, but I have been against it. I accompanied him on one trip to the nudist camp and I don't care to go again. I wasn't brought up to run around naked in front of strangers. I am allowed three visits to the camp before it becomes mandatory that I disrobe, too. My husband says I have an evil mind, and that man was much happier when he went around naked and lived with nature in the trees. Should I try to forget my shame and go with him? He can't join unless I do. He is 25 and I am 23. We have a child one year old.

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: There is nothing "evil" about your mind, so don't let him change it. And you can tell your nature-loving hubby that in time we all might be living "with nature" in the trees again—so he should keep his shirt on.

DEAR ABBY: You sure made a big thing out of a little kid swiping one grape. I'm in the grocery business and I wish I had a dime for every person who helped himself to something in my store. Yesterday a woman came in for some bananas. While I was weighing her bananas she was eating my grapes. I caught her in the act, but did I get excited? Certainly not, because I just finished weighing my thumb.

NICK

DEAR ABBY: I hate to go to funerals. Last week a neighbor passed away and my husband wanted me to go to the funeral with him. I refused because (1) I hardly knew the man, (2) I hate to be around grieving folks, (3) I never know what to say. My husband was very angry with me because he didn't think he ought to go without me. The deceased was a childhood friend of my husband's. My husband went alone, but I still haven't heard the end of it. Was I wrong?

HATES FUNERALS

DEAR HATES: You should have gone. No one LIKES to be "around grieving folks," but the presence of friends who care enough to come is usually a comfort to mourners. You need "say" nothing more at a funeral than, "I'm sorry."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A DARNED FOOL": The person who is a "darned fool" and KNOWS he's a "darned fool" is no "darned fool." Tell him to shape up or ship out.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Women's Canadian Club

First meeting of the fall and winter season for the Victoria Women's Canadian Club will be held this Thursday at 2:30 p.m., in the Crystal Ballroom at the Empress Hotel. On Monday, Sept. 23, there will be a joint luncheon meeting with the men's club when James Minifie, OBE, LLD., Washington representative of the BBC, will be the speaker, his subject, "The Washington Scene."

"Satellite and Space Travel" is the subject of a talk to be given by Dr. J. J. Green, MBE, chief superintendent, Canadian Armament and Research and Development Establishment, and president of the Canadian Aeronautics and Space Institute at a meeting on Monday afternoon, Oct. 7, at 2:30 p.m. in the Empress Hotel.

Among other speakers is Wilfred A. Johns, BA, associate professor in Victoria University Faculty of Education, who will speak and show slides on some phase of his trip abroad this summer; also Maxwell Cohen, QC, LLD., FRSA, professor at law, McGill University, who will speak on "Quebec, The Unquiet Revolution."

Membership tickets will be available before Thursday's meeting.

Eric Morse will speak Thursday afternoon in the Empress Hotel.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

North's two heart response was a Jacoby Transfer Bid (JTB). It tells his partner, who has opened one no-trump, that North has at least five spades and will tell South more about his hand later. Meanwhile South must bid two spades and wait to hear further from North.

♣ K 10 8 3

Both vulnerable

South	West	North	East
1 N.T.	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♥ 4

A two diamond response by North would have shown hearts in the same manner. A two club response or two spade response would also have been artificial, but not a transfer bid.

North's pass supplied the further information that he had a poor hand with no interest in game. East knew this, but was afraid to enter the bidding with his seven points. West would have liked to back in but he had already passed the two spade bid. He might have acted earlier, but until North passed West had no idea just where North was heading.

At two spades, South won the opening heart lead and led the queen of trumps. Eventually he had to lose two trumps, one heart and two clubs, which left him with enough tricks for his contract.

If North and South had not been using the JTB, North would have responded two spades and probably played the hand at that contract. He might have made it, but the chances are that East would have opened the jack of clubs. The defence would start with two club tricks and a ruff and while North might still make two spades if he knew where all the cards were, he would most likely have been set.

"FOREST" CEDAR SIDING

A new cedar specialty for Beauty Long Life Economy

* * *

What is "FOREST" Siding?

A new and attractive type of siding that comes from specially selected cedar logs sawn to bring out all the distinctive character of knots, burls and grain.

How Does "FOREST" compare with other siding?

It has more thickness, greater wood volume to add structural strength to any building. Its snug fitting makes good insulation and its low cost makes it ideal for modest budget home builders or remodellers.

How to finish "FOREST"

"Forest" has a distinctive horizontal shadow line that will enhance the beauty of your home.
If you wish to preserve the natural rustic effect of "Forest" apply a coat of oil filler first, then varnish or shellac. "Forest" siding also takes paint beautifully if you wish a colored finish.

YOU can easily apply "FOREST" cedar siding

Many home owners have applied this modern, beautiful "Forest" siding themselves without the slightest difficulty.

ALL RIGHT, GO TO MOO DRESSED ANY WAY YOU LIKE!
YOU KNOW MORE ABOUT YOUR AFFAIRS THAN WE DO!
I KNOW I'LL HAVE MY HANDS FULL IF THAT FOOL YAKKAHIK'S DONE LIKE I THINK HE HAS!
YOU'RE PRETTY SURE HE'S DISRUPTED THE MOOVIAN GOVER'MENT?
IF HE HASN'T, IT'S NOT BECAUSE HE HASN'T TRIED!
WELL, GOOD-BY, ALLEY, AND GOOD LUCK!
AND HURRY BACK, PAL!

ORBITAL RENDEZVOUS - Part 2

THE SECOND METHOD OF ACHIEVING A MOON LANDING IS BY EARTH ORBIT RENDEZVOUS OR EOR.
EOR UTILIZES THE FACT THAT IT TAKES MUCH LESS FUEL TO FIRE A SPACE VEHICLE TO THE MOON FROM AN ORBIT AROUND THE EARTH THAN IT DOES TO FIRE IT FROM EARTH.
IN THE FIRST CASE IT HAS ONLY TO BE ACCELERATED FROM 17,600 MPH (ORBITAL SPEED) TO 25,000 MPH (ESCAPE VELOCITY), AND IN THE SECOND CASE FROM 0 TO 25,000 MPH.
AND TO GET THIS VEHICLE INTO EARTH ORBIT FIRST, EOR WOULD USE TWO SMALLER BOOSTERS, INSTEAD OF ONE MONSTER, EACH CARRYING HALF THE VEHICLE, AND RENDEZVOUS IN ORBIT!

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

CHANNEL CHIT CHAT: The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) of the U.S. refused to reconsider its significant ban on what is known as "Option Time." Let me explain. Option time allowed the three networks to commandeer the most valuable prime-time hours of affiliated stations for their national shows. This is the present setup in Canada.

The ban means individual stations will have the right to turn down any network program at any hour that they want to. It went into effect today, but it will not be visible in scheduling on a major basis for some time to come. CBS and ABC had appealed the May 28 decision.

* * *

CBS-TV is reported planning a one-hour program on the American system of funerals. One of the guests is expected to be Jessica Mitford, whose new book, The American Way of Death, criticizes commercialization of the system. . . .

ABC-TV's new program lineup begins next week and one of the shows is "Channing" set on a college campus. The show, according to press releases, has a good deal of promise but it's up against tough competition. It's booked opposite Danny Kaye and The Eleventh Hour. Earlier this year, it was said Channing was almost cancelled except for the pressure of Tennessee Ernie Ford, who owns a piece of it and also has a daily show on ABC-TV. . . .

Ed Sullivan, starting Oct. 6, will offer several presentations this season of "What's Going On Here?"—a collection of comedy sketches in which Englishman Peter Cook, Jonathan Miller and John Bird satirize the news. NBC-TV is known to be trying to work out an American version of the satirical show that is shocking and delighting England, "That Was the Week That Was." . . .

Starting Oct. 20, NBC-TV will offer nine Sunday repeats this season of some of its outstanding actuality programs. The first of these afternoon reruns will be The Tunnel, the 90-minute, Emmy-winning account of the construction of a Berlin escape passage. Other highlights: on Oct. 27, Vincent Van Gogh: a self portrait; and Dec. 22, A Tour of the White House with Jacqueline Kennedy. . . .

Such is life. Brother actors Frank, Paul and Joseph Musick are all working at Revue in different TV series. Frank in "Destry," Paul in "The Virginian," Joseph in "Wagon Train."

The whole family was wiped out in one day's shooting last week. Frank was bumped off by Broderick Crawford in a saloon brawl, Paul killed in a bank holdup by Doug McClure, and Joseph's role ended by an Apache arrow. . . .

Garson Kanin has ended his holdout from commercial television. He has signed to develop one hour-long show and another half-hour show for the 1964-65 season. "Mr. Broadway" is an hour romantic comedy series revolving around a Broadway press agent. "Missie" is a half-hour comedy concerning adventures of a small town girl in New York.

Boy 'Tarzan' Falls in Creek

An 11-year-old boy landed on his head when he fell 20 feet into the almost dry bed of Bowker Creek Sunday afternoon.

Robert Thorsen, 1608 Pear, is reported today to be in good condition at Royal Jbilee Hospital.

He was swinging on a rope atached to a tree when he fell off.

Saanich fire department ambulance took him to hospital. Later firemen cut down the rope.

Sunday Work Barred

MONROVIA, Liberia (Reuters) — The government has banned Sunday opening of business houses, shops, markets, cafes and factories on the grounds such work "intolerably profanes the sanctity of the Lord's Day." A government announcement says church services had been disturbed and worshippers distracted by honking vehicles, traffic noise, banging hammers and other noises.

'B.C. Will Show Way In Investment Rate'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Trade and Industry Minister Robert Bonner predicted Monday night that by the end of this year capital investment in British Columbia will be 16 per cent higher than in 1962 and it's going up all the time.

Using a two-foot graph at a Point Grey Social Credit meeting to reply to political critics who claimed capital investment is falling, the minister said that the rate of capital investment growth in this province will be the highest in Canada in 1963.

"From 1957, the year of our greatest investment at $1,600,000,000, investment went down when Canada as a whole went into a recession," he said.

"Since Aug. 1, 1961, investment has continued to grow. I mention Aug. 1 especially because that was the date on which we took over the B.C. Electric.

"It has been said that investors have fled the province since the BCE takeover. In fact, since Aug. 1 investment has continued to climb and this year we will have the best year with the exception of 1957.

"B.C. is going to show the way to the whole of Canada in rate of investment this year."

The minister predicted that within the next seven years, B.C. is going to need capital investment at the rate of $2,000,000,000 a year to keep pace with anticipated growth. By 1970 the population of the province would increase by an estimated 25 per cent, more than 4,000 new school classrooms would be needed and there would be more than 130,000 new jobs.

Less Fall-Out From Schools, Says Minister

B.C. youngsters will stay in school longer because of reorganization of the grade system, Education Minister Leslie Peterson said Monday.

Speaking at a Social Credit election campaign meeting at Doncaster School, Mr. Peterson said 72 per cent of B.C. students will stay through Grade 12 by 1970.

He said 90 per cent will hold on through Grade 11.

"By 1970 we will have provided an uninterrupted stream to university with branches to other fields along the way," he added.

Oak Bay Socred candidate Dr. Charles Ennals told the meeting he favored higher grants for education and reorganization of the social welfare department for more effective services.

Saanich Socred John Tisdalle attacked the New Democratic Party for "smearing innocent people" during the legislature's investigation into the highways department last April.

Three Beheaded

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An unemployed carpenter beheaded his wife and their two children Monday following a violent family quarrel over the children's upbringing, police said.

Agree to Quotas

OTTAWA (UPI)—Nationalist China, Portugal and Israel have agreed to impose voluntary quotas on their cotton textile exports to Canada, Finance Minister Gordon announced Monday.

Falls to Death

CASTLEGAR (CP)—A Portuguese immigrant, Josi Defriaf, who came to Nelson to work for the Canadian Pacific Railway, fell 50 feet to his death in the Columbia River here Monday.

'B.C. Taxation System Loaded With Cobwebs'

PENTICTON (CP) — Provincial Liberal Leader Perrault told a Liberal rally here Monday night the electorate must clean out the political cobwebs of Social Credit come the Sept. 30 provincial election.

Speaking in support of A. D. C. Washington, chosen party standard bearer for Similkameen riding, the party chief said the province can no longer tolerate a political "dictator" who thrived on one-man rule as Premier Bennett had done since 1960.

He told the audience of some 50 party supporters to be prepared for sparkling election promises from Social Crediters to take attention away from real issues. The premier, he predicted, would announce a major northern industrial development program within the next few days.

Mr. Perrault said a fundamental goal of the Liberal program was removal of school financing costs from the land tax structure. It was unfair that a person making $18,000 a year in the Lower Mainland area should pay the same or less taxes than a farmer with a lot more land but an income of only $5,000 a year.

"In general, the B.C. taxation system is loaded with cobwebs," he said.

A Liberal government would establish a full-time department of industrial development, with a full-time minister. The party would seek to bring secondary industry to the Okanagan and to develop the basic strength of the entire provincial economy.

ADDRESSING joint luncheon meeting of the men's and women's Canadian Clubs at the Empress Hotel Monday, Sept. 23, is James Minifie, Washington representative of the CBC. His subject will be "The Washington Scene." Mr. Minifie was educated at the University of Saskatchewan, Oxford University and the Sorbonne. He was also a Rhodes Scholar.

Patterns of Spray Outshining Flowers

A fountain that spurts water 75 feet in the air is drawing some attention away from the blooms in Butchart Gardens.

In fact, it attracts so much attention that visitors occasionally stand watching it so long that they have to be gently moved along to allow others to watch.

Why do they gaze?

They're probably watching for it to repeat itself.

The fountain is in the centre of an old water-filled quarry near the sunken garden, and it was built over the winter as an improvement to the gardens. It started spurting in June.

TIMER CONTROL

Its 200 nozzles are controlled by a series of eccentrically co-ordinated timers.

These make it capable of so many variations of its "acts" that by the time it repeats one, you've forgotten what it looked like first time round.

And to add to the intrigue, changing colored lights play on the waters after dark, subtly accenting the rise and fall of the waters.

In fact, the man who built it says the lights are as much a part of the fountain's beauty as the spraying water.

Adrian Butler, of Hafer Bros., put the fountain together—the first one he had ever made—entirely from first principles without considering the designs of other fountains.

But he says most of the suggestions came from Ian Ross, owner of the gardens.

BUILT MODEL FIRST

"I built a model and showed it to Mr. Ross, and he said to go ahead," says Mr. Butler.

The lights were set up by Vic Dawson, an employee of Butchart Gardens, and "it wouldn't be anything without them," says Mr. Butler.

The fountain system pumps 500 gallons a minute, keeps two tons of water in the air at a time, and has the force of a hundred lawn sprinklers.

"It's been a big success," says Mr. Ross, "more successful than we thought."

How much did it cost?

"I don't know," says Mr. Ross. "I haven't got the bills yet.

"It doesn't matter, anyway—anything to please the visitors."

Gaglardi Lashes NDP

TERRACE (CP)—Provincial Highways Minister Gaglardi said Monday night the big issue in the Sept. 30 provincial election is the question of free enterprise or socialism.

Opening his campaign in this northern Interior town the minister said if the NDP gets elected to power "then we all had better head for the tall timber."

Mr. Gaglardi called national NDP leader T. C. Douglas a "reject from over yonder," a man who came to B.C. because he "got booted out of his own province."

City Hall Fine Collection Seen This Month

Delinquent motorists may be paying their parking fines at City Hall instead of the police station by the end of this month.

One of the recommendations of the George Archer report called for total separation of fine collecting chores from the police department. It was strongly supported by Mayor R. B. Wilson and police commission.

A recommendation that the traffic fine cashier be shifted to City Hall has been going through channels for some time and is nearing the formal adoption stage.

British Crops Hit

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain is facing a disastrous harvest with losses to the cereal crop already exceeding £40,000,000, a National Farmers' Union spokesman said Monday. Bad weather has already ruined one-fifth of the crop in most areas but in some parts of the country the toll was even greater, he said.

ISLAND ROUNDUP

Careless Work Brings Warning

LADYSMITH — Village work crews face one-week suspensions or dismissals for mistakes which inconvenience the public.

The warning was issued by the village commission following an investigation into the failure of the water system last month.

The investigation showed laxity by employees, the commission said.

Only one valve, instead of two, was open at the company dam and a broken pipe at the Agricultural Field left water gushing onto the ground for two days.

* * *

CAMPBELL RIVER — Itinerary for the visit of Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes has been approved by Village Council.

He will arrive Sept. 17, meet the school board and later attend a private dinner.

The following day, Wednesday, he will visit the high school, tour the village and visit the hospital. A public reception will be held in the Legion Hall from 4 to 6 p.m.

* * *

On Thursday, Sept. 19, he will tour Elk Falls mill, then fly into Buttle Lake.

On Friday afternoon, a tea will be held in honor of Mrs. Pearkes, while the Lieutenant-Governor is salmon fishing.

* * *

NANAIMO—Doctors say it will be three months before they know if Richard Helem, 16, of Port Alberni, will regain the sight of an eye injured in a hunting accident.

Dr. Edward Helem, the youth's father, said: "An operation on Richard's eye appears to be successful in that there has been no infection."

The youth's eye was seriously injured when his double-barrelled gun accidentally went off and splattered his face with pellets.

* * *

NANAIMO (UPI) — Gasoline prices were one cent lower today at some outlets in this area as a price war continued.

Four Imperial Oil Co. stations dropped the price for regular gasoline to 37.9 cents, after the price had been raised to 38.9 cents last week. The regular price in the area is 45.9 cents.

The Imperial move was made to bring prices closer in line with that of a private operator. Other major outlets in the area maintained normal prices.

* * *

PORT ALBERNI—Jack Peters of Port Alberni, was elected president of the West Coast Allied Tribes at a recent meeting held at Tofino.

Representatives of Indian tribes from the whole of the west coast of Vancouver Island attended the meeting.

Others elected were Philip Louie, Ahousat, vice-president; Mrs. Louise McCarthy, Ucluelet, secretary-treasurer, and Jimmy Gallie, Port Alberni, business agent.

* * *

DUNCAN—Thirteen delegates representing Local 1-80 IWA will be chosen Saturday at a general membership meeting to be held at IWA headquarters, Brae Road, Duncan, commencing at 10:30 a.m. The representatives will attend the 23rd annual constitutional convention of the International Woodworkers' of America, in Vancouver, this fall.

* * *

MAPLE BAY—The summer season of yacht races closed Sunday with the round robin class races of the Maple Bay Yacht Club. Presentation of prizes will be held Oct. 12 at the club.

In the lightning class, Chuck Coleman sailing the Piers' "Hyak" took first place, and Al Bigelow in Coleman's "Hi-Time" placed second.

The second race was won by John King's "Zot" skippered by Chuck Coleman, Norm Gardner sailing in the "Hyak" came in second.

Round robin racing is a boat switch affair, where skippers draw for boats not necessarily their own.

* * *

DUNCAN — Good luck was on the side of Mrs. Martha Courchene when her car went out of control on the Trans-Canada Highway Monday.

Police said her car narrowly missed collision with a freight truck, travelled across an open space between the highway and the E. and N. railroad tracks, bounced at an angle over the tracks and an embankment, and came to rest near a row of fence posts in the bush.

Mrs. Courchene and the car came through the accident without a scratch.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

...Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

Royal Theatre

Mental torture is a theme which keeps many TV addicts happily glued to their little screens. Sometimes, alas, it spills over into the larger and more magnanimous world of the movie theatre, and that is what seems to have happened in this turgid MGM color-drama.

Here is a sadistic story of a husband tortured by a wife who suffered severe facial scars in a road accident in which he was driving, and is determined not to let him forget it.

* * *

Angela Lansbury (the daughter of British Socialist George Lansbury) plays the part so well that she seems to be the most detestable woman alive.

Agony is piled on agony as the wife insults, humiliates and degrades her husband—in this case a rather mild and apologetic Peter Finch.

While the average movie-goer suffers a desperate desire to kick Angela's shapely behind, Mr. Finch submits meekly to every conceivable kind of female brutality.

From such a situation, of course, there has to be an escape, and Mr. Finch finds it in Jane Fonda, the attractive, unpretty but mysterious wife of a London publisher.

But not even illicit joy is allowed to lighten this generally morbid film. Jane has been plagued since childhood by a frail constitution and is stifled by an over-bearing mother and an over-protective husband.

Peter Finch manages to snatch some happy moments with Jane in famous capitals of Europe, but she is careful to let him know their romance is doomed by approaching death, thereby keeping him in much the same state of misery he suffered with his legal wife.

This depressing adventure into the lives of people who are far too much preoccupied with themselves is relieved by magnificent color photography depicting the glories of ancient Greece.

New commanding officer of HMCS Naden and Commodore Barracks, Commodore A. G. Boulton paid a courtesy call at City Hall Monday to present his credentials to Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell and sign the civic guest book.

A truck carrying lumber rolled and spilled its load at Quadra and Union shortly after noon Sunday.

The vehicle, driven by T. A. Lamb, Lippincott Road, rolled over due to the heavy load and bad springs, Saanich police said.

No one was injured.

* * *

A driver who left the scene of an accident but gave himself up eight hours later was fined a total of $85 in city magistrate's court Monday.

Kenneth Blunt, 1925 Townley, pleaded guilty to failing to remain at the scene and careless driving.

Magistrate J. A. Byers said he was being lenient in imposing the fine because Blunt gave himself up to police.

Evidence showed Blunt hit a parked car on Cook near Fairfield about 3 a.m. Aug. 25.

Blunt told police he fell asleep as he was driving.

A dual-control driver-training car with a woman at the wheel was in collision with another car driven by a woman at Quadra and Courtenay shortly after 11 Monday morning.

The car driven by Mrs. Evelyn Jacob, 2963 Foul Bay Road, overturned and Mrs. Jacob was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital where she is detained for observation.

The learner driver was identified only as Mrs. Gallaher. Her instructor was K. L. Hamilton of Watson's Driving School.

Mr. Hamilton said Mrs. Jacob was overtaking his vehicle at the time the accident occurred.

Adult Helpers Needed By City Boys' Club

Victoria Boys' Club was only one-quarter staffed with volunteer adult help on the opening day of its fall program, executive director Ron Havard said Monday.

"To have a full program, we need about 80 instructors and supervisors. We have 20 right now," Mr. Havard said, in an appeal for volunteers.

"We need adult volunteers to supervise our craft classes, game rooms and library. This would be for a two-hour period once a week. No specific skills are needed, just sincere interest."

The club offers 25 arts and crafts such as cooking, photography, woodwork and leather work to boys between the ages of 8 and 18.

The clubhouse, located in the old firehall at 1240 Yates Street is open from 3-5:30 p.m. and 6:30-9:30 p.m. week days and 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturdays.

Last year there were 550 members. Annual dues are $1 per year for youngsters over 12 and 50 cents for those 12 and under.

HE LIVES LIKE AN ENGLISH LORD

Oakie Rejects $1 Million TV Contract

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD AP)—A few weeks ago a couple of television producers offered Jack Oakie a million-dollar contract to play a former vaudevillian in a new series.

"I got the whole bit," says the famed movie comic. "They came out to the house and lay prone at my feet and promised me the whole red carpet treatment—the limousine and chauffeur, a shooting schedule that started at 11 a.m.—the works.

"I turned them down because I knew the minute I signed they would have pulled the red carpet right out from under me.

"Rex Harrison told me that's what they did to him on Cleopatra, and that picture cost $40,000,000. As soon as he signed, the limousine never showed—until he squawked."

WEALTHY ACTOR

All of which gives rise to the reports that Oakie is one of the richest actors in the business.

Oakie will only say: "I bought American Telephone and Telegraph when it was called American Smoke Signals—and General Electric when it was called General Candle."

He lives like an English lord in a huge estate in suburban Northridge. He bought the house for cash 25 years ago. It's so big that even the rooms have rooms.

Recently a sub-divider offered him $1,000,000 for 10 choice acres, allowing him to keep the house and an acre for himself. Oakie gave the same reason he has been giving for years.

"If I sold the ground, I'd have to put trunks on when I go in my pool."

NEW FANS FROM TV

He works when he feels like it, and if the part pleases him.

Ever since those old Paramount movies were released to television, Oakie has been getting more fan mail than he used to get in his prime. A whole new generation of fans has discovered the master of the double take—that quizzical comic reaction that drama schools to this day call an Oakie.

Oakie is seeing some of his movies on television for the first time himself. One year he did 14 college pictures.

"I got so dizzy running up and down the Paramount gridiron that I couldn't focus on the movies when they came out. I'm the only guy who ever won 35 letters—and never went to college," he quips.

Craigflower PTA will hold its first meeting of the new school year tonight at 8 in the school auditorium.

Guest speaker will be John H. Dalgleish, director of adult education of Greater Victoria school board.

OTTAWA LIFTS AD BAN BUT B.C. HOLDS FAST

The Board of Broadcast Governors today announced a new policy allowing "hard sell" beer and wine commercials for radio and television, but the B.C. government will continue to ban them.

Provincial Liquor Control Board chairman Col. Donald McGugan said the B.C. Liquor Act prohibits any advertising of beer, wine or spirits on radio or TV.

"In my opinion there will be no change in the act," he declared.

This means that if a national network program is sponsored by a brewery its commercials will have to be blacked out in B.C.

At present the BBG allows only 12 seconds of hard sell by breweries. The remaining 48 seconds of the usual one-minute commercial must be filled out with a general scene, such as a group of young people partying or a scenic view of mountains.

BBG vice-chairman Carlyle Allison said the new policy will "take the hypocritical approach out of brewery advertising."

"It is our view that a straight no-nonsense ad is preferable," he said.

FINANCING

B.C. Allowed U.S. Help On Columbia

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The Canadian government is prepared to permit the U.S. government to give British Columbia indirect financial aid to carry out Columbia River development.

Hinted at in the past by both B.C. and Ottawa sources, such a move was officially endorsed last week when Canadian and U.S. officials met in Washington to discuss problems involved in financing development of the B.C. section of the Columbia.

Under the proposal now accepted by both sides, a group of U.S. Pacific Northwest power firms, both public and private, would form a syndicate to borrow from the U.S. government, at low interest rates, enough money to pay in advance for the B.C. developments on the river.

ADVANCE PAYMENT

The money actually would be advance payment for the 50 per cent of downstream power benefits B.C. gains in the U.S. as a result of controlling the flow of the Columbia to permit greater U.S. power output.

B.C. Premier Bennett has insisted on selling this power in the U.S., rather than returning it for the use of B.C. consumers. He is asking for five mills per kilowatt hour, or its equivalent, the price he says is essential to pay for the $400 million-plus cost of the three dams to be built on the B.C. section of the river.

By obtaining a huge low-interest loan from the U.S. government for the advance payment to B.C., the power syndicate would save on its financing costs enough to make the deal feasible—and at the same time solve Mr. Bennett's financing problems.

SIX-MILL MINIMUM

Recent independent calculations indicate that Mr. Bennett would have to receive more than five mills for his downstream power, in order to break even. A six-mill figure, in this independent study, is considered to be the minimum.

Because of this there is speculation that the Canadian delegation in Washington last week did, in fact, tell the Americans that more than Mr. Bennett's five mills was required.

It is considered that even a six-mill price could be handled by the Americans, with the help of the U.S. government financial aid.

This is based on the estimate, given a U.S. senate committee in 1961 by U.S. Interior Secretary Udall, that the share of downstream power benefits the U.S. gets automatically would cost the U.S. less than one mill—the price of installing extra generating capacity at U.S. plants already existing on the Columbia.

Thus even by paying six mills for the Canadian share of the benefits, the U.S. would get all the downstream power benefits at a cost averaging about 3.5 mills per kilowatt hour—a highly reasonable rate.

Caouette Wins Fight For Power

OTTAWA (CP)—Real Caouette and his Ralliement des Creditistes have won out over Social Credit leader Robert Thompson and his followers in the battle for Commons supremacy following the federal splitup of the Social Credit party.

The announcement Monday night by Quebec City restaurant owner Lucien Plourde, MP for Quebec West, of his support for Mr. Caouette gives the Creditiste group 13 members in the Commons.

Mr. Thompson and the remnants of the Social Credit group number 11.

Barring any further shifts in the power struggle between the two groups, this means the Creditistes will have Commons priority over Mr. Thompson's group, ranking as the fourth-largest party in the House after the 17-member New Democratic party.

GETS MORE MONEY

It also will mean that Mr. Caouette—but not Mr. Thompson—will qualify for the extra $4,000 Commons allowance that was introduced this summer for the leader of any recognized group of 12 or more members in the House. The annual allowance was introduced at the same time that the indemnity and expense allowance of individual MPs was raised to a total $18,000.

Keeping the Doctor Away

British Columbians take apples for granted—but Hawaiian girls know how to appreciate them.

Not since Adam and William Tell has such a fuss been made in an orchard.

The Hawaiian girls referred to are dancers and singers who performed in the Polynesian Revue Monday night in the Empress Hotel crystal ballroom.

When the entertainers arrived in B.C., first thing that caught their eye was an apple tree loaded with ripe fruit ready and waiting to be picked.

"The one thing I want to do is to pick an apple and eat it fresh from the tree," said dancer Beverley Noa.

This morning her wish came true. Beverley, Nina Kealiiwahamana, Alma Bell and Mete Ng were transported to the foot of a Gravenstein apple tree. No sooner had Alma climbed the ladder than a loud crunch echoed through the garden. Even in a slim fitting holo muu there was no time wasted.

"And, oh, those roses," Nina added, "we haven't any roses like that at home."

So with a pocketful of apples and a handful of roses the Hawaiian dancers left town this morning with a memorable taste o! Victoria.

FIVE-MINUTE PLEA FOR AID GOES UNHEARD

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jim Haldene, 42, shouted for help for five minutes Monday as he watched his fishboat Good Partner pull away without any of his seven companions being aware that he had fallen overboard.

A passing tugboat, the C. P. York, saw him splashing in the water and threw him a ring buoy, but the fisherman appeared too tired to make a grab for it.

By the time the tug could turn around, Haldene had vanished.

Einar Jensen, skipper of the Good Partner, said today:

"I noticed Haldene sitting at the rear of the boat at 4:15 p.m. It was not until 6 that we noticed he was missing when he didn't appear at supper. We searched the boat—it's 76 feet long—and couldn't find a trace of him."

Proud Parents of Quints Embrace

Quints Pass First Danger

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP)—With gifts beginning to arrive, the proud parents of quintuplet boys pondered today how to support five new sons in their one-bedroom home on $10-a-day income.

The infants, born almost two months prematurely Saturday, were reported doing well, yawning and stretching feebly.

They passed their first danger period and are healthy, said Dr. Robinson Suarez Herrera, chief obstetrician at University Hospital here. Juan Jose, the third born, had lost weight, less than an ounce. But a medical bulletin said all five are in "acceptable condition."

Juan Jose weighed three pounds, 1.4 ounces at birth. So did the fourth born, Fernando. Robinson the first born, weighed three pounds, 15.5 ounces; Otto, second born, three pounds, 4.9 ounces; and Mario, fifth born, four pounds, three ounces. A mixture of modified skimmed milk and malt is being fed to the quintuplets with eyedroppers.

The mother, Mrs. Ines Marie Cuervo de Prieto, 34 and her husband have 15 other children by previous marriages. Three live in their one-bedroom home.

"With only one bedroom it's going to be a little crowded," she said, but added, "my husband and I are very proud."

The father earns 46.70 bolivars ($11) a day as a Creole Petroleum Corporation foreman. He helps support 10 children by two previous marriages.

But help was arriving. The government assured the Prietos of its protection. Five basketfuls of diapers and clothing were donated by an organization.

Mrs. Cuervo de Prieto, already made a grandmother by a 17-year-old daughter, said she was in labor only two hours with the quintuplets.

"It didn't hurt at all," she said: "I didn't have any anesthetic. I trusted in God and in the doctors."

The boys, born in a 50-minute period, were given names of doctors who assisted at the birth. Later Saturday, she and Prieto were married by a priest and the infants were baptized.

There was nothing uncommon about the Prietos' domestic relationship. Government statistics show that more Venezuelan children are born to unmarried parents than to married ones.

Only two sets of quintuplets born in the Western Hemisphere—the Dionnes of Canada and the Diligentis of Argentina — are known to have survived infancy.

JFK Forces Integration In Alabama

Guardsmen Taken Over

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) —School integration came for 20 Negro children today in three Alabama cities after President Kennedy stripped Governor George C. Wallace of his control over 17,000 Alabama national guardsmen.

All was quiet at most of the five schools desegregated at Birmingham, Mobile and Tuskegee.

But disorders broke out at West End High School in Birmingham where students started a boycott of classrooms which normally are attended by about 1,500.

Crowds gathered and male segregationists scuffled with police. Several arrests weer made, then reinforcements of police and sheriff's deputies arrived to get the situation under control.

3 ARRESTS IN MOBILE

Thirteen Negroes entered school at Tuskegee and two went into a high school at Mobile in addition to five at Birmingham. Three arrests were made at Mobile but the situation then generally was quiet and orderly.

At Huntsville, four pupils not affected by Wallace's barring of Negroes from schools Monday in the three other cities went back to class for the second day.

Wallace, who had ordered the National Guard out early today only to see Kennedy take federal control of the soldiers, continued to decline comment on the day's events. And there still was no answer as to why he let Negroes into schools at Huntsville Monday while barring them in the other cities.

A federal order restraining Wallace from interfering with school integration was served on his executive secretary in Montgomery, the state capital, after Wallace said he was too busy to receive it. U.S. Marshal Don Forrest of Miami, Fla., served the papers on Earl C. Morgan.

REFUSED TO OBEY

It was Forrest who served Wallace with court papers last June ordering the governor not to interfere with integration at the University of Alabama. Wallace refused to obey and federal force was used to get two pupils admitted to the university.

Before dawn today state troopers and national guardsmen, acting on Wallace's orders, chased three marshals off the Capitol grounds.

Then Wallace, who had stayed in his office for hours, left the building surrounded by troopers and guardsmen.

An army spokesman announced that 200 federalized national guardsmen are moving from Tuscaloosa to a Birmingham armory "as a routine precautionary measure."

AVAILABLE IF NEEDED

He said they would be available if local authorities asked assistance in maintaining law and order.

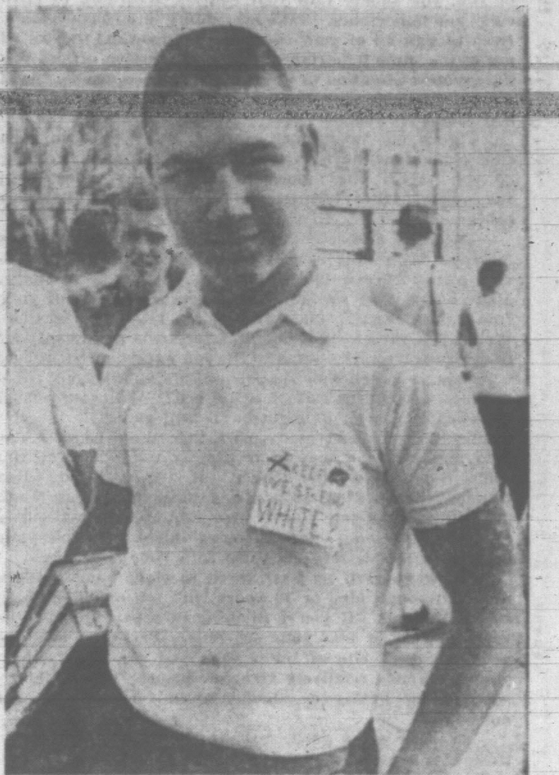
Two teen-age Negroes walked into Murphy High School at Mobile before 7:30 a.m. to become the first of their race to attend school with white pupils in the state at the senior high school level. The Huntsville desegregation involved grammar and junior high schools.

Before directing that the guard be put under federal control Kennedy issued an order calling upon Wallace to "cease and desist" from his manoeuvres to thwart federal court directives for school integration. A similar move preceded desegregation of the University of Alabama in June over Wallace's opposition.

Guardsmen had moved on to the grounds of a high school at Mobile under orders of Wallace before issuance of the presidential directive which removed Wallace as their commander.

They were withdrawn quickly after the Kennedy order was announced.

State Adjutant-General Alfred Harrison had called about 300 guardsmen to duty, replacing state troopers who turned away 20 Negro pupils at white schools in three cities Monday.



ADMITTING of two Negroes to Birmingham, Ala. high school, resulted in young white schoolboy showing up for classes today with "Keep West End White" sign pinned to his shirt. Many youngsters cut classes completely. (AP Wirephoto)

JEERING SESSION

Whites Boycott Mixed School

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Hundreds of white pupils boycotted classes at West End High School after two Negroes were admitted today and started a jeering session on the grounds and in an adjacent parking lot.

Adult spectators, including members of a hard-core segregationist group, quickly built up the milling throng. Police called in reinforcements and, prodding with night sticks, moved the crowd back two blocks.

The demonstration grew wilder as the morning progressed. Numerous arrests were made.

The tempo rose and fell. Then the crowd began to drift away.

It all started soon after two Negro girls entered the schools.

Most white students stayed away from class.

URGED TO COME OUT

The white boys and girls urged others who had entered the school to come back out. Some did.

The crowd operated like a cheering section at a football game.

"Two, four, six, eight, who do we appreciate?" leaders would call out.

"Wallace, Wallace, Wallace," the crowd roared back, referring to Governor George C. Wallace who had tried to balk integration of this school and two others in the city.

There were more yells—"Nigers, go home."

1,500 ENROLLED

Police gave a preliminary estimate that about 100 white students entered the building during the morning. The enrolment is 1,500 but many of the 100 heeded appeals by those outside to leave school.

One white boy hurled an apple at a car of a white man who brought his son to school and watched him go into the building.

MILKMAN WILL CALL EVERY TWO MONTHS

LONDON (AP) — A big British dairy said today it is working on a stay-fresh milk that could lead to the end of the familiar milkman.

The firm, Express Dairy Company, said experiments are in an advanced stage on milk that will remain fresh for two months without refrigeration.

The milk will be heated to ultra-high temperatures and sealed in aseptic cartons.

Dr. T. R. Ashton, technical director of the dairy, said if the new method passes government tests, it could go on sale in about six months.

Prices Make Slow Rise

Prices continued to rise slowly on extremely light trading this afternoon on the Toronto stock markets.

Montreal markets also edged toward higher ground, and motors and steels were strong on Wall Street.

AT TORONTO Abitibi, Dominion Glass and Trans-Canada Pipe Line all rose ¾, Canada Steamship Lines, CPR and Dominion Foundries and Steel ½ each and Aluminium ⅜.

Bank issues also strengthened, Imperial Bank of Commerce rising ¾, Royal ½, Toronto-Dominion ⅜, Nova Scotia ¼ and Montreal ⅛.

Falconbridge fell ⅜, International Nickel ¼ and Denison and Noranda ⅛ among senior base metals.

AT NEW YORK Ford, up more than a point, and General Motors, fractionally higher, touched new highs. Chrysler recovered a couple of points, remaining below its high.

Jones and Laughlin advanced more than a point while U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic Steel added fractions.

Rails, laggard recently, perked up and moved ahead. Chicago and North Western rose more than a point with Illinois Central.

AT MONTREAL Trans-Canada Pipe Lines and Home Oil A both gained ¾, Steel Co. rose ⅜, Aluminium, Rolland A and MacMillan-Bloedel were all up ¼ and Industrial Acceptance and Consolidated Paper both added ⅛.

Brown fell ½, BA Oil and Bell Telephone dropped ⅛ each and Dominion Tar and Chemical and Power Corp. were lower by ⅛.

In mining issues, Tazin added 1½ cents.

AT LONDON the lower trend persisted in most sections of stock markets today. Gilt-edges were quiet.

Among Canadian shares traded, Algoma was prominent with a fall of 2¼ to 100¼ after Monday's sizeable rise. Aluminium Ltd. declined a point to 47 while others to lose ground included International Nickel, Abitibi and Imperial Oil.

Mortgagors Face Control

TORONTO (CP)—Attorney-General Fred Cass said Monday Ontario will crack down on mortgage brokers who charge exorbitant interest rates.

He announced the formation of a three-man board which will scrutinize brokers and determine whether their licences should be renewed or cancelled.

The board will function in an advisory capacity to the superintendent of insurance.

It was formed as a result of disclosures at the legislature committee inquiring into the cost of consumer credit. Interest rates as high as 87 per cent shocked the committee.

Ottawa Criticizes Protection Charge

OTTAWA (CP) — Government officials bristled angrily today over a statement by U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman criticizing the degree of trade protectionism for farm products in Canada and other countries.

One senior spokesman termed it ridiculous, inaccurate and unfair.

The report by Mr. Freeman Monday said 41 per cent of farm production in Canada is protected against imports by quotas, embargoes and other non-tariff restrictions.

It listed similar percentages for other countries, including 93 per cent in West Germany, 94 per cent in France and 37 per cent in Britain, but said the United States has non-tariff protective measures for only 26 per cent of its farm output.

Canadian officials said the 41 per cent figure given for Canada was unfair since it included wheat, oats and barley that make up some 26 per cent of farm production.

Imports of these grains are restricted because of the nature of Canada's marketing system through the Canadian wheat board, a Crown agency. But officials said there is no doubt Canadian production of these grains could withstand foreign competition without restrictions.

Canada had protective measures for butter and other dairy products as well, but these hurt countries like New Zealand and Australia—not the U.S.

"Canada is probably one of the very few countries in the world which has a very limited range of agricultural protection in the non-tariff field," one official said.

There was some speculation here that the Freeman statement was part of a U.S. war of nerves directed not against Canada but against Europe where the U.S. hopes to negotiate better trade terms in farm products in next year's bargaining under GATT, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

GATT allows countries to protect farm products where national price supports or subsidies are provided, but one official said Canada is opposed to this principle and wants to see such restrictions lifted.

Phone Cables Closing Gap In Pacific

LONDON (Reuters) — Only 1,000 miles now separates the two ends of the 8,700-mile Commonwealth telephone cable across the Pacific Ocean, it was announced Monday.

The British post office cable-laying ship Monarch reported in a message it has completed its part of the operation by taking the cable south from Vancouver to a point 300 miles north of Hawaii.

Monarch has completed two 1,200-mile lays of cable out of Vancouver, the last of which successfully negotiated the Murray Feature where the Pacific is almost 3¼ miles deep.

Another ship, Mercury, will close the gap in operations later this month.

When the project comes into service later this year, Australia and Britain will be linked via Canada, Hawaii, Fiji and New Zealand.

Air Traffic System Aids High Fliers

OTTAWA (CP) — An air traffic control system for high-flying airliners over Canada's Far North will go into operation Sept. 26, the transport department announced on Monday. Its main job will be to keep the planes well apart from each other.

The system, which took two years to develop, will serve the increasing number of international airlines using routes across the Canadian North. It will not affect low-level aircraft such as bush planes.

Airline pilots flying between 23,000 and 45,000 feet will file regular position reports to transport department radio bases at Frobisher, N.W.T.; Goose Bay in Labrador, Montreal; Churchill, Man., and Edmonton, to radar stations of the DEW and Mid-Canada Lines, and to Arctic weather posts at Cambridge Bay, Resolute and Coral Harbor.

Northern air traffic controllers will be linked by telephone to follow aircraft movements. They will provide information and advice to the pilots with the emphasis on maintaining separation of aircraft.

Wheat Board Halts Exports

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Wheat Board moved Monday to halt booking of wheat for export under certain classifications.

In an announcement to the trade the board said that effective immediately and until further notice no further bookings of wheat for export will be accepted by the board on a Class Two or Class Two provisional basis.

This applies to bookings with the board, which controls all Canadian wheat exports, of wheat for export to any country not a member of the International Wheat Agreement.

Bookings under Class Two are for sales to a specified country not in the IWA membership. Class Two provisional bookings are for sales for which the destination has not been given at the time of booking.

A wheat board spokesman declined to give the reasoning behind the move.

What do you know about H_2O? Two parts hydrogen, one part oxygen. That's water. Depending on where you live, water is apt to be aerated, filtrated, chlorinated, fluorinated. But not the Rocky Mountain glacial-born water at the ADL distillery in Calgary, Alberta. That water is cold, clear, pure. No other distiller has water like this for making fine rye whisky. It's another exclusive you enjoy in all ADL brands, another reason why ADL rye whiskys are smoother, taste better. But take your own word for it. Next time, ask for an ADL rye.

Yippee! B.C. Lions Alone in First Place!

'NOW, JUST A MINUTE, FELLAS . . .'

These five gentlemen want the early American firearm to be called the "Pennsylvania" long rifle. The trouble is, a similar five from Kentucky want it to be called the "Kentucky," so there's going to be shooting in them thar hills. Teams will hold two shoot-offs (targets, not each other), with the winner given the right to name the gun. From left, Robert Rambo, Parke Bailor, George Seisler, Richard Hujsa and Robert Hujsa make up the Pennsylvania team, hosts for the first match.

Leos Get Kick Out of Kempf

REGINA (CP)—British Columbia Lions, unable to crack a solid Saskatchewan Roughriders defence, resorted to the toe of rookie Peter Kempf for an 8-2 Western Football Conference victory here Monday night.

Before an overflow crowd of 15,364, B.C. grabbed an exclusive hold on first place, two points ahead of idle Calgary Stampeders. Saskatchewan was left in a tie for third with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, also idle.

The first quarter was scoreless, B.C. inched ahead 3-1 in the second and led 6-2 after three-quarters.

Halfback Kempf accounted for all B.C. scoring with two field goals and two singles on missed field goal attempts. His performance shot him to the top of the WFC individual scoring race with 50 points.

End Martin Fabi got a single for Saskatchewan and tackle Reg Whitehouse got the other point on a missed field goal.

Saskatchewan quarterback Ron Lancaster threw a number of inaccurate, wobbly passes, allowing the B.C. pass defence to intercept three times and stifle Roughriders' second-half hopes.

CARRIES THE OFFENCE

Quarterback Joe Kapp carried the offense for Lions, running 13 times for 64 yards and completing 11 of 20 passes for 113 yards.

Halfback Willie Fleming carried eight times for 40 yards. Lancaster completed eight of 23 passes for 80 yards. Halfback Ray Purdin was his favorite target, taking four passes for 46 yards. Purdin also rushed six times for 35 yards.

Fullback George Reed made 47 yards in 11 carries for Saskatchewan.

Midway through the second quarter Roughriders marched from the B.C. 43 to the B.C. 22. Whitehouse tried his field goal from there and Saskatchewan went ahead 1-0.

Lions set up Kempf's first field goal late in the second quarter with a 19-yard pass and run play to fullback Nub Beamer that went to the Saskatchewan 36. Kapp hit Claridge at the 22, carried himself to the 18, and Kempf scored.

In the first play of the third quarter, B.C. end Paul Seale intercepted a Lancaster pass and ran it 30 yards to the Saskatchewan 20.

SETS UP SINGLE

Reed set up Fabi's single with plunges that took Roughriders to the B.C. 38. Fabi kicked from there.

B.C. got a good attack running and went to the Saskatchewan 15 with long passes to halfback Jerry Janes, who usually plays end, and halfback Tom Larscheid and runs by Kapp, Beamer and Larscheid. The drive came to nothing when Kempf's field goal attempt from the 17 was blocked.

Lions got another chance when Lancaster's first pass after the field goal attempt was intercepted by halfback By Bailey at the Saskatchewan 47 and run back to the 32. Ground plays and a Statue of Liberty play with Fleming took the ball to the 15 but the angle was bad and Kempf's field goal attempt counted for only one point.

Midway through the last quarter Kempf missed a field goal from the 31 but it counted for one point.

B.C. had 15 first downs on 136 yards rushing and 113 passing. Saskatchewan had 12 first downs on 104 yards rushing and 80 passing. B.C. averaged 43.1 yards on nine punts and Saskatchewan averaged 46.1 on nine.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rupert, a 13-1 shot, ridden by Al Ventrella, captured the featured seventh race to pay $29.50, $15.90 and $7.40 before 5,577 fans at Exhibition Park race track Monday.

The four-year-old chestnut gelding ran the six furlongs in 1:12, with Marco second and Alice Kaput third.

The quinella in the first race was a small $7.70 when two favorites Postano and Wise Balladier ran one-two in the race.

Eltadrive, after winning the eighth race, was disqualified when she interfered with Suel as she crossed the wire. She was placed second behind the winner Suel, who finished in 1:13 1/5.

A total of $176,582 was put through the mutuels.

STONE JOHNSON

Pro Grid Prospect Succumbs

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Stone Johnson, promising rookie for Kansas City Chiefs and a runner for the United States in the 1960 Olympics, died Sunday night—eight days after being injured in an exhibition football game.

A post-mortem examination was conducted, but the results were not immediately released.

The 23-year-old halfback had been in serious condition since suffering a fractured neck vertebra in the game against the Houston Oilers. He was hurt on a first-quarter kickoff when he dived to make a block in the game Aug. 31.

The Chiefs considered him one of the fastest men in football, pegged to his times of 9.3 seconds in the 100-yard dash and 20.5 seconds in the 220-yard dash.

Drag Racer Reaches 175

Frank Hall of Seattle gave 1,100 drag racing fans the thrill of their lives Sunday when he shot through the quarter-mile strip at Cobble Hill at 175 m.p.h.

Hall, driving Dick Gruber's A class car, had an elapsed time for the acceleration trial of 8.77 seconds, the fastest the car has ever run.

Roger Doherty, also of Seattle, had the second best time of the afternoon at 9.60 seconds.

Rain washed out the program before a "top eliminator" could be decided.

Among local drivers, John Walker took top honors, outrunning all competition for "stock eliminator" title.

DURABLE AT 42

The Machine Died But Not Old Spahnie

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — When Branch Rickey reigned as major domo of Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League he introduced a number of mechanical gadgets designed to send handsomely polished ball players rolling off the assembly line.

Among the many marvels were machines that pitched and gimmicks for retrieving balls.

Several types of pitching machines were used. Some were made like bazooka guns and they could throw curves, sliders and screwballs.

But there was one particular device that Dodger players stared at in fascination. It flung the ball with a mechanical arm, a big sweeping overhand motion that delivered strikes only.

The Dodgers called it The Warren Spahn.

That was 15 years ago. The original machine fell apart and was discarded long ago. But Warren Spahn, the flesh-and-blood prototype of the Rickey gadget, still is firing to the plate with that big sweeping overhand motion. And he still is firing strikes.

"Why shouldn't I?" he asks with a quizzical grin. "I've spent most of my life throwing a baseball 60 feet, six inches."

At a period of life when most other athletes had either grown old or lame, the 42-year-old wizard not only is a member of the elite 20-game winning set but remains the ace of Milwaukee Braves' pitching staff.

In many ways this durable southpaw is enjoying the most successful season of his major league career dating back to 1942.

After more than 600,000 pitches over nearly 5,000 innings, the slender six-footer is in position to win more games, lose less, spin more shutouts and hurl more complete games than in any previous season.

Plans To Be Around When He's 50

Spahn recorded his 347th lifetime victory last Sunday, defeating Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 for his 20th triumph, which matched Christy Mathewson's National League record of 13 20-game winning seasons. Only six pitchers in all baseball history have won more games and only one—Cy Young—had more 20-game seasons.

"It's nice to know that in the future, people will be able to look into the record books and judge what kind of a pitcher I was," said Spahn. "But right now, I am not concerned so much with what I have done, but what I can do today. You're as good as you are right now."

"I cannot afford to live on my reputation. I realize if I don't produce, there are two or three others ready to take my place."

Spahn will be 43 next April or just about the time he begins his 25th year in organized baseball but he has given no thought to retirement.

"I'm looking ahead to pitching several more years. My age isn't bothering me. I'm already planning for next year and I don't think there's anything that should prevent me from winning 20 again in 1964."

Only Young and Walter Johnson have passed the 400 victory mark. Did Spahn think he could join these immortals?

"I'm shooting for it," he acknowledged with a grin.

Travel-Weary Shamrocks Drop Opener to Oshawa

By GEORGE CAMPBELL
Special to the Times

WHITBY — Oshawa Green Gaels captured the important first game of the "Minto Cup" finals, emblematic of the Canadian junior "A" lacrosse championship, Monday at the Whitby Community Arena. Gaels, representing eastern Canada in their "rookie" year of junior lacrosse, defeated the defending champions, Victoria Shamrocks, 10-7, before a standing room crowd. Second and third games in the best-of-seven finals are scheduled for Wednesday night and Friday.

Oshawa, regarded as underdogs in the series with the more experienced and bigger westerners, held their own. Victoria seemed to be a tired club after the first period of play, weary from their long journey from the west. Wally Cattel, past-president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, described the first 15 minutes of play as "one of the finest in Minto Cup history."

Oshawa led 2-1 at that stage and then the trip began to tell the story. Victoria, who left via train on Friday, arrived in Oshawa Monday afternoon only three hours before game time, and had to rush and eat before the game.

Manager Doug Fletcher commented before the series that his club was tired and he wished his team had flown instead of coming by train.

"We came over 3,000 miles and we're going to win. Last night's game was nothing. We'll bounce back on Wednesday," was the players' comment.

Victoria coach Tom Druce doesn't think Oshawa Green Gaels are as tough as the Brampton Armstrongs.

Last year, Victoria whipped Brampton four games to two to win the cup in a West Coast series.

"I was surprised we were that close," said Druce. "Brampton was stronger than this club—but our team isn't as strong as it was last year."

The westerners are bothered by the white boards in the Whitby arena which makes it difficult to see the white ball rebounding. In the west the boards are painted green and Druce said he may request use of yellow ball for the rest of the series.

Bill Munroe Best Man on Floor

Captain Tommy Conlin, in his last season, sparked the Gaels to the victory scoring three times, including the 10th marker which came when Victoria were pressing near the game's completion. Johnny Davis added two others while Dave Lough, Paul Macdonald, Stew Wieler, Jimmie Hinkson and Elmer Tran were the other marksmen.

Bill Munroe was the top shooter with four goals for Victoria. The husky 6 foot 195 pounder was by far the best performer on the floor and kept Victoria in the game. Nirmal Dillon, one of two East Indian brothers playing on the club, and Rod Kilduff scored the others. Dillon potted two and Kilduff a single.

Only seven minor penalties were assessed in the game with Oshawa drawing four. Both teams employed a running game and stuck strictly to hard lacrosse. Goaltenders Bob Fisher of Victoria and Merv Marshall played steady games. Fisher blocked 46 shots to Marshall's 37.

Cards Cut LA Margin To Three

(Associated Press)

Curt Simmons, admittedly working on his "second career," has reached another lofty plateau while moving the challenging St. Louis Cardinals to within three games of the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

The 34-year-old left hander posted the 30th shutout of his career Monday night, stopping Chicago Cubs 6-0 on five hits as the streaking Cardinals kept the pressure on Dodgers by rolling to their 12th victory in 13 games.

IMPORTANT SERIES

Cardinals haven't been this close to the leaders since July 4. Dodgers, who were not scheduled Monday night, have 19 games remaining to Cardinals' 17, including a three-game series between the two teams at St. Louis starting next Monday.

Simmons says this is "my second career—this time as a pitcher, not a thrower." The first ended after a fling in the minors, where the former Philadelphia Whiz Kid tried to regain the form that made him a 17-game winner for the pennant-winning Phillies of 1950.

NOW KEY MAN

Released during the 1960 season, Simmons got a second chance with Cardinals — and started career No. 2. He posted a 9-10 record in 1961, was 10-10 last year and this season has become a key man on an in-and-out staff with a 14-7 record and a 2.60 earned run average.

While Simmons took care of the pitching, Bill White took care of the punch for Cardinals, becoming the third National Leaguer this season to reach the 100-runs batted in level by driving in three runs with a double and two singles.

Tonight, Cardinals will again be home to Chicago Cubs, sending Bob Gibson, 16-8, to the mound, against Chicago's Glen Hobbie, 7-9. Dodgers will start Sandy Koufax, 22-5, at Pittsburgh against Don Cardwell, 13-13.

In the only other games scheduled Monday, third-place Milwaukee Braves swept a double-header from Cincinnati Reds 9-2 and 7-4, and New York Mets defeated Philadelphia 6-3.

BELL WOULDN'T SAVE BOXER IN NEW JERSEY

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Boxers may no longer be saved by the bell under a tougher code adopted by the New Jersey Athletic Commission Monday.

Commission Chairman Joseph F. Walker said referees will keep counting if a fighter is down when the bell rings. A knockout would be scored if the fighter failed to get up by the count of 10.

Under the old rules, a fighter knocked down in the final nine seconds of a round could be saved by the bell because the referee would automatically stop the count when the bell sounded.

Pale Hose Freshman Has a Ball

(Associated Press)

Working only once every four days makes it tougher for pitchers to win rookie or most valuable player awards.

Gary Peters, one of the three prime candidates for the American League's rookie award and the only pitcher, decided to do something about it.

He pitched and won his 18th game of the year, and 12th in the last 13 decisions, Monday night as Chicago White Sox dumped Baltimore Orioles 9-4.

He also wielded a hot bat, clubbing a double and a single, for his 18th and 19th hits of the year, and drove in runs with each.

HALL COMES ON

Meanwhile, outfielder Jimmie Hall continued his hitting drive in a bid for the rookie award.

He banged his 30th and 31st home runs for Minnesota Twins in a 7-4 win over Cleveland Indians, tying the league homer record for rookies set by Ted Williams in 1939.

New York Yankees blew a 6-0 lead as their pennant-clinching drive stalled in a 7-6 loss to Kansas City Athletics, the Athletics using walks and errors to score six runs in the seventh inning and the winning run in the eighth.

Detroit Tigers swept a double-header from Washington Senators, 1-0 and 10-7, and Boston Red Sox defeated Los Angeles Angels 5-2.

BEST E.R.A.

Hall's two homers ran his batting average to .266 and his runs batted in total to 72. Facing him is the major league rookie homer record of 38 set by Wally Berger and Frank Robinson, both in the National League.

Peters has three home runs, a triple and four doubles in his 19 hits, good for 12 runs batted in and a batting .250 average.

That is much higher than his earned run average, which, at 1.95, is the best in the majors for starting pitchers. He has pitched 12 complete games and leads the American League in strikeouts with 179.

RALPH GULDAHL JOINS GOLF'S HALL OF FAME

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Ralph Guldahl, a top performer of the 1930s, has been elected to the PGA hall of fame by members of the Professional Golfers' Association.

President Lou Strong of the PGA said Guldahl won by a wide margin over nine other nominees and becomes the 32nd member to join the select group.

The 52-year-old Texan dominated the game from 1936 through 1939.

PRO GRIDDER SPENDS WEEK . . . . . . IN A REVOLVING DOOR

Where Do You Send His Mail?

NEW YORK (AP) — Will the real owner of Nat Craddock stand up.

Nat would like to shake the hand that shook him free from a long week in a revolving door.

Craddock, a rookie pro football hopeful from Parsons College in Iowa, spent last week on the roster of five teams in three leagues and two countries.

With the travel time he's logged, it seems fitting that he wound up with the Jets.

Craddock landed with New York Jets in the American Football League—while he was sitting on the bench of the rival Boston club.

Here's the full log:

Craddock started the week with New York Giants of the National Football League. He scored two touchdowns in the exhibition season — the only Giant to do so. So he was cut.

Giants offered him to Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian League, presumably to learn the trade and then come back next year for another chance. He never reached Ottawa. Montreal Alouettes claimed they had Canadian rights to Craddock.

While the two Canadian clubs argued, Craddock took his first positive step.

"I wired Mike Holovak, Boston coach, and told him I wanted to play football," said Craddock.

Patriots had AFL draft rights to Craddock.

Craddock hardly stayed around long enough to get a pat on the back with Patriots.

Jets, supposed to get first crack at players cut by NFL teams, came into Boston for a game with Patriots, found Craddock on the bench, and immediately started ringing telephones all over the country trying to locate AFL commissioner Joe Foss.

Foss, located in San Diego, ruled Craddock was a Jet.

"Nobody told me I could go to the Jets," said Craddock.

"All I want is a chance to play some place. Wherever I play I'll find a home—New York, Boston or any place," Craddock said.

He may find it—in Boston.

Jets are loaded with running backs, Patriots need one.

The way everyone figures it Craddock is a natural for trade bait.

Arthur Mayse

There are times around our place, and yours, too, no doubt, when the air can stand a little clearing. With this in mind, I decided the other night to call a family conference, a move which was received rather apathetically by our junior section.

"How long is this going to take?" Ron asked. "There's a show I want to see. It comes on at 8.30."

"I have to wash my hair," Susan said. "Couldn't I be attending to that while the rest of you have this session?"

"Those are two major reasons for the conference," I said. "TV watching, and tieing up the bathroom."

"I don't tie it up!" Susan protested, and from her brother drew a look and a muttered, "Oh, boy!"

We were still arguing that one—the family conference off the pad ahead of the countdown—when Win came in with her sewing basket.

"We'll conduct this along democratic lines," she announced, "with no arguing and no one speaking out of turn." She settled herself in my chair, one of the matters I intended taking up, and gave us an impartial smile. "Ron, no show till your homework's finished. Sue, there isn't any hot water, so your hair will have to wait. Now, let's proceed."

* * *

Silence lengthened. Our teen-agers sat at either end of the sofa, wearing identical blank expressions. Our self-appointed chairman adjusted her lamp and began placidly to sew a fine seam.

"All right," I said finally, "Sue, you can lead off."

"What am I supposed to say?"

"Well, what don't you like about the way things are run here? That's the idea of the conference. Everyone gets rid of his grievances, although I don't really see why you kids should have any. When I was your age . . ."

Our chairman cleared her throat. She said gently, "I'd hoped to see that show too . . . Susan?"

"If this is a democratic proceeding, I suppose we each have a veto?"

I told Sue firmly, "No!"

"They do in the United Nations," Ron said, casually fingering a television dial. "I just remembered, I only had a page of homework and it's all done."

"Leave that set alone," I ordered. " Susan, put that magazine down!"

"I wasn't reading. I was just looking at fall fashions. It's nice to know what the other girls will be wearing . . . Can I come over and show you this A-line skirt, mother?"

"Is that a grievance?" I demanded. "Not having enough clothes? If you ask me, you're pretty well done by. Trouble with you and your friends, one of you gets something new, then . . ."

"You're speaking out of turn," the chairman reminded me. "No woman ever has enough clothes, so that's hardly a grievance. Just a fact of life . . . Ron, don't turn up the sound. Not yet."

* * *

I hadn't realized the set was on. But there was Yul Brynner of all people, in black shirt and five-gallon hat, with a thin cigar between his teeth.

"What's he doing in a cowboy suit?" I asked.

"He's one of seven gunmen," Ron explained. "There is this little Mexican town, and a bunch of bandits have taken over. So Yul Brynner collects these seven gunfighters and rides to help the farmers."

"You seem to know a good deal about it," I said, interrupting the brisk and detailed resume.

"Sure. I saw most of it before. We were right where the bandits ride in when you two came home with those people off the ferry, and we missed the rest." Ron adjusted dark and light with delicate precision. "So if everything is settled, I'll turn up the sound."

"Not so fast," I said. "You haven't had the floor."

"Oh, I don't have much to fuss about," said Ron, "except maybe you could explain why you're wearing my grey socks and what happens to my hair tonic."

"My socks," I corrected automatically, and was preparing to elaborate when Win closed her sewing basket.

"I think these conferences are a fine idea," she said, "and we'll have another some time. Now, let's hear what Yul Brynner is telling them."

So Ron twisted the dial, and with the air well-cleared, we disposed ourselves for a friendly family evening.

LINING UP this morning for higher education are students waiting for the first day of registration at the University of Victoria to begin. About 2,000 students will register between today and Friday, a slight increase over last year. About 800 of them will be college of education students. First year arts students register today and Wednesday, and education students and upperclassmen register at end of the week. Students go through an assembly-line process in Gordon Head gymnasium, arranging courses and timetables, taking data for health scheme, recruiting for student activities.

Hovercraft Get New Study Here

A British manufacturer of hovercraft is sending an agent here next week to study possible use of sea-skimming ferries on Island-Mainland routes.

J. Max George, representing Westland Aircraft, is already conducting investigations in Vancouver. He arrived there Sunday.

In Victoria, he plans talks with CPR, TCA and B.C. ferry system officials.

Mr. George will see M. F. Aldous, general manager of the Toll Authority Ferry System, even though Mr. Aldous predicted last May that government hovercraft services would not eventuate for 10 years.

Mr. George also will confer with Nanaimo realtor Frank Ney.

Mr. Ney heads a syndicate which believes a 20-minute hovercraft service between downtown Nanaimo and downtown Vancouver may be in service next year.

CHECKS POTENTIAL

Mr. George is to investigate sea conditions and the volume of passenger traffic. He will also make recommendations on possible terminal sites in Vancouver, Victoria and Nanaimo.

He expects to be in Canada for another three months to study possible routes and applications over sea, lakes, land, snow and ice.

The first hovercraft service in the world was between Hoylake, in northwestern England, and Rhyl, 15 miles across the mouth of the River Dee in North Wales.

The service was established early in 1962, just five years after British inventor Christopher Cockerell acted on an idea and built a food-can model.

60-MPH THRILL

The Dee service was an experiment, and lost money at $6 a fare, but a British businessman estimates a Vancouver-Nanaimo trip, at about 60 mph, would cost $5.

The hovercraft skims on an eight-inch cushion of air, and test-trips have shown it to be unpredictable on choppy water, but such faults, including the original earsplitting noise, are being eliminated.

A 70-seater was demonstrated on the St. Lawrence River in May, carrying 1,250 passengers more than 500 miles during tests.

A successor, to carry 600 passengers or alternatively, cars, is now being planned.

SLICK STREETS this morning caused a rash of minor accidents in the city of which this one at Bay and Douglas about 9:30 was the most spectacular. Car driven by James Rae, 2576 Wesley, was in collision with one driven by Thomas Nash, 2721 Burdick. Nash's vehicle ended up against power pole. Four-year-old Irene Rae lost one tooth in the accident and cut her lip. (Times photo by Bill Halkett)

'Trouble' Dead Ahead On Ferries

The B.C. government has been warned that its present treatment of provincial ferry employees "can only lead to trouble."

New pressure for the right of union representation for ferry crews came today from two sources.

The captains, officers and engineers, represented by the Canadian Merchant Service Guild wrote to Premier Bennett and other party leaders warning present government policy "can only lead to trouble."

The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Transport and General Workers also wrote the premier demanding a meeting to discuss an immediate wage boost.

CBRT MAKES DEMAND

The CBRT, which claims to have 350 members among the 900 permanent ferry employees, also demands improvements in working conditions.

A third group which claims 400 ferry crew members, the B.C. Government Employees' Association, said it will not become involved in a new dispute while the provincial election campaign is under way.

The merchant service guild made its pitch on behalf of all ferry workers, not just the officers that it represents.

"The guild has tried unsuccessfully to point out to the management of the B.C. Ferry Authority that all is not well among its employees," says a letter signed by assistant secretary E. W. Meadows.

MORALE IS LOW

"The morale of the employees is at an all-time low and will continue this way until the management realizes that these people, particularly the masters and deck officers, are highly skilled employees who have trained themselves for positions of authority.

"To be treated otherwise can only lead to trouble.

"We feel sure that if the provincial government is sincerely honest in its approach to the welfare of its employees on all vessels owned and operated by the various departments, they will welcome a proper system of representation for its employees."

Current problems the guild wishes to discuss include proper overtime pay and a new shift system to replace the one "arbitrarily set up by management."

The CBRT wants a 10 per cent wage boost, said secretary Dick Henham.

"Wages and working conditions are not in line with the the rest of the industry here," he added.

ELECTION NOTEBOOK

BY FRANK RUTTER

Tories Have Seven Hopes

The Conservative party holds its Victoria nominating convention tonight confident that it can come up with three candidates for the election.

There are seven possibles in the running, according to an official:

W. C. Gelling; Ted Cressy, a 1960 candidate; Dave Smeaton; lawyer John Wood; John Loder; Eric Charman, the recent federal candidate, and "nobody's giving up until the last minute on Herbert Anscomb."

The meeting is at 8 in Sir James Douglas School.

Local Tory president Gordon Elworthy vehemently denied reports from a Davie Fulton aide in Vancouver that the party leader was opposed to Mr. Anscomb. "I know he has been trying just as hard as we have to persuade Mr. Anscomb to run," Mr. Elworthy said.

* * *

Frankest reason for being an opposition election candidate came Monday night from Victoria Liberal nominee Bruce Humber:

"It's because I'm really tired of the present government."

* * *

Most enthusiastic and briefest campaign speech to date came from lawyer Bob Hutchison, seconding Liberal nomination of Bessie Forbes:

"Everyone who knows Bessie loves her, and everybody in town knows her."

* * *

One of the luckiest men who ever lived in Victoria is running as a Liberal candidate in South Okanagan against Premier Bennett.

He's Arthur "Lucky" Dawe, who in 1930 won the last of the big sweepstake prizes $409,500.

Lucky, now 62, lives in Kelowna.

After his big win he startled everybody by giving up his Vancouver service station, going to UBC and becoming a lawyer. He lived in Victoria and practised law here for many years before heading up to the Okanagan.

Also opposing the premier in South Okanagan is a bug-hunter—Dr. James Marshall, who resigned as head of the federal entomological laboratory at Summerland to run for the Conservatives.

* * *

Liberal defector Sidney Smith will tell "Why I Became a Social Crediter" at a public meeting in Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall at 8 p.m. Wednesday. He'll speak in support of Saanich Socred candidate John Tisdalle.

The Socreds have cancelled their candidates in Burnaby and plan a new nominating convention after the fuss kicked up by loser Dr. H. H. Beyerstein. He protested that chairman James Mason conducted an improper ballot which elected chairman James Mason as one of the two candidates. The new vote, Thursday, will be under the eagle eye of B.C. Socred president Archie Browne.

Saanich NDP candidate John Windsor will launch his campaign Friday at 8 p.m. with a meeting in St. Andrew's Church Hall, Sidney.

He's also accepted a proposal from Brentwood Chamber of Commerce for an all-candidates' meeting, date not yet set.

* * *

Although it's less than three weeks until voting day the great money hunt for campaign funds is still on.

The Socreds are advertising in the newspapers for members at $1 a time. The Vancouver local of the IWA is also seeking $1 a member for the NDP.

Victoria Liberal campaign chairman Harold Olafson made this subtle approach at Monday's nominating convention: "I'm not going to give you a hard sell on money. Everybody knows what it is."

* * *

Frankest candidate is Geoff Mitchell, NDP, Esquimalt, who admits he plans to run a $1,500 campaign. He got $5 towards it from 13-year-old Ricky Smith, 2636 Millstream, proceeds of sale of five salmon Ricky caught.

District Schools Again Bulging With Enrolments

Enrolment in Greater Victoria schools went up 1,100 this term, and all schools are filled to capacity.

Five elementary schools — Doncaster, Shelbourne, Gordon Head, Glanford and Craigflower—have had particularly large enrolments, education superintendent John Gough said today.

In addition to students registered in elementary or secondary schools, there are about 1,440 enrolled at 12 kindergarten centres maintained by the school board.

Increase at both ends of the system, Grade 1 and Grade 12, was about 100 students more than last year.

At one high school, Mount Douglas High, crowding has been relieved by diverting some Grade 10 students to Lansdowne Junior High School, said Mr. Gough.

Navy to Abide By Zoning Laws In House Project

A Navy spokesman today shot down a suggestion that the Navy would build 18 prefabricated houses for personnel near Patricia Bay aircraft hangars.

A resident of the area Monday protested the construction project, saying that only on-the-spot constructed houses, not prefabs, are allowed in the area.

"The houses are to be Class 1 CMHC houses constructed on-site on concrete foundations," said a Navy statement today.

"Pre-cut materials made in B.C. may be used to speed construction. The buildings are to be sited on a winding road to present a pleasing architectural arrangement.

"They exceed standards required by any applicable zoning laws in the area."

Topics of the Day

A 40-year record of spotless driving ended in city magistrate's court this morning for James Merchant, 80 High Street.

He was convicted of impaired driving and fined $250.

Evidence showed he hit the rear of a car stopped at Douglas and Hillside Monday. When police arrived he denied having been in an accident.

Magistrate J. A. Byers asked for a probation report before deciding on whether to suspend Merchant's licence.

* * *

The Board of Broadcast Governors today recommended approval to the department of transport an application for transfer of 600 shares of Victoria radio station CFAX to Clare Copeland and Charles Smith.

This transfer would give controlling interest in the station to Mr. Copeland, presently general manager of CFAX and Mr. Smith, the station's consulting engineer for production who works out of Vancouver.

Present owners, Charles White of Victoria and Arthur Phillips of Vancouver, will still retain 24 and 16 per cent of the shares, respectively.

* * *

Salary increases for about 75 employees of the Veterans' Hospital here have been announced by Finance Minister Walter Gordon.

The increases are retroactive to Jan. 1.

The rest of the hospital's 264 employees got increases previously, personnel officer Ethan Woodbury said.

* * *

Charles Ashe, 860 Parklands, was given a three-month jail term in Esquimalt magistrate's court Monday for assaulting a policeman.

Magistrate J. A. Byers said in passing sentence that fines are not sufficient punishment in this kind of case.

Ashe hit Constable Frank Bell when the officer found him last Saturday morning lying drunk on a green at Gorge Vale golf course.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual meeting Wednesday at 12:15 p.m. in the Georgian Lounge of the Empress Hotel.

Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore, Flag Officer Pacific Coast, will speak on "Matters Which Influence the Shape and Size of the Royal Canadian Navy."

Two men and a woman who decided to have a party early Monday afternoon made one mistake—they held it in Pioneer Square.

And as a result they appeared in city magistrate's court today charged with intoxication and drinking in a public place.

Police found Lynn Bailey, Andrew Thyne and William Kelly sitting on a bench in the park drinking from a 40-ounce bottle of wine.

Each was fined $50 or one month in jail for drinking in public and $10 or three days for being drunk.

Saanich fire department estimates more than $5,000 damage was caused by a blaze at the federal forestry laboratory, 520 West Burnside, Monday night.

Firemen worked for an hour and one-half to quell the fire which began in lumber near a power saw in a cutting shed.

Damage was done to an electrical panel, the shed and the lumber. Hundreds of spectators crowded to the scene causing a traffic bottleneck nearby on Trans-Canada Highway.

Heat Wave Soaked After Achieving 56-Year High

Rain this morning kept the temperature from returning to Monday's near-record 83.4 degrees, the highest point of the year.

The temperature today is in the 65-70 range, with some cloud. Scattered showers and possible thunder are expected this evening, but the sun should show through again by Wednesday.

The weather office sees no immediate end to the unusually warm weather. Sept. 28, 1918, recorded a maximum of 82 degrees—a hopeful sign.

Monday's maximum was the highest Sept. 9 temperature since 1907, when the mercury climbed to 84.7.

Even on the Island's dampish west coast, at Tofino, the record fell with a sizzling 85 degrees, according to the Tofino Radio Station Department of Transport.

GOLFER SCORES HOLE IN ONE CAR WINDOW

A Calgarian made one of the best . . . pardon, one of the longest drives he ever made, on Victoria Golf Course Monday.

He was sorry.

The ball went straight into the windshield of a fire department car that was on the course fighting a grass fire.

The tourist saw the red Oak Bay car with its red light flashing. He didn't stop because he was sure he wouldn't come near the car.

Assistant Fire Chief Ernest Wells saw the golfer too and he stopped the car. It was a sitting target.

On his second swing the golfer drove straight off the tee and into the car. The assistant chief was unhurt.

The tourist didn't know whether to be glad or sorry. The distance was almost 200 yards. He never hit that far before.

Second Labor Day Due For Labor Officials

Thursday is moving day for staff at the Labor Council office.

At 10:15 a.m., tables and typewriters will be trucked from the old Labor Hall in the civic precinct area of Pandora Avenue to the imposing new Union Centre on Quadra at Market Street.

The first Labor Council meeting will take place there at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, September 18.

The building, with office space for the 72 affiliated local unions, and a 6,000 square-foot auditorium and meeting rooms, was started in 1961 with proceeds from the sale of $50,000 worth of shares.

IRISH CONFETTI cascaded to Government Street sidewalk as building on Cormorant corner bent before blasts from the wreckers' ball. Barricades stopped traffic and pedestrians were warned away as 25-ton crane with 90-foot boom swung into action. City is 'lowering the boom' on pioneer structures within new civic precinct. City Hall, due for expansion as heart of the project, can be seen in background.

OTTAWA DITCH FOUND FILLED WITH POISON

OTTAWA (UPI)—Parents in the western outskirts of the capital were warned today to keep their children away from a ditch after nine steers were found dead from cyanide poisoning.

Meanwhile the Ontario Water Resources Board was called in to investigate the contamination of the drainage ditch in suburban Bells Corners where the steers died from what officials termed "a deadly compound of cyanide."

A veterinerian, Dr. Ken Hartin, investigating the death of the cattle, said the area constitutes" a real public hazard—there could be a human fatality."

FINANCING

B.C. Allowed U.S. Help On Columbia

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The Canadian government is prepared to permit the U.S. government to give British Columbia indirect financial aid to carry out Columbia River development.

Hinted at in the past by both B.C. and Ottawa sources, such a move was officially endorsed last week when Canadian and U.S. officials met in Washington to discuss problems involved in financing development of the B.C. section of the Columbia.

Under the proposal now accepted by both sides, a group of U.S. Pacific Northwest power firms, both public and private, would form a syndicate to borrow from the U.S. government, at low interest rates, enough money to pay in advance for the B.C. developments on the river.

ADVANCE PAYMENT

The money actually would be advance payment for the 50 per cent of downstream power benefits B.C. gains in the U.S. as a result of controlling the flow of the Columbia to permit greater U.S. power output.

B.C. Premier Bennett has insisted on selling this power in the U.S., rather than returning it for the use of B.C. consumers. He is asking for five mills per kilowatt hour, or its equivalent, the price he says is essential to pay for the $400 million-plus cost of the three dams to be built on the B.C. section of the river.

By obtaining a huge low-interest loan from the U.S. government for the advance payment to B.C., the power syndicate would save on its financing costs enough to make the deal feasible—and at the same time solve Mr. Bennett's financing problems.

Recent independent calculations indicate that Mr. Bennett would have to receive more than five mills for his downstream power, in order to break even. A six-mill figure, in this independent study, is considered to be the minimum.

Because of this there is speculation that the Canadian delegation in Washington last week did, in fact, tell the Americans that more than Mr. Bennett's five mills was required.

It is considered that even a six-mill price could be handled by the Americans, with the help of the U.S. government financial aid.

This is based on the estimate, given a U.S. senate committee in 1961 by U.S. Interior Secretary Udall, that the share of downstream power benefits the U.S. gets automatically would cost the U.S. less than one mill—the price of installing extra generating capacity at U.S. plants already existing on the Columbia.

Thus even by paying six mills for the Canadian share of the benefits, the U.S. would get all the downstream power benefits at a cost averaging about 3.5 mills per kilowatt hour—a highly reasonable rate.

The principle of the syndi-

Fall Kills Workman At Yarrows

A 47-year-old shipyard worker died in a fall at Esquimalt this afternoon.

Charles P. O'Hara, 5986 West Saanich Road, was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The accident occurred at Yarrows Ltd. at about 2 p.m.

Company officials said the man fell while dismantling staging on a barge, the Island Importer.

He threw a staging bracket to the dock about 20 feet below. The bracket caught in his coveralls and he lost his balance and fell to the dock edge, then into the water.

Proud Parents of Quints Embrace

PARENTS PONDER FINANCIAL BURDEN

Quints Pass First Danger

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP)—With gifts beginning to arrive, the proud parents of quintuplet boys pondered today how to support five new sons in their one-bedroom home on $10-a-day income.

The infants, born almost two months prematurely Saturday, were reported doing well, yawning and stretching feebly.

They passed their first danger period and are healthy, said Dr. Robinson Suarez Herrera, chief obstetrician at University Hospital here. Juan Jose, the third born, had lost weight, less than an ounce. But a medical bulletin said all five are in "acceptable condition."

Juan Jose weighed three pounds, 1.4 ounces at birth. So did the fourth born, Fernando.

Robinson the first born, weighed three pounds, 15.5 ounces; Otto, second born, three pounds, 4.9 ounces; and Mario, fifth born, four pounds, three ounces. A mixture of modified skimmed milk and malt is being fed to the quintuplets with eye-droppers.

The mother, Mrs. Ines Marie Cuervo de Prieto, 34 and her husband have 15 other children by previous marriages. Three live in their one-bedroom home.

"With only one bedroom it's going to be a little crowded," she said, but added, "my husband and I are very proud."

The father earns 46.70 bolivars ($11) a day as a Creole Petroleum Corporation foreman. He helps support 10 children by two previous marriages.

But help was arriving. The government assured the Prietos of its protection. Five basketfuls of diapers and clothing were donated by an organization.

Mrs. Cuervo de Prieto, already made a grandmother by a 17-year-old daughter, said she was in labor only two hours with the quintuplets.

"It didn't hurt at all," she said. "I didn't have any anesthetic. I trusted in God and in the doctors."

The boys, born in a 50-minute period, were given names of doctors who assisted at the birth. Later Saturday, she and Prieto were married by a priest and the infants were baptized.

There was nothing uncommon about the Prietos' domestic relationship. Government statistics show that more Venezuelan children are born to unmarried parents than to married ones.

Only two sets of quintuplets born in the Western Hemisphere—the Dionnes of Canada and the Diligentis of Argentina — are known to have survived infancy.

FIVE-MINUTE PLEA FOR AID GOES UNHEARD

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jim Haldene, 42, shouted for help for five minutes Monday as he watched his fishboat Good Partner pull away without any of his seven companions being aware that he had fallen overboard.

A passing tugboat, the C. P. York, saw him splashing in the water and threw him a ring buoy, but the fisherman appeared too tired to make a grab for it.

By the time the tug could turn around, Haldene had vanished.

Einar Jensen, skipper of the Good Partner, said today:

"I noticed Haldene sitting at the rear of the boat at 4:15 p.m. It was not until 6 that we noticed he was missing when he didn't appear at supper. We searched the boat—it's 76 feet long—and couldn't find a trace of him."

OTTAWA LIFTS AD BAN BUT B.C. HOLDS FAST

The Board of Broadcast Governors today announced a new policy allowing "hard sell" beer and wine commercials for radio and television, but the B.C. government will continue to ban them.

Provincial Liquor Control Board chairman Col. Donald McGugan said the B.C. Liquor Act prohibits any advertising of beer, wine or spirits on radio or TV.

"In my opinion there will be no change in the act," he declared.

This means that if a national network program is sponsored by a brewery its commercials will have to be blacked out in B.C.

At present the BBG allows only 12 seconds of hard sell by breweries. The remaining 48 seconds of the usual one-minute commercial must be filled out with a general scene, such as a group of young people partying or a scenic view of mountains.

BBG vice-chairman Carlyle Allison said the new policy will "take the hypocritical approach out of brewery advertising."

"It is our view that a straight no-nonsense ad is preferable," he said.

Guardsmen Taken Over

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) —School integration came for 20 Negro children today in three Alabama cities after President Kennedy stripped Governor George C. Wallace of his control over 17,000 Alabama national guardsmen.

All was quiet at most of the five schools desegregated at Birmingham, Mobile and Tuskegee.

But disorders broke out at West End High School in Birmingham where students started a boycott of classrooms which normally are attended by about 1,500.

Crowds gathered and male segregationists scuffled with police. Several arrests were made, then reinforcements of police and sheriff's deputies arrived to get the situation under control.

3 ARRESTS IN MOBILE

Thirteen Negroes entered school at Tuskegee and two went into a high school at Mobile in addition to five at Birmingham. Three arrests were made at Mobile but the situation then generally was quiet and orderly.

At Huntsville, four pupils not affected by Wallace's barring of Negroes from schools Monday in the three other cities went back to class for the second day.

Wallace, who had ordered the National Guard out early today only to see Kennedy take federal control of the soldiers, continued to decline comment on the day's events. And there still was no answer as to why he let Negroes into schools at Huntsville Monday while barring them in the other cities.

A federal order restraining Wallace from interfering with school integration was served on his executive secretary in Montgomery, the state capital, after Wallace said he was too busy to receive it. U.S. Marshal Don Forrest of Miami, Fla., served the papers on Earl C. Morgan.

REFUSED TO OBEY

It was Forrest who served Wallace with court papers last June ordering the governor not to interfere with integration at the University of Alabama. Wallace refused to obey and federal force was used to get two pupils admitted to the university.

Before dawn today state troopers and national guardsmen, acting on Wallace's orders, chased three marshals off the Capitol grounds.

Then Wallace, who had stayed in his office for hours, left the building surrounded by troopers and guardsmen.

An army spokesman announced that 200 federalized national guardsmen are moving from Tuscaloosa to a Birmingham armory "as a routine precautionary measure."

AVAILABLE IF NEEDED

He said they would be available if local authorities asked assistance in maintaining law and order.

Two teen-age Negroes walked into Murphy High School at Mobile before 7:30 a.m. to become the first of their race to attend school with white pupils in the state at the senior high school level. The Huntsville desegregation involved grammar and junior high schools.

Before directing that the guard be put under federal control Kennedy issued an order calling upon Wallace to "cease and desist" from his manoeuvres to thwart federal court directives for school integration. A similar move preceded desegregation of the University of Alabama in June over Wallace's opposition.

Guardsmen had moved on to the grounds of a high school at Mobile under orders of Wal-

JEERING SESSION

Whites Boycott Mixed School

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Hundreds of white pupils boycotted classes at West End High School after two Negroes were admitted today and started a jeering session on the grounds and in an adjacent parking lot.

Adult spectators, including members of a hard-core segregationist group, quickly built up the milling throng. Police called in reinforcements and, prodding with night sticks, moved the crowd back two blocks.

The demonstration grew wilder as the morning progressed. Numerous arrests were made.

The tempo rose and fell. Then the crowd began to drift away.

It all started soon after two Negro girls entered the schools.

Most white students stayed away from class.

URGED TO COME OUT

The white boys and girls urged others who had entered the school to come back out. Some did.

The crowd operated like a cheering section at a football game.

"Two, four, six, eight, who do we appreciate?" leaders would call out.

"Wallace, Wallace, Wallace," the crowd roared back, referring to Governor George C. Wallace who had tried to balk integration of this school and two others in the city.

There were more yells—"Nigers, go home."

1,500 ENROLLED

Police gave a preliminary estimate that about 100 white students entered the building during the morning. The enrolment is 1,500 but many of the 100 heeded appeals by those outside to leave school.

One white boy hurled an apple at a car of a white man who brought his son to school and watched him go into the building.

Caouette Wins Fight For Power

OTTAWA (CP)—Real Caouette and his Ralliement des Creditistes have won out over Social Credit leader Robert Thompson and his followers in the battle for Commons supremacy following the federal splitup of the Social Credit party.

The announcement Monday night by Quebec City restaurant owner Lucien Plourde, MP for Quebec West, of his support for Mr. Caouette gives the Creditiste group 13 members in the Commons.

Mr. Thompson and the remnants of the Social Credit group number 11.

Barring any further shifts in the power struggle between the two groups, this means the Creditistes will have Commons priority over Mr. Thompson's group, ranking as the fourth-largest party in the House after the 17-member New Democratic party.

It also will mean that Mr. Caouette—but not Mr. Thompson—will qualify for the extra $4,000 Commons allowance that was introduced this summer for the leader of any recognized group of 12 or more members in the House. The annual allowance was introduced at the same time that the indemnity and expense allowance of individual MPs was raised to a total $18,000.

Boy 'Tarzan' Falls in Creek

An 11-year-old boy landed on his head when he fell 20 feet into the almost dry bed of Bowker Creek Sunday afternoon.

Robert Thorsen, 1608 Pear, is reported today to be in good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

He was swinging on a rope attached to a tree when he fell off.

Saanich fire department ambulance took him to hospital. Later firemen cut down the rope.

MONROVIA, Liberia (Reuters) — The government has banned Sunday opening of business houses, shops, markets, cafes and factories on the grounds such work "intolerably profanes the sanctity of the Lord's Day." A government announcement says church services had been disturbed and worshippers distracted by honking vehicles, traffic noise, banging hammers and other noises.

OTTAWA (UPI)—Nationalist China, Portugal and Israel have agreed to impose voluntary quotas on their cotton textile exports to Canada, Finance Minister Gordon announced Monday.

'B.C. Will Show Way In Investment Rate'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Trade and Industry Minister Robert Bonner predicted Monday night that by the end of this year capital investment in British Columbia will be 16 per cent higher than in 1962 and it's going up all the time.

Using a two-foot graph at a Point Grey Social Credit meeting to reply to political critics who claimed capital investment is falling, the minister said that the rate of capital investment growth in this province will be the highest in Canada in 1963.

"From 1957, the year of our greatest investment at $1,600,000,000, investment went down when Canada as a whole went into a recession," he said.

"Since Aug. 1, 1961, investment has continued to grow. I mention Aug. 1 especially because that was the date on which we took over the B.C. Electric.

"It has been said that investors have fled the province since the BCE takeover. In fact, since Aug. 1 investment has continued to climb and this year we will have the best year with the exception of 1957.

"B.C. is going to show the way to the whole of Canada in rate of investment this year."

The minister predicted that within the next seven years, B.C. is going to need capital investment at the rate of $2,000,000,000 a year to keep pace with anticipated growth. By 1970 the population of the province would increase by an estimated 25 per cent, more than 4,000 new school classrooms would be needed and there would be more than 130,000 new jobs.

Less Fall-Out From Schools, Says Minister

B.C. youngsters will stay in school longer because of reorganization of the grade system, Education Minister Leslie Peterson said Monday.

Speaking at a Social Credit election campaign meeting at Doncaster School, Mr. Peterson said 72 per cent of B.C. students will stay through Grade 12 by 1970.

He said 90 per cent will hold on through Grade 11.

"By 1970 we will have provided an uninterrupted stream to university with branches to other fields along the way," he added.

Oak Bay Socred candidate Dr. Charles Ennals told the meeting he favored higher grants for education and reorganization of the social welfare department for more effective services.

Saanich Socred John Tisdalle attacked the New Democratic Party for "smearing innocent people" during the legislature's investigation into the highways department last April.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An unemployed carpenter beheaded his wife and their two children Monday following a violent family quarrel over the children's upbringing, police said.

Patterns of Spray Outshining Flowers

A fountain that spurts water 75 feet in the air is drawing some attention away from the blooms in Butchart Gardens.

In fact, it attracts so much attention that visitors occasionally stand watching it so long that they have to be gently moved along to allow others to watch.

Why do they gaze?

They're probably watching for it to repeat itself.

The fountain is in the centre of an old water-filled quarry near the sunken garden, and it was built over the winter as an improvement to the gardens. It started spurting in June.

TIMER CONTROL

Its 200 nozzles are controlled by a series of eccentrically coordinated timers.

These make it capable of so many variations of its "acts" that by the time it repeats one, you've forgotten what it looked like first time round.

And to add to the intrigue, changing colored lights play on the waters after dark, subtly accenting the rise and fall of the waters.

In fact, the man who built it says the lights are as much a part of the fountain's beauty as the spraying water.

Adrian Butler, of Hafer Bros., put the fountain together—the first one he had ever made—entirely from first principles without considering the designs of other fountains.

But he says most of the suggestions came from Ian Ross, owner of the gardens.

BUILT MODEL FIRST

"I built a model and showed it to Mr. Ross, and he said to go ahead," says Mr. Butler.

The lights were set up by Vic Dawson, an employee of Butchart Gardens, and "it wouldn't be anything without them," says Mr. Butler.

The fountain system pumps 500 gallons a minute, keeps two tons of water in the air at a time, and has the force of a hundred lawn sprinklers.

"It's been a big success," says Mr. Ross, "more successful than we thought."

How much did it cost?

"I don't know," says Mr. Ross. "I haven't got the bills yet.

"It doesn't matter, anyway—anything to please the visitors."

lace before issuance of the presidential directive which removed Wallace as their commander.

They were withdrawn quickly after the Kennedy order was announced.

State Adjutant-General Alfred Harrison had called about 300 guardsmen to duty, replacing state troopers who turned away 20 Negro pupils at white schools in three cities Monday.

WIRE BRIEFS

Sugar Price Hiked

VANCOUVER (CP) — The price of sugar has increased again at the wholesale level in Vancouver. A jump of 25 cents per 100 pounds, announced today by the B.C. Sugar Refining Company, is the third increase in seven days.

Troops Clear Schools

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese troops and heavily armed combat police today cleared pupils out of several large high schools in Saigon as anti-government unrest continued in schools.

FIRST PRESIDENT of Algeria will be Premier Ahmed Ben Bella. He was designated today by the ruling Front de Liberation Nationale following Sunday's endorsation by five million voters of the new constitution and confirming the nation as a one-party socialist state. Ben Bella will be the only candidate in the country-wide referendum next weekend.

Gaglardi Lashes NDP

TERRACE (CP)—Provincial Highways Minister Gaglardi said Monday night the big issue in the Sept. 30 provincial election is the question of free enterprise or socialism.

Opening his campaign in this northern Interior town the minister said if the NDP gets elected to power "then we all had better head for the tall timber."

Mr. Gaglardi called national NDP leader T. C. Douglas a "reject from over yonder," a man who came to B.C. because he "got booted out of his own province."

City Hall Fine Collection Seen This Month

Delinquent motorists may be paying their parking fines at City Hall instead of the police station by the end of this month.

One of the recommendations of the George Archer report called for total separation of fine collecting chores from the police department. It was strongly supported by Mayor R. B. Wilson and police commission.

A recommendation that the traffic fine cashier be shifted to City Hall has been going through channels for some time and is nearing the formal adoption stage.

British Crops Hit

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain is facing a disastrous harvest with losses to the cereal crop already exceeding £40,000,000, a National Farmers' Union spokesman said Monday. Bad weather has already ruined one-fifth of the crop in most areas but in some parts of the country the toll was even greater, he said.

'B.C. Taxation System Loaded With Cobwebs'

PENTICTON (CP) — Provincial Liberal Leader Perrault told a Liberal rally here Monday night the electorate must clean out the political cobwebs of Social Credit come the Sept. 30 provincial election.

Speaking in support of A. D. C. Washington, chosen party standard bearer for Similkameen riding, the party chief said the province can no longer tolerate a political "dictator" who thrived on one-man rule as Premier Bennett had done since 1960.

He told the audience of some 50 party supporters to be prepared for sparkling election promises from Social Crediters to take attention away from real issues. The premier, he predicted, would announce a major northern industrial development program within the next few days.

Mr. Perrault said a fundamental goal of the Liberal program was removal of school financing costs from the land tax structure. It was unfair that a person making $18,000 a year in the Lower Mainland area should pay the same or less taxes than a farmer with a lot more land but an income of only $5,000 a year.

"In general, the B.C. taxation system is loaded with cobwebs," he said.

A Liberal government would establish a full-time department of industrial development, with a full-time minister. The party would seek to bring secondary industry to the Okanagan and to develop the basic strength of the entire provincial economy.

ISLAND ROUNDUP

Careless Work Brings Warning

LADYSMITH — Village work crews face one-week suspensions or dismissals for mistakes which inconvenience the public.

The warning was issued by the village commission following an investigation into the failure of the water system last month.

The investigation showed laxity by employees, the commission said.

Only one valve, instead of two, was open at the company dam and a broken pipe at the Agricultural Field left water gushing onto the ground for two days.

* * *

CAMPBELL RIVER — Itinerary for the visit of Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes has been approved by Village Council.

He will arrive Sept. 17, meet the school board and later attend a private dinner.

The following day, Wednesday, he will visit the high school, tour the village and visit the hospital. A public reception will be held in the Legion Hall from 4 to 6 p.m

* * *

On Thursday, Sept. 19, he will tour Elk Falls mill, then fly into Buttle Lake.

On Friday afternoon, a tea will be held in honor of Mrs. Pearkes, while the Lieutenant-Governor is salmon fishing.

* * *

NANAIMO—Doctors say it will be three months before they know if Richard Helem, 16, of Port Alberni, will regain the sight of an eye injured in a hunting accident.

Dr. Edward Helem, the youth's father, said: "An operation on Richard's eye appears to be successful in that there has been no infection."

The youth's eye was seriously injured when his double-barrelled gun accidentally went off and splattered his face with pellets.

* * *

NANAIMO (UPI) — Gasoline prices were one cent lower today at some outlets in this area as a price war continued.

Four Imperial Oil Co. stations dropped the price for regular gasoline to 37.9 cents, after the price had been raised to 38.9 cents last week. The regular price in the area is 45.9 cents.

The Imperial move was made to bring prices closer in line with that of a private operator. Other major outlets in the area maintained normal prices.

* * *

PORT ALBERNI—Jack Peters of Port Alberni, was elected president of the West Coast Allied Tribes at a recent meeting held at Tofino.

Representatives of Indian tribes from the whole of the west coast of Vancouver Island attended the meeting.

Others elected were Philip Louie, Ahousat, vice-president; Mrs. Louise McCarthy, Ucluelet, secretary-treasurer, and Jimmy Gallie, Port Alberni, business agent.

* * *

DUNCAN—Thirteen delegates representing Local 1-80 IWA will be chosen Saturday at a general membership meeting to be held at IWA headquarters, Brae Road, Duncan, commencing at 10:30 a.m. The representatives will attend the 23rd annual constitutional convention of the International Woodworkers' of America, in Vancouver, this fall.

* * *

MAPLE BAY—The summer season of yacht races closed Sunday with the round robin class races of the Maple Bay Yacht Club. Presentation of prizes will be held Oct. 12 at the club.

In the lightning class, Chuck Coleman sailing the Piers' "Hyak" took first place, and Al Bigelow in Coleman's "Hi-Time" placed second.

The second race was won by John King's "Zot" skippered by Chuck Coleman. Norm Gardner sailing in the "Hyak" came in second.

Round robin racing is a boat switch affair, where skippers draw for boats not necessarily their own.

* * *

DUNCAN — Good luck was on the side of Mrs. Martha Courchene when her car went out of control on the Trans-Canada Highway Monday.

Police said her car narrowly missed collision with a freight truck, travelled across an open space between the highway and the E. and N. railroad tracks, bounced at an angle over the tracks and an embankment, and came to rest near a row of fence posts in the bush.

Mrs. Courchene and the car came through the accident without a scratch.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids . . . and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).
